22 Hunters Rescued In Snowy Wyoming Wilds

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Oct. 24 —UP— National Guard rescue crews brought 22 marooned hunters out of the snow-clogged northern Big Horn mountains as rescue operations were stepped up Saturday in fear another blizzard might strike and take a heavy toll of deaths.

"There is no immediate danger," authorities said, "but if another blizzard should strike a lot of those hunters would never get out alive."

Light snow was forecast over the mountains Saturday night and Sunday. The weather bureau did not forecast another blizzard like the one that struck suddenly Tuesday night marooning several hundred hunters, but authorities pointed out that "a blizzard can come up mighty suddenly."

As National Guardsmen and other ground rescue parties battled feverishly to reach the marooned hunters, many of whom are 8,000 to 10,000 feet up and 15 to 20 miles from an open road or trail, planes flew overhead searching for hunters in real distress.

Thus far no distress signals have been sighted, although there have been some requests for food supplies.

The 22 rescued hunters, including one woman, were brought in to the Medicine Wheel Ranger Station at Burgess, Wyo. Authorities said that after "a quick cup of coffee" they shoved off for their homes. Authorities said all of the rescued were in good condition and most were unconcerned.

Among the first to be rescued were Sheridan stockbreeder Archie Nash, his wife and 10-year-old son, Alvin, who told of their harrowing, freezing battle to reach safety.

They said they left their hunting camp early Wednesday when the snow on the level measured eight inches and four to five feet in drifts. Their camp was 11 miles from the nearest highway, U. S. 14.

They said they battled the drifts all day Wednesday but didn't get very far and spent the night in their truck.

"We couldn't sleep it was so terribly cold," Mrs. Nash said, "and we couldn't eat either. We had food but it was so cold we couldn't prepare it."

She said they built a fire in a wood cook-stove in the back of the truck "we huddled around it all night trying to keep warm."

Game Warden Faris Dorn of Lovell, Wyo., reached them Thursday in his four-wheel-drive jeep. They followed Dorn to U. S. 14 but there they stalled again. The highway was blocked by the drifting snow.

The National Guardsmen reached them late Wednesday and brought them out. Deputy Sheriff Martin Sawyer then took them to Lovell, Wyo., and they made the rest of the trip home by way of Billings, Mont.

Meanwhile, attempts to fly four snow-going Army weasels in from Camp Carson, Colo., were being delayed by bad weather there. Two Air Force C-119 Flying Boxcars from the Ardmore, Okla., AFB were to fly the weasels to Sheridan as soon as the weather cleared. At Sheridan, two National Guard trucks were prepared to rush the weasels on in to the Big Horn area. They were expected to reach there late Saturday.

Sen. George Urges End To European Aid

Would Abolish FOA, Headed By Harold Stassen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—In a move indicating a likely trend in Senate Democratic policy, Sen. George (D-Ga) today called for an end of economic aid for Europe.

George, who has served longer on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee than any of his colleagues, said in an interview he believes the time has come to limit American assistance to military outlays.

"Western Europe is in a position where I do not believe it needs any further economic aid," the Georgia senator said.

He approved a reported administration move to consolidate foreign military assistance with the regular military budget. He added that the foreign operations administration (FOA), which handles foreign economic aid, be abolished and technical aid to other nations turned over to the state department.

In the past George's views have been highly influential in shaping Senate Democratic policy on international affairs. The Democrats now outnumber the Republicans in the Senate 48 to 47 with one Independent, Sen. Morse of Oregon.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), a junior member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he will propose killing off FOA, headed

Peiping Radio Says Chinese To Stay In Korea

SEOUL, Sunday, Oct. 25—UP—Peiping Radio hinted Sunday that Chinese troops are in North Korea to stay. Western sources said the statement fore-shadowed great difficulties and probable failure for the Korean political conference.

Arthur H. Dean, special U. S. ambassador, meets Monday with the Communists to set a time and place for the peace conference. He warned in advance he would not sit "indefinitely and listen to propaganda" and expected a decision in 10 days or two weeks.

A Communist Chinese assertion that "we have not yet completed our task" in North Korea came only a few hours after Dean told a press conference the United Nations will insist that all Chinese forces leave Korea to pave the way for unification.

Peiping, in a broadcast hailing the anniversary of China's entry into the Korean war, praised the "militant friendship" binding the people of North Korea and Red China. It spoke of the two countries almost as one and said:

"All the Chinese people are resolved further to promote the movement to resist American aggression and aid Korea to support the Korean people's army and the Korean people and to struggle for complete implementation of the Korean armistice agreement."

Peiping has made no secret of an increased flow of Chinese "nonmilitary" technical assistance into North Korea since the armistice. And South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tae warned last week North Korea may be completely colonized by China unless the political conference quickly unified the peninsula.

The broadcast cast a heavy shadow on the political conference even before the two sides meet to name the place and time.

The meeting begins at 11 a. m. Monday—8 p.m. CST Sunday—in a straw hut on the truce line south of Panmunjom. Dean won a victor over site of the meeting when he rejected Communist demands it be held in the "peace pagoda" in the Communist half of Panmunjom.

Dean will represent the 16 United Nations which fought in Korea, and South Korea which is not a member of the UN. He has asked South Korea to send an observer to the meetings with the Chinese and North Koreans.

Italy Proposes Withdrawal Of Trieste Troops

First Move To End Row With Yugoslavs Made

ROME, Oct. 24—UP—The Italian foreign office disclosed Saturday night it had proposed a withdrawal of both Italian and Yugoslav troops from the tense borders of disputed Trieste.

A foreign office spokesman said the proposal to return to normal peaceful garrisoning of the frontier was made secretly in the past 48 hours by the Italian ambassadors to Washington, London and Paris.

The foreign office said it kept the proposal secret "in order not to hamper the possibility that Yugoslavia would refuse to withdraw its troops."

However dispatches from London printed in Rome Saturday quoted Yugoslavia as proposing a withdrawal of eight miles from the border.

"We see in dispatches from London that the same kind of idea is coming from Yugoslavia," the spokesman said. "If this is true, it indicates a certain interest on the part of Yugoslavia.

"We think that to withdraw for eight miles is very little.

"We proposed two days ago that both Italy and Yugoslavia go back to the usual forces at the frontiers —no partial mobilization, no division of troops."

The Italian proposal was the first indication of peace in the Trieste dispute since the United States and Britain announced Oct. 8 they would hand over Zone A of Trieste to Italy.

The three Western Allies, Britain the United States and France, all have expressed concern at the massing of forces by Italy and Yugoslavia on the borders.

Eisenhowers To Spend Week-End At Camp David

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—UP—President and Mrs. Eisenhower motored to Camp David near Thurmont, Md., in the Catoctin Mountains Saturday for a weekend of rest.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said they will return late Sunday. He said they may attend church services at Thurmont Sunday morning.

Before leaving the White House, the President received two new envoys — Ambassador Manuel de Moya Alonzo of the Dominican Republic and Moekarto Notowidigdo, ambassador of Indonesia.

Mr. Eisenhower also attended brief ceremonies at which Bryce Harlow of Oklahoma City was sworn in as a White House administrative assistant and chief speech writer. Harlow succeeds Emmet Hughes who resigned to return to his job as a Life magazine editor.

Negro Slain At Naval Air Base

The station commander, Capt. Glennon G. Price, said SD2 Edward Brown, 28, a Negro, of (1254 South Johnson St.,) New Orleans, La., was shot in the abdomen by TN David Clement, 19, of (Brooks St.,) East Beckley, W. Va. Brown died in an ambulance enroute to Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Hospital.

Price said the shot was fired from a pistol that apparently was Clement's own property and which he shouldn't have kept on the base.

The captain said the shooting climaxed a minor argument and scuffle between the men which eyewitnesses thought was all in fun.

Police Lieutenant Who Broke Greenlease Case Submits Resignation

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24—UP—Police Lt. Louis Shoulders, the man who broke the Greenlease kidnap case, resigned late Saturday from the department. He said he could not endure "to be castigated" after performing his duty.

The police board, which earlier had tried to persuade Shoulders to reconsider, accepted the resignation.

It was reported that Shoulders' letter to Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell said he was quitting "to save the department further embarrassment."

Another central figure in the arrest of kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Heady, cab driver John Hager, was questioned for eight hours Saturday before he was released by FBI agents.

The FBI here refused to comment on all developments.

Shoulders, a veteran of 25 years on the police force, was reported by his physician to have suffered a nervous condition because of his work on the Greenlease case. But he showed up at a week-long police inquiry into the handling of the case two days ago and underwent six hours of questioning.

The inquiry was still underway Saturday. Department officials were reported trying to persuade Shoulders to reconsider his resignation.

Hager, the cabbie who drove Hall about St. Louis for nearly 24 hours and then led Shoulders to his hideaway apartment in the west end, said federal agents think he knows the whereabouts of the missing $300,000 ransom.

Hagar denied, however, that he knows anything about the missing money or any more than he already has told investigators.

Hager was picked up for questioning early Saturday shortly before the arrest of a mysterious couple whose identity was carefully concealed by FBI agents.

The man and woman were ar-

Ike Says Goal Of New Program Is Farm Prosperity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower told farmers today his administration will offer in due time a "well thought out" program to bring about "stability and general prosperity" in agriculture.

The program also will work to the good of consumers, he said.

The chief executive made these promises after a 70-minute conference with his National Agricultural Advisory Commission and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The meeting was held amidst mounting demands from Capitol Hill and some farm groups for more positive immediate action to help farmers, hit by price declines and drouths.

The effect of Eisenhower's statement and an accompanying preliminary report from the advisory group was to serve notice that the administration has no intention of being prodded into making an early decision of new farm proposals.

No attempt to lay out the administration's long-range program will be made, said White House Press Secretary James Hagerty, until the President and his agriculture secretary get views of various groups that have been called upon to offer suggestions. That, he said, will be late in December.

Eisenhower, in a statement issued after the farm conference, said the commission is "properly proceeding on the assumption that only a well thought out program, designed to meet the basic requirements of all elements of our population, can bring about that stability and general prosperity in American agriculture that we are all striving to achieve."

2 Nationally Known Groups Are Affected

Several Locals To Feel Weight Of New Policy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board moved today to prevent unions from taking part in collective bargaining elections if any of their officers are under indictment for filing non-Communist affidavits.

The NLRB said that it will start at once to defer action on requests by such unions for bargaining elections until the courts have decided the guilt or innocence of the officers in question.

The board emphasized that it "draws no inference of guilt from the issuance of the indictments."

However, it pointed out in a statement of policy that a conviction "would necessarily invalidate any certifications or other official action taken by the board in reliance on the truth of such affidavits."

The Taft-Hartley Act prohibits a union from using NLRB services until its officers have filed formal statements that they are not Communists.

The new policy was foreshadowed by NLRB Chairman Guy Farmer earlier in the week. He told a meeting of business paper editors that the board was working out a "stringent program" for dealing with "the dangerous abuse of the processes of the board" by unions with Red officers.

It follows by a week the cancellation by NLRB if the bargaining rights of a fur and leatherworkers union local in Cincinnati, Ohio, because of admittedly false statements of one of its officers made to the FBI about his Communist activities.

Two national unions and locals of three others appeared to be the first affected by the new policy.

Rayville Man's Car Driven Into Young's Bayou

A 1948 Chevrolet Sedan, belonging to J. Eaton Calloway of Rt. 1, Rayville was run into Young's Bayou in the 1900 block of Grammont Street late Friday night by an unidentified Negro the Monroe police department reported Saturday morning.

According to police, Earnest Calloway of 2209 Breard Street, son of the owner of the vehicle, stated that he had parked his father's car at the Minuteelo's Grocery about 12:30 p.m. Friday, and when he returned the car was missing. No report of the theft was made.

Two Negroes, Richard Brown and Bessie Blunt, who reside near Young's Bayou, stated that they heard a noise when the automobile crashed into the bayou, and reported seeing a Negro man leave the automobile and enter a pick-up truck, which stopped for him.

Homefolks Send Letters To GIs In Prison Camp

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Oct. 25 —UP—The United States opened a homespun program Sunday to win back 22 GIs from communism with appeals from the families they left behind.

The Army disclosed postal officers delivered 279 letters to the prison camp from families and friends and said plans were underway to use tape recorded pleas from loved ones in the states.

The letters were turned over to Indian custodial troops for delivery Sunday or Monday. Indian officers promised they would be delivered, uncensored, to the recalcitrant GI's.

At the same time the Army released the text of a letter written to five of the Americans from Pvt. Edward D. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va., who gave up communism for freedom last Wednesday.

The letter, which probably will be read to all the 22 Americans later, told of "pretty women," back pay and television appearances awaiting them if they change their minds.

The letter to "my good buddies" scrawled in rough handwriting before he flew to Tokyo for medical treatment, pleaded with them to "come back to this side" because "I've found out that the Communists have told nothing but lies to us."

"If you go to China or any other Communist country there will be trouble and a dark picture in store for all of you," the soldier warned.

"Yes boys life can be beautiful if you make it that way," he said. "The step you boys are taking will be a dark life for you. Once more

Huge Black Panther Is Seen Near Monroe

Pursued by a huge black panther, cows and calves on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Smith, about eight miles from Monroe, on the Prairie Road, fled in terror Friday morning to the cow lot near the Smith residence. The flight and pursuit were witnessed by Mrs. Smith and her 5-year-old daughter, Gail.

Mrs. Smith said she heard a commotion among the cattle and rushed out to see what was disturbing the animals. She reached the cow lot in time to see a cow and calf running at full speed toward the barn, with a black panther rapidly overtaking them with tremendous leaps. The panther was almost ready to drag the calf down when it saw Mrs. Smith and fled, she reportded. The panther was already inside the water pasture but turned and cleared the fence to that pasture in a couple of leaps, Mrs. Smith said.

Later in the day, the panther appeared near the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Perry, on a farm adjoining the Smith farm. It was seen there by both Mr. and Mrs. Perry and Mr. Perry fired two shots at the creature with a .22 caliber rifle.

At the same time, it was reported that three calves belonging to Otha Barnes, across the road from the Perry farm, had disappeared recently. It was believed the calves had been killed by the panther.

Mrs. Smith said she had seen panthers on unmerous occasions in circuses and that there could be no doubt that the creature she saw in the cow lot was a panther, and she said, "It was the biggest one I ever saw."

Mrs. Smith was telephoning neighbors to warn them to keep their children close to their homes.

Last year a panther was reported sighted on the Moore road at a point not far from the community in which the Smiths live. Later there were numerous reports of panthers being seen near Winnsboro and in other parts of northeast Louisiana and east Texas. For some time there was quite a panther scare near Shreveport.

Three Young Boys Missing From Home

Three young brothers named Higgins—Wayne 13, Jack, 11, and Paul, 10—of 107 South Fourth street were reported missing by their mother, Marie Grabner, the Monroe police department said Saturday morning.

Officials reported that the mother stated that Paul has been missing since Thursday morning, and that Wayne could not be found Friday morning. Jack could not be located Friday. According to police the mother's employment required working on different shifts and no one was at home with the children at the time they left. Officers also stated that Mrs. Grabner said she was not familiar with the boys friends at school and did not know if they were spending some time with their friends.

Police Lieutenant Who Broke Greenlease Case Submits Resignation

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24—UP—Police Lt. Louis Shoulders, the man who broke the Greenlease kidnap case, resigned late Saturday from the department. He said he could not endure "to be castigated" after performing his duty.

The police board, which earlier had tried to persuade Shoulders to reconsider, accepted the resignation.

It was reported that Shoulders' letter to Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell said he was quitting "to save the department further embarrassment."

Another central figure in the arrest of kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Heady, cab driver John Hager, was questioned for eight hours Saturday before he was released by FBI agents.

The FBI here refused to comment on all developments.

Shoulders, a veteran of 25 years on the police force, was reported by his physician to have suffered a nervous condition because of his work on the Greenlease case. But he showed up at a week-long police inquiry into the handling of the case two days ago and underwent six hours of questioning.

The inquiry was still underway Saturday. Department officials were reported trying to persuade Shoulders to reconsider his resignation.

Hager, the cabbie who drove Hall about St. Louis for nearly 24 hours and then led Shoulders to his hideaway apartment in the west end, said federal agents think he knows the whereabouts of the missing $300,000 ransom.

Hagar denied, however, that he knows anything about the missing money or any more than he already has told investigators.

Hager was picked up for questioning early Saturday shortly before the arrest of a mysterious couple whose identity was carefully concealed by FBI agents.

The man and woman were ar-

Ike Says Goal Of New Program Is Farm Prosperity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower told farmers today his administration will offer in due time a "well thought out" program to bring about "stability and general prosperity" in agriculture.

The program also will work to the good of consumers, he said.

The chief executive made these promises after a 70-minute conference with his National Agricultural Advisory Commission and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The meeting was held amidst mounting demands from Capitol Hill and some farm groups for more positive immediate action to help farmers, hit by price declines and drouths.

The effect of Eisenhower's statement and an accompanying preliminary report from the advisory group was to serve notice that the administration has no intention of being prodded into making an early decision of new farm proposals.

No attempt to lay out the administration's long-range program will be made, said White House Press Secretary James Hagerty, until the President and his agriculture secretary get views of various groups that have been called upon to offer suggestions. That, he said, will be late in December.

Eisenhower, in a statement issued after the farm conference, said the commission is "properly proceeding on the assumption that only a well thought out program, designed to meet the basic requirements of all elements of our population, can bring about that stability and general prosperity in American agriculture that we are all striving to achieve."

Three Young Boys Missing From Home

Three young brothers named Higgins—Wayne 13, Jack, 11, and Paul, 10—of 107 South Fourth street were reported missing by their mother, Marie Grabner, the Monroe police department said Saturday morning.

Officials reported that the mother stated that Paul has been missing since Thursday morning, and that Wayne could not be found Friday morning. Jack could not be located Friday. According to police the mother's employment required working on different shifts and no one was at home with the children at the time they left. Officers also stated that Mrs. Grabner said she was not familiar with the boys friends at school and did not know if they were spending some time with their friends.

2 Nationally Known Groups Are Affected

Several Locals To Feel Weight Of New Policy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board moved today to prevent unions from taking part in collective bargaining elections if any of their officers are under indictment for filing non-Communist affidavits.

The NLRB said that it will start at once to defer action on requests by such unions for bargaining elections until the courts have decided the guilt or innocence of the officers in question.

The board emphasized that it "draws no inference of guilt from the issuance of the indictments."

However, it pointed out in a statement of policy that a conviction "would necessarily invalidate any certifications or other official action taken by the board in reliance on the truth of such affidavits."

The Taft-Hartley Act prohibits a union from using NLRB services until its officers have filed formal statements that they are not Communists.

The new policy was foreshadowed by NLRB Chairman Guy Farmer earlier in the week. He told a meeting of business paper editors that the board was working out a "stringent program" for dealing with "the dangerous abuse of the processes of the board" by unions with Red officers.

It follows by a week the cancellation by NLRB if the bargaining rights of a fur and leatherworkers union local in Cincinnati, Ohio, because of admittedly false statements of one of its officers made to the FBI about his Communist activities.

Two national unions and locals of three others appeared to be the first affected by the new policy.

Rayville Man's Car Driven Into Young's Bayou

A 1948 Chevrolet Sedan, belonging to a Eafon Calloway of Rt. 1, Rayville was run into Young's Bayou in the 1900 block of Grammont Street late Friday night by an unidentified Negro, the Monroe police department reported Saturday morning.

According to police, Earnest Calloway of 2209 Breard Street, son of the owner of the vehicle, stated that he had parked his father's car at the Mineteelo's Grocery about 12:30 p.m. Friday, and when he returned the car was missing. No report of the theft was made.

Two Negroes, Richard Brown and Bessie Blunt, who reside near Young's Bayou, stated that they he rd a noise when the automobile crashed into the bayou, and reported seeing a Negro man leave the automobile and enter a pick-up truck, which stopped for him.

Homefolks Send Letters To GIs In Prison Camp

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Oct. 25—UP—The United States opened a homespun program Sunday to win back 22 GIs from communism with appeals from the families they left behind.

The Army disclosed postal officers delivered 279 letters to the prison camp from families and friends and said plans were underway to use tape recorded pleas from loved ones in the states.

The letters were turned over to Indian custodial troops for delivery Sunday or Monday. Indian officers promised they would be delivered, uncensored, to the recalcitrant GI's.

At the same time the Army released the text of a letter written to five of the Americans from Pvt. Edward D. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va., who gave up communism for freedom last Wednesday.

The letter, which probably will be read to all the 22 Americans later, told of "pretty women," back pay and television appearances awaiting them if they change their minds.

The letter to "my good buddies" scrawled in rough handwriting before he flew to Tokyo for medical treatment, pleaded with them to "come back to this side" because "I've found out that the Communists have told nothing but lies to us."

"If you go to China or any other Communist country there will be trouble and a dark picture in store for all of you," the soldier warned.

"Yes boys life can be beautiful if you make it that way," he said. "The step you boys are taking will be a dark life for you. Once more

Huge Black Panther Is Seen Near Monroe

Pursued by a huge black panther, cows and calves on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Smith, about eight miles from Monroe, on the Prairie Road, fled in terror Friday morning to the cow lot near the Smith residence. The flight and pursuit were witnessed by Mrs. Smith and her 5-year-old daughter, Gail.

Mrs. Smith said she heard a commotion among the cattle and rushed out to see what was disturbing the animals. She reached the cow lot in time to see a cow and calf running at full speed toward the barn, with a black panther rapidly overtaking them with tremendous leaps. The panther was almost ready to drag the calf down when it saw Mrs. Smith and fled, she reportded. The panther was already inside the water pasture but turned and cleared the fence to that pasture in a couple of leaps, Mrs. Smith said.

Later in the day, the panther appeared near the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Perry, on a farm adjoining the Smith farm. It was seen there by both Mr. and Mrs. Perry and Mr. Perry fired two shots at the creature with a .22 caliber rifle.

At the same time, it was reported that three calves belonging to Otha Barnes, across the road from the Perry farm, had disappeared recently. It was believed the calves had been killed by the panther.

Mrs. Smith said she had seen panthers on unmerous occasions in circuses and that there could be no doubt that the creature she saw in the cow lot was a panther, and, she said, "It was the biggest one I ever saw."

Last year a panther was reported sighted on the Moore road at a point not far from the community in which the Smiths live. Later there were numerous reports of panthers being seen near Winnsboro and in other parts of northeast Louisiana and east Texas. For some time there was quite a panther scare near Shreveport.

Under similar indictments are Ernest M. Hupman of United Electrical Workers Local 801 and Walter C. Lohman of U.E. Local 768. Both were indicted in Dayton, Ohio.

Olga Zenchuk of Local 69, CIO Packinghouse Workers, was indicted in Detroit, while Clinton E. Jencks of Local 890, Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Union, was indicted in El Paso, Tex.

The Fur Workers, United Electrical, Marine Cooks and the Mine, Mill and Smelter unions all were thrown out of the CIO on the ground that they were Communist-dominated.

The Justice Department reportedly is studying the non-Communist affidavits of more than 500 union officers.

In its new statement of policy, the NLRB said it will permit unions with officers under indictment to take part in bargaining elections only if another union is involved, or if delay would "prejudice the interests of the employer or the other union."

However, if a union with an officer under indictment should happen to win such an election, the board said it will withhold certification as bargaining agent of the employes involved, pending outcome of the case.

The cab driver said he was questioned for eight hours before he was released. He quoted federal agents as saying several times: "We're going to find that money and you're going to tell us about it."

Hager said he replied, "I've told you everything I know. If I had it, I would give it to you."

It was Hager's tip to police Lt. Louis Shouders which led to the arrest of Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Heady for the kidnap-murder of the Greenlease boy in Kansas City.

Officers said they found $293,000 of the $600,000 ransom money in possession of Hall, who had spent considerable time with Hager here before his arrest.

Hager, an ex-convict, said his home was searched Friday by two policemen who looked into lockers and closets, under beds and between mattresses.

Neither police nor federal agents would identify the man and woman picked up at 1 a. m. in the MacArthur hotel. The raiders blocked off entrances to the hotel while they searched several rooms, finally emerging with a buxom blonde and a man identified by bystanders as a downtown tavernkeeper.

Milk Drivers On Half-Day Strike

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 24—UP—Hundreds of Shreveport homes were without milk Saturday following a short strike by truck drivers of the Jersey Gold Creamery.

The workers refused to make deliveries in a strike that lasted until shortly after noon.

L. C. Sanders, assistant business manager of the Truck Drivers Union 568, AFL, said the drivers refused to deliver the dairy products "because of a backlog of grievances." But he said a settlement was reached, and the drivers will be on the job Monday. Approximately 100 drivers were involved in the wildcat strike.

Stassen apparently intends to recommend a reduction in economic assistance to Europe. But he is expected to contend that some such aid is necessary. He can be expected to fight vigorously to keep alive the organization he heads.

Stassen will sit in on a Paris conference next week when the 17-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) reviews Western Europe's economic outlook.

In the current financial year, ending June 30, Congress made available for foreign aid a total of $6,652,000,000. The major share of this was channeled into military outlays. The fund included appropriations made previously by Congress as well as new money voted in this year's session.

A rather unique meeting is planned for next Sunday November 1 at 4 p. m. It will be held in the rooms of the local Red Cross chapter. The purpose is to pay tribute to living and dead members who signed the charter for the Red Cross chapter here.

The application was disclosed among the papers of the Red Cross recently and this has led to the plan of paying tribute to those who initiated the local project, as broad as all humanity. Many of the signers of the application are now dead but a few still live here.

Dated April 20, 1917, the application bore signatures of the following who are still living: Fred Hudson Jr., Ernest Neville, May Wooten and Mrs. Blanche Oliver. Names of others, now deceased, are as follows: H. R. Speed, Dr. O. W. Cosby, J. B. Pollak, Mrs. Fred Hudson, Sr., Abe Arent, Henry Bernstein and T. E. Flournoy.

Formal dedication of a portrait of Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector emeritus of Grace Episcopal Church, where he served as rector for 28 years, will take place in the church library today at 5 p. m.

The portrait was painted by William S. March, a prominent painter who was employed by Mrs. Gilbert Bullis, of Ferriday, close friend of the Haywards, to carry through the project. It was placed in the present library at the church, this room being specially gh,fir-5suited as it formerly served as office of Rector Hayward.

Friends of the Haywards and the general public are cordially invited to attend the dedication.

Mrs. Estelle Sanders naturally is quite pleased in that three of her voice pupils are to be participants in the Shreveport Civic Opera production, November 9, of "Il Trovatore." They are all exceptionally promising musicians and comprise Betty Spurlock, Jennings Wilkins, and Palmer Jarrell.

Hager said he replied, "I've told you everything I know. If I had it, I would give it to you."

It was Hager's tip to police Lt. Louis Shouders which led to the arrest of Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Heady for the kidnap-murder of the Greenlease boy in Kansas City.

Officers said they found $293,000 of the $600,000 ransom money in possession of Hall, who had spent considerable time with Hager here before his arrest.

Hager, an ex-convict, said his home was searched Friday by two policemen who looked into lockers and closets, under beds and between mattresses.

Neither police nor federal agents would identify the man and woman picked up at 1 a. m. in the MacArthur hotel. The raiders blocked off entrances to the hotel while they searched several rooms, finally emerging with a buxom blonde and a man identified by bystanders as a downtown tavernkeeper.

Milk Drivers On Half-Day Strike

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 24—UP—Hundreds of Shreveport homes were without milk Saturday following a short strike by truck drivers of the Jersey Gold Creamery.

The workers refused to make deliveries in a strike that lasted until shortly after noon.

L. C. Sanders, assistant business manager of the Truck Drivers Union 568, AFL, said the drivers refused to deliver the dairy products "because of a backlog of grievances." But he said a settlement was reached, and the drivers will be on the job Monday. Approximately 100 drivers were involved in the wildcat strike.

by Harold E. Stassen, when foreign aid authorization legislation comes before the Senate.

Stassen apparently intends to recommend a reduction in economic assistance to Europe. But he is expected to contend that some such aid is necessary. He can be expected to fight vigorously to keep alive the organization he heads.

Stassen will sit in on a Paris conference next week when the 17-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) reviews Western Europe's economic outlook.

In the current financial year, ending June 30, Congress made available for foreign aid a total of $6,652,000,000. The major share of this was channeled into military outlays. The fund included appropriations made previously by Congress as well as new money voted in this year's session.

plans to spend a year with Mr. and Mrs. Vaugh.

A rather unique meeting is planned for next Sunday November 1 at 4 p. m. It will be held in the rooms of the local Red Cross chapter. The purpose is to pay tribute to living and dead members who signed the charter for the Red Cross chapter here.

The application was disclosed among the papers of the Red Cross recently and this has led to the plan of paying tribute to those who initiated the local project, as broad as all humanity. Many of the signers of the application are now dead but a few still live here.

Dated April 20, 1917, the application bore signatures of the following who are still living: Fred Hudson Jr., Ernest Neville, May Wooten and Mrs. Blanche Oliver. Names of others, now deceased, are as follows: H. R. Speed, Dr. O. W. Cosby, J. B. Pollak, Mrs. Fred Hudson, Sr., Abe Arent, Henry Bernstein and T. E. Flournoy.

Formal dedication of a portrait of Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector emeritus of Grace Episcopal Church, where he served as rector for 28 years, will take place in the church library today at 5 p. m.

The portrait was painted by William S. March, a prominent painter who was employed by Mrs. Gilbert Bullis, of Ferriday, close friend of the Haywards, to carry through the project. It was placed in the present library at the church, this room being specially gh,fir-5suited as it formerly served as office of Rector Hayward.

Friends of the Haywards and the general public are cordially invited to attend the dedication.

Mrs. Estelle Sanders naturally is quite pleased in that three of her voice pupils are to be participants in the Shreveport Civic Opera production, November 9, of "Il Trovatore." They are all exceptionally promising musicians and comprise Betty Spurlock, Jennings Wilkins, and Palmer Jarrell.

Some newcomers here with their families: Mr. and Mrs. James C. Craft, 803 North Fourth St., West Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Foster, 3705 Grammont St.; Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Hernandez, 3711 Webster St.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Montgomery, 1500 South Fourth street; Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Neavitt, 1703 North Fourth St.

WHOLESOME TRAINING — Boy Scouts, like these, learn important things such as first aid. Scouts study scores of other things that contribute to youth development and training.

Scouts Best Known U. S. Organization For Boys

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh of a series of articles dealing with the nine local charitable agencies financed with donations to the Monroe-West Monroe Community Chest. The Red Feather drive is now underway. This year's Chest officials urge the public to join the campaign and assure a successful completion of the drive—early.)

Each year on February 22, Washington's birthday, Boy Scouts from throughout the Philadelphia, Pa., area converge on Valley Forge to pay homage to the Father of Our Country, and that little band of men who suffered there in 1776, that they might enjoy life in a democracy.

Valley Forge has changed quite a bit in the past 177 years, the Scouts are clothed in warm, smart looking uniforms rather than the tattered make-shift garments of the Continental Army, bloody footprints no longer mark the snow, and perhaps the winters aren't as cold as that endured by those who gave birth to freedom—Valley Forge in February, however, is still a cold, damp place to be. But that annual pilgrimage holds more meaning for tomorrow's leaders than a stack of history books; for one cannot help but feel humble as he trods that hallowed ground. To leave Valley Forge without a sense of pride in being an American is impossible. It is a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

Now check the roster of local, state, and national leaders past and present. Many of those best known and best remembered were Boy Scouts.

Recently newspapers throughout the nation carried an account of a boy who was lost in the woods for the best part of a week, but emerged in fairly good health. Scout lore had enabled the lad not only to find his way out of the wilderness, but to survive an ordeal that would have cost others, lacking such training, their lives.

How many times have you read of a Boy Scout, due to the instruction and training he received as a Scout, saving another persons life? The answer is quite a few.

The Boy Scouts of America, as an organization, was founded in 1910 by William D. Boyce, a newspaper publisher. According to legend, Boyce was lost in a London fog while visiting England in 1909, when a youth in uniform offered to assist him. With the lad's help, Boyce quickly found the address he was seeking. Then, in typical American fashion, Boyce offered the lad a tip, which he refused saying, "I cannot accept your tip for I am a Boy Scout." This so impressed Boyce, that the following year he founded the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting had its official beginning in Ouachita parish in July 1925, when the Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, was chartered. However, the first troop to wear Scout uniforms and to carry on the program of scouting in the Twin Cities was Troop Number One, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Early records indicate that this troop was first organized in 1919. It is still in existence, with Tony Embanato acting as Scoutmaster.

Today the Ouachita Valley Council embraces 14 parishes in northeast Louisiana. Over 2,700 boys are receiving the training offered by the Boy Scouts through 131 units. Of this total over 1,000 boys in 43 units are located in the Twin Cities area. The Council employs four professional scouters and two stenographers, and each year over 1,000 adult leaders volunteer to devote their time and energy to the success of this program for boyhood.

The Boy Scouts is one of the nine agencies which look to the Community Chest for subsistence. It seeks each year to assist the Red Feather drive in reaching its goal. It spends its allocated funds wisely. By contributing to the Community Chest you contribute to the future of the Twin Cities through their youth.

Olcott Buys Out Partner, Stone, In Auto Agency

The entire ownership of Olcott-Stone Motors, 211 North Second Street, has been obtained by A. G. Olcott, it was announced Saturday. The purchase was completed recently which transfers stock formerly owned by J. Floyd Stone.

Associated with the Chrysler Corporation for the past 32 years, Olcott began the present business in 1937 and has operated it since that time. In 1940 Stone became a partner in the business.

Olcott is a native of Pine Bluff, Ark., and began his association with the Dodge-Plymouth agencies there. In 1936 he moved to Monroe and took over the Chrysler agency. Since then he also began selling Plymouth automobiles. Steadily increasing and improving the business, the company now operated a fully staffed and trained service department.

"I am very happy to be able to continue to sell and service the Chrysler products but regret losing Mr. Stone as a partner. He has decided to sell his interest in Olcott-Stone Motors due to his many other businesses. We will continue to give improved services. Mr. Stone and I wish to personally thank the people who have given us business in the past," he said.

Child Study Conference Next Saturday

Northeast State will sponsor a child study conference Saturday from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. in Brown Auditorium.

The project is being offered at the request of school personnel throughout this area, Dean William M. Smith of the college faculty announced.

Principal consultant at the conference will be Dr. John Green of the Institute for Child Study. He is associated with the college of education, University of Maryland.

Saturday's program is open to persons affiliated with health and welfare departments, teachers and school administrators and others who are interested in organizations of girls and boys. Parents are also invited to attend the meeting, Dean Smith emphasized.

Dr. Green is recognized as a leader in child study, and groups who have worked with him rate his discussions as both challenging and practical.

Several school administrators and classroom teachers of this section of the state have studied under him at the University of Maryland.

He has won national distinction in the field of child study. As a result he is constantly in demand for conferences. Dr. Green presently is serving as a special consultant at a meeting of this nature in California. In such capacity he represents the University where he teaches.

Saturday's program will emphasize a discussion of child study problems which are recognized in this area.

Negro Freed On Bond After Two Charges Filed

A Monroe Negro, Thoyd James, of 303 N. 8th St., posted $300 bonds on two charges alleging hazardous handling of a shot gun and a broom, following his arrest Saturday afternoon by city police.

He was arrested at his home around 1 p. m. on warrants alleging that he "Did Intentionally use a shot gun when it was forseeable that it might result in death or great bodily harm to a human," and "Did intentionally use a broom whem it was foreseeable that it might result in death or great bodily harm to a human."

Rare Parasitic Infection Found In La. Squirrels

The positive identification of a rare parasitic infection in squirrels in Louisiana is reported by Dr. Albert L. McQuown, pathologist of Our Lady of the Lake sanitarium in Baton Rouge, L. D. Young, Jr., director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission, revealed today.

The organism is a round worm, Capillaria hepatica, and has never been found in the northern hemisphere prior to this time. Dr. McQuown discovered the egg of this parasite present in humans in Louisiana in three instances — in 1947, 1949 and 1953. Examination revealed that both persons in the latter two cases were from Innis, La.; that they had recently visited home prior to becoming ill, and that they had both eaten squirrel livers.

In an attempt to determine the source of the infection, the pathologist received permission from the state wildlife agency to collect a number of squirrels from the Innis area. Of the 79 squirrels taken, with cooperation and assistance from rangers and sportsmen, three of the livers contained eggs of this parasite.

Dr. McQuown reports that persons eating poorly cooked and infected squirrel livers may become infected. He urges all sportsmen to be sure that squirrel livers are thoroughly cooked, a process which kills the eggs or worms. He suggests the use of ordinary sanitary precautions when cleaning squirrels, adding that it would be possible to become infected by getting liver tissue on the hands in cleaning and into the mouth.

Major Disaster Averted After Fire Breaks Out

Fire in a trash box in the alley behind the building housing the Ruth Shop, 306 DeSiard, Saturday afternoon, resulted in minor smoke and water damage to the building and contents, fire department officials said.

Engine number one answered the fire call at 1:48 p.m., and by 2:50 p.m. had brought the blaze under control, after some 40 or 50 feet of insulation had been burned from electrical wiring leading into the building, and two window panes had been melted by flames.

The damage to electrical wiring was not sufficient to disrupt service.

When the window panes gave way, fire officials said, a small amount of the water being directed at the blaze streamed into the building, but did not reach any articles of merchandise.

However, they said, a quantity of smoke settled inside of the shop but no estimate of damage from this was immediately available.

Cause of the fire, which at its peak leaped some 50 feet into the air, was given by firemen as "carelessness with matches."

Life Term Meted To Student Who Murdered Girl

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 24—UP—Roy R. Schinagle Jr., a "model boy" who wanted to be a minister, Saturday was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing his pregnant college sweetheart in a murder case closely paralleling "An American Tragedy."

Prosecutor Harold Roth suddenly but "regretfully" accepted the Ohio Wesleyan University sophomore's pleas to a reduced charge of second degree murder. This made it possible for Schinagle to escape the electric chair for the passion slaying of Cynthia Pfeil of White Plains, N.Y. Roth said he doubted premeditated murder could be proven.

The Mayfield Heights, O., youth was expressionless as his parents and the slain girl's brother heard the prosecutor say he hoped all parents and college students could "profit" from what he called a "brutal crime" and a tragedy.

Miss Pfeil, who came to Ohio this fall to be near her lover, was slapped, choked, beaten with an iron bar, and dumped beside a country road Sept. 17, clad only in a night gown and red slippers.

They had quarreled about "something silly" when they met at their hideaway in a shack by the football field at the University in Delaware, O., Schinagle said.

The case was similar to Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy," the novel in which a young man disposed of his pregnant sweetheart by drowning her in hopes that he could marry a wealthy girl. He was executed. Schinagle can be paroled in 10 years.

The Strike At Elizabeth
A Diagram Of Tyranny

This newspaper has been hesitant to discuss the strike at Elizabeth due to the simple fact that it was considered a dispute between two factions, the Union and the Calcasieu Paper Company. Unfortunately, it has long ago passed beyond that point and is the scene of dangerous actions of a type most un-American.

The dispute is of no interest to the people of this state other than those directly connected. The violence connected with the strike is another thing. It is reminiscent of Europe and the gang warfare of old Chicago and present Kansas City. It does not become the State of Louisiana nor the Southern people involved. The town of Elizabeth has been the scene of terror and destruction on a scale not equaled in labor-management "relations" in many years. It is actually a civil strife of the first order with even relatives at terrible odds with each other. The strike has progressed into this civil strife to an extent that innocent lives are in danger.

This newspaper constantly refrains from the suggestion that the government be called into any dispute between the labor and the management of this state or nation, however, where lives are in danger, there can be no other course, and it is time to call "a spade, a spade."

Whether or not the subversives are involved in this disorder is not known. It is hoped not, but the scene of dynamitings, shootings and other similar aspects would seem to be excellent infiltration grounds for such Marxists as might want to become involved. The strike is a pattern for tyranny of the finest order as it shows how far down the road toward violence a group of people can go.

Unfortunately, the state has not seen fit to take action and the strike now enters its second terrible year. Last week for instance, a union man on picket duty came home to see his children in the yard playing near a curious brown bag. It contained enough dynamite and nitroglycerine to blow the children, house, and neighborhood off the map. Would this have done any good? Would it have helped solve the problem or settle the strike?

The main gas line leading into Elizabeth and the paper company has been blown up 40 times as of Wednesday last. Has that stopped the production of paper? It has made the lives of the townspeople of Elizabeth one of misery and despair.

This situation is what is termed in the newspaper business "good material", or better yet, "an editorialist's dream." Many lines of florid writing have been poured into the strike by writers who enjoy seeing their statements in print. The situation calls not for this action, rather, it calls for calm consideration by the people of this state who are seeing another example of the tyranny which can take over your nation.

Both the Union and the management have spent long hours defending themselves and denouncing the other side. The Union and the management have taken not responsibility for the violence at hand. Can it be honestly said that the Union could not order a halt to such action? Can it also be said that the management could not do the same? Whether you are pro-labor, pro-management, you should be anti-violence. Heated tempers never do any good. There is hardly a dispute which cannot be carried on in an orderly manner and without violence if the people concerned will realize the example they set.

The dynamitings of homes, place of business, and a general scene of terror is not in keeping with the concepts of the American way of life. The people of Louisiana are becoming tired of the official view being taken of the strike and are tired of seeing the name of a Louisiana community becoming similar to that of terror and destruction.

Official action must be taken to stop the violence.

As far as the dispute itself is concerned, the people of this state have no particular interest in its outcome no matter what either the Union or the management can say to the contrary. It is easy to see that the strike has destroyed the harmony and the feeling of the spirit of this land in at least one community of America, a nation which today is faced with certain destruction from abroad if the American people do not remain united.

Tryanny from abroad, Soviet style, is being matched with tyranny at home, Elizabeth style. As such, the time has come to bring it to a halt. The strike at Elizabeth, Louisiana is a design of tyranny which if allowed to continue, can only bring troubles on a greater scale to this state and nation and this growth is a definite harbinger of destruction.

On A Certain Forum Letter

The Sunday World of two weeks ago printed a Public Forum letter written by a R. R. Hunt. The letter described in florid terms, the present Louisiana vagrancy law and denounced the city judge, the state Senator from this district and the Monroe Police force.

In its efforts to be fair and print an open and impartial Forum Column, the Morning World prints the letters as they come in unless they are unsigned and contain abusive material of a libelous and slanderous nature. The line of demarcation is obviously thin and this was according to many, a definite borderline case, as the facts later graphically pointed out.

According to the city judge, the writer in this case had a police record of vagrancy, issuing worthless checks and had served time in jail for these sentences. His bitterness toward the police, the city judge and the state senator who sponsored the latest bill would seem to be a natural series of circumstances. The Morning World was unfortunately not possessed of this information. The Police force, the state senator and the city judge were all doing their duty as prescribed by the law and that law, the one concerning vagrancy, has been on the books in some form or other, since 1902. The law is of the utmost necessity and does not deny a single freedom as set down by the constitution.

In these days and times, there is no room for vagrancy. Jobs are available to a great extent and those who show enough spirit and ability can generally get them. Those who haven't got the jobs can be protected by the state while attempting to get them. The vagrancy laws have been upheld by the courts of this nation as being entirely valid and of great necessity. Each Forum writer is obviously entitled to his or her opinion on any question, but the letters should be kept on a calm and somewhat placid basis, steering away from statements which tinge with libel and slander.

West Monroe Grows, Grows And Grows
Progress In The Twin Cities

The energetic community on the West bank of the Ouachita river is on a growing improvement spree which should make every citizen of this area sit up and take notice.

The people are anxious to make their City grow, expand and become more attractive. Civic-minded West Monroe people have come to understand that unless you invest in something good, you will never get something better. One example is the present street program which calls for the paving of streets by the adjacent property owners. To date, there have recently been five new streets paved and Mayor Norris and several of the Commissioners state that the cash is nearly collected which will allow the program to be extended.

It is a known fact that a community is improved by its paved streets and it attracts more local business interests by its civic pride and attention. That, the West Monroe people are determined to show and are "not sparing the horses." Sparked by their civic clubs such as the energetic Lions, the West Monroe Kiwanis and others, the atmosphere resembles that of a community determined to progress.

There are plans afoot to change the water conditions, allowing the insurance rates to decrease instead of increase as presently planned. With the growth of West Monroe, the entire area progresses.

The Feud Paid Off
Children, Consider Yourselves Lucky

Unknown to the amazed people of the Twin Cities and Ruston, there seems to have been a "feud" of some sort carried on between the Freshmen of Louisiana Tech and Northeast State College. It concerned the hazing traditionally carried on against the new fourth classmen or Freshmen, and wound up in near tragedy.

The idea seemed to have been that if the "frosh" of one school could capture the freshman cap or headgear of the other school, the freshman was exempted from hazing. The feud was carried on this year in high-powered automobiles at tremendous speeds. It was carried on over United States Highway 80 in a new Lincoln which was as a result of speed, demolished and the passengers inside hurt and one seriously injured. The feud had overstepped its bounds and come onto a public highway, endangering the lives and limbs of innocent drivers.

The average age in this instance was 19. It is an age when boys should have become men. In many cases, especially in Korea, that age indeed represents seasoned men. Unfortunately, here it apparently does not. In fact, the entire "feud" shows the involved to have not grown up.

This newspaper feels that it has the support of many people when it states with great emphasis that the time has come to stop this idiocy on the streets and the roads. Unless a person is equipped to drive a car with the responsibility necessary, he or she should not be allowed on the roads. The streets of the cities and the highways of the state and nation are not race courses over which automobiles are to be driven at fantastic rates of speed.

That the driver's license of any man should be removed in such instance, is a matter of direct necessity. The matter of high-powered automobiles racing across the highways as if they were on the Indianapolis Speedway, has of necessity come to point where steps must be taken to curb the speeds.

Death and destruction lurk on the highways to such an extent, that many people fear to use them as means of going from one place to the other. College feuds and freshman hazing does not belong on the highway and there should be steps taken to insure that such does not happen in the future.

Louisiana Yams—Florida Oranges
There Is Some Similarity

In the State of Florida, the price of oranges is high. One can have two or three trees laden with oranges and grapefruit in his backyard and his neighbor will have to pay more at the grocery store in Orlando (for instance), than you here in the Twin Cities.

It is a safe bet however, that the yam eaters of Florida can get yams at less cost than you pay for them here! The price of these "sweet potatoes" called yams, taros, and other things have passed the price of good old Idaho spuds any day in the week. Soon, Louisiana will have to start importing its yams from abroad or from out of the state. That won't look so good for the new automobile license plates which advertise the high priced home product.

A Detroit newspaper became curious as to what the automobile had finally done to the horse, until a few decades ago the world's principal means of transporation. A survey revealed that in the great automobile metroplis the horse population was done to 350, equal in power to that contained under the hoods of two modern automobiles.

We Have To Pray

GOD knows our needs and every wish . . . We make from day to day . . . So why should we be worried now . . . And take the time to pray? . . . Whatever sorrow fills the heart . . . However trouble grows . . . Are these not all the thorns of life . . . That He already knows? . . . Yes, there is nothing ever that . . . Is hidden from His view . . . Including all our problems and . . . The trials we go through . . . But, oh, He loves to hear us plead . . . And beg Him for His aid . . . And whisper humbly that we are . . . So lonely and afraid . . . He wants to know that we believe . . . And that we lean on Him . . . And as we pray, He will not let . . . The light of hope grow dim.

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

Neville Prima Donnas

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Over the pseudonym "Disgusted" there appeared in the New Orleans Times Picayune a letter claiming that New Orleans owes Monroe an apology for the unhappy manner in which things worked out for the Neville band and Tigerettes on their visit to the Sesquirama.

The writer knows nothing at all about what arrangements were made by the Sesquirama authorities with your Mr. Luther Jones. It may be as he contends, that he was given to understand that he and his organization would have 45 minutes in which to perform. The fact that when they arrived here and found that such an amount of time had to be cut to 30 minutes, hardly warrants or excuses him or the other disgruntled "Monroyans" for their bad taste and bad manners.

The facts of the matter are as follows, and Mr. Luther Jones alone can be held responsible for the lack of public address sound. When Mr. Jones arrived, in his overzealousness, and without as much as "with your permission," he proceeded to move the loudspeakers around on the field, and in doing so disconnected all but one. When the official sound men came on the job they found their entire system "out" due to this breaking of the field connections. When Mr. Jones was asked why he moved the speakers, or who had given him permission, he informed the writer that he had to have room for his girls to work, and that he would move the speakers again if he felt so inclined. Needless to say, such an attitude hardly is conducive to co-operation, and therefore it is suggested that the blame be placed where it belongs on the shoulders of your Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones and his group were invited guest, and certainly should have behaved as guests, and not as temperamental prima donnas. His attitude was entirely inexcusable, and the writer would refer him and the writer "Disgusted" to the 14th chapter of the Gospel of Luke, verses 7 through 11, for a lesson on how to behave when they are invited guests. Humility seems to be one of the virtues he does not know.

On further thought, "Disgusted" claims the Neville band to be 100 strong and the Tigerettes numbering 180. On Tuesday evening the city of Lake Charles brought a larger band and a larger drill team onto the same field and gave a beautiful performance without having to disturb a single speaker or in any way disrupt the routine of the feature show the Sesquirama.

In the interest of truth.

Republican Jitters

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

We have been hearing so much of late about our balanced economy; how we can consume the goods and things we produce here in America so that things will not get out of hand etc. The question is out of all of this talk we have been hearing, has any individual or individuals come up with a good sensible answer to the question? Do our planners or government experts, as they are called, know how to plan a balanced economy, as they so loudly proclaim? Judging from what I hear over the radio and what I read in the papers, things are more out of balance now than they were when the experts and planners began their work of giving us a smooth running economy, or if you please, a balanced economy.

We owe more now than at any time in the history of this nation and it seems from all reports, that we will not be able to reduce this indebtedness for some time to come, if ever.

Our national debt is now three hundred billion dollars, and growing bigger by the day. The interest on this debt is over six billion dollars yearly. How are we, as a nation, going to pay this mammoth debt, much less the interest on this debt? If you can figure that one out, you can beat me. Wonder how our expert planners up in Washington can solve this problem for us? They are trying as hard as they can but so far have failed. Things are getting worse all the time. People are looking for some relief in this awful situation we find ourselves in today.

Our No. 1 problem in America is to take care of our own people. We should see that every human being in this country has plenty of wholesome food, clothing and shelter. We must build America strong. Our people should be cared for in regard to their health problems. We have too few hospitals, too few doctors, nurses, etc. Some people actually die for the want of attention at the proper time. We must have a healthy normal people in every way. We have the money. Why is this not done?

You haven't forgotten what the Republicans promised the people, in their platforms and public speeches. They were going to cut taxes, bring the cost of living down. They said the Democrats had been in office too long, and that the Democrats had made a "mess" of things and the people needed a change in government. The Republicans promised us that change. Have they changed for the better or the worse?

When congress meets in January 1954, they are coming up with a new agricultural program for the farmers. They will have a new set up on Social Security, old age pensions, welfare departments, etc. This will come up in 1954. Why did they wait until 1954? They could have done this in 1953. They know 1954 is election year; they wanted to keep the people waiting and expecting something, but this is where the Republican party made its biggest mistake.

The Democrats in 1954 will control the house by at least 50 or 60 majority and will also control the senate by 10 or 12 majority. Then in 1956 will elect a president. At present, there are 48 Democrats in the senate to 47 Republicans. The Republicans only have about eight or 10 majority in the lower house. Republicans can't brag too much in the face of these facts and figures. Can you wonder that they are scared and have what is known in modern times as a good case of "jitters."

Bald-Faced Lie

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

About a month ago I became well fed up receiving a yellow journal purporting to represent the railroad crafts. A contributing factor and possibly the main sore point was the fact that I never subscribed to it voluntarily, the subscription being entered by the railroad union as the one of the dubious blessings I was to enjoy by virtue of my membership. Since I have been carrying on a vendetta of my own this year with the order of railroad telegraphers, and accumulated a certain amount of carbon copy letters with my opinion of them as a result of their forcing compulsory unionism on me, I have been thinking for some time that I would bale up some of them and their replies and forward to Westbrook Pegler for any new leads or ideas that they might be worth to him.

Any further hesitancy in doing so was dispelled Sunday the 18th when I ran across a letter to your Public Forum in the Sunday World written by Alfred Baker Lewis, your unsolicited correspondent in Mount Vernon, N. Y. Coincidentally, only a few days prior to the 18th Mr. Pegler in his column had placed his finger on this character as an inveterate Vox Pop contributor bombarding newspapers all over the country with his propaganda, together with a pertinent fact or two to explain the interest of Lewis in union welfare, when this character wrote that "no one can be compelled to be a union member in order to get a job in a particular plant or industry," and "If he stays a member it is because he wants to," he wrote a bald - faced lie. And you can imagine with what feelings I read it when thousands upon thousands of railroad employees across the nation, and many here in Monroe, including myself, are paying compulsory union dues in order to keep on working. There is a limit on just how white you can make black look.

What About Gambling?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The news that a parish judge in the state of Louisiana ruled the destruction of slot machines illegal interests me greatly. Like many citizens who have sat back quietly and watched the great purge of the gambling, it raises some hope in my breast that democracy in our state is not dead yet. Our governor may be a fine man, morally above reproach, I hope and feel sure that he is, but it sickens me sometimes to see some of the crumbs of humanity who are supported by the public taxes.

Those same taxes which were paid openly and accepted gladly for slot machines are now being used to trample and override small business men, who are trying to provide what their customers want, a form of relaxation which is objected to only by the person who doesn't indulge. I don't smoke, but it doesn't make me want to close up the cigarette manufacturers. It would be hard to make me believe I was committing a crime by putting two bits in a slot machine, even if I had no hope of winning a cent. Some of the ministers might think it their moral duty to prevent gambling, but any one who wants to really gamble can invest in the stock market or plant a cotton crop. Should they try to prevent these happenings?

Insurance is a form of gambling, if one is to be quite technical on the subject. It's a hard matter to convince the average person that two bits or a dollar spent on a bingo game or a few pennies pitched on a board at a school carnival is illegal.

After all is said and done on the subject, the person who earns his own livelihood and wants to take a few of his own nickels or dollars to spend in a slot machine should have a freedom of choice. A person isn't tied and dragged in and made to operate a slot machine. Because some north Louisiana citizens like to spend their Saturday nights at a hill billy singing or the movies, should they insist that south Louisiana natives do likewise?

This is still America, the Land of the Free, isn't it? Wonder what George, Washington that is, would think of a band of sixty (extra state police), brave and fearless citizens hired to enforce a law to prevent some other citizens from spending their money as they wished. He'd probably think matters of what's worth fighting for had gotten pretty well mixed up.

As a voice for the quiet, peaceable, average group, which has surveyed the situation silently, but not without interest, may we now speak? Let's settle down to democratic neighborly living and recruit the long arm of the law to do something constructive and beneficial instead of following the wishes of a few fanatics.

NOT A GAMBLER.

Cut - Over Lands

Newellton, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I live where we have a stock law. It suits me OK, but I believe in home rule also. Each parish has passed stock laws as it becomes necessary in their own boundaries. Some haven't for the reason that most of the parishes or wards are cut-over lands, and are only suitable for grazing cattle.

'I Refuse To Answer—'

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Americans are beginning to present a healthy approach to the problem of ridding this country of communists. They are accomplishing this objective by insisting upon public identification of those communists who masquerade as Americans.

Observers are concerned with the outcome of President Eisenhower's order which permits the immediate firing of any federal employee who refuses to commit himself about communism by claiming protection of the Fifth Amendment.

Many think the president's order has only provided the communists with a method of forcing complete compliance with communistic objectives upon those Americans who are on - the - fence and who have sold their souls to the communists for financial gain.

Other observers feel that Christian teachings will prevail and the president's order will prove the most effective measure in separating the American citizens known as progressive reds from the real communists.

"You Can Change TheWorld"

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

From the many appreciative remarks going around about your editorials, it is evident that more and more folks have been reading and appreciating your efforts to use your talents and opportunities for a good purpose.

A lot of us sit back idle and discouraged because we think the little bit of good we could do would be so little that it would be of no account, but that's where we are wrong. If we stop to think, we would realize that every little bit of good that each of us could do all added together would be a great lot of good.

Most of us who would like to do something for the betterment of our community just haven't known how to go about it. For that purpose, the new Christopher book, "You Can Change The World," by James Keller is excellent; it gives constructive ideas and examples of what individuals can do and are doing all over the nation to better the world in which we live; (that includes housewives, students, and folks in every walk of life) and of course we start bettering the world by perfecting ourselves.

When our Lord commanded us, "Be ye therefore perfect, as also your heavenly father is perfect" (Matthew 5:48), he knew, better than we, what an impossibility that would be. Still, He meant for us to put forth every effort in getting as near that perfection as humanly possible — with His Divine supernatural help, of course. So just because we know we can't be perfect should be no reason to discourage us into not making any effort toward perfection. If we're smart, we'll aim high, try hard, and leave the rest to Our Lord, the Chief Navigator of Life.

Thank you very much. We hope you keep up the good work.

Korean Orphans

Korea.

Editor, Morning World:

With the World Series just over and the fall season merely getting under way, it seems strange to be thinking about Christmas time. Yet when we are separated by so many miles and there are so many days between letters and packages, it is necessary for us to start planning early.

The Second Battalion, my outfit, is preparing for a huge Christmas party for the Korean orphans in our area. There are approximately 112,000 Koreans living within the First Marine Division area. Of these, 65,000 are refugees; and 25,000 are living in refugee camps. Having been evacuated from their farms in the military zone, these people are without any means of support and are completely destitute. They are in dire need of food and clothing.

For example, a Korean school in a village adjacent to our camp has 1,100 children in grades 1 to 6. They study in 14 wornout, torn tents which are 20 feet by 20. Seventy children with their desks squeeze into one tent. They sit on the ground. There is no heat.

Now this is why I am writing to you. We want to collect items of clothing and nourishing canned food (not money) to give to the children at the Christmas party. Possibly you could interest a church, a school, or neighborhood group in getting up a package for us. Check with the postman on the size and weight limitations, and be sure to wrap and tie the package securely. Put an extra rope around it to make certain it will reach us. In order to get it here in time, it should be mailed the first week in November. Send it to the Battalion Chaplain at the address below.

For anything that you might send we express our thanks in advance. It is our hope that you will recieve a portion of enjoyment and satisfaction by participating in our party in this way.

British Guiana

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Well, once again the Communists have shown their claws, this time in British Guiana, a British Protectorate. How well founded was the editorial appearing in the Monroe (La.) News-Star on the 11th Sept., 1953, if one can judge the recent happenings there. Following that report, and my subsequent interview with the editor, I felt it my duty as an Englishman to bring this matter to the notice of the British Prime Minister, The Rt. Hon. Sir Winston Churchill. The seriousness of this Communist sponsored revolt in British Guiana against the British Crown must not be underestimated, and may well be a forerunner to similar happenings in other British territories. If not checked at an early stage this menace could present a serious threat to the United States of America, as well as our South American friends who border on this territory.

The Communists have proved themselves pastmasters at infiltrating into government, not only there, but in many parts of the world. However, we can rest assured that our British friends will bring everything to bear to crush out this menace.

One is forced to ask themselves how was it that the governor of this colony was not aware of this Communist organization in the government ranks, from information at my disposal it was obvious that there was Communist tendencies in executive posts of that government months ago, especially following the recent elections there. What are the basic causes of communism, logically the answer is, poverty, unemployment, and to a greater extent, ignorance. Hence it is noticeable, how easily primitive peoples in undeveloped countries readily accept the ideology of communism. A man hungry and without adequate means of support

The Strike At Elizabeth A Diagram Of Tyranny

This newspaper has been hesitant to discuss the strike at Elizabeth due to the simple fact that it was considered a dispute between two factions, the Union and the Calcasieu Paper Company. Unfortunately, it has long ago passed beyond that point and is the scene of dangerous actions of a type most un-American.

The dispute is of no interest to the people of this state other than those directly connected. The violence connected with the strike is another thing. It is reminiscent of Europe and the gang warfare of old Chicago and present Kansas City. It does not become the State of Louisiana nor the Southern people involved. The town of Elizabeth has been the scene of terror and destruction on a scale not equaled in labor-management "relations" in many years. It is actually a civil strife of the first order with even relatives at terrible odds with each other. The strike has progressed into this civil strife to an extent that innocent lives are in danger.

This newspaper constantly refrains from the suggestion that the government be called into any dispute between the labor and the management of this state or nation, however, where lives are in danger, there can be no other course, and it is time to call "a spade, a spade."

Whether or not the subversives are involved in this disorder is not known. It is hoped not, but the scene of dynamitings, shootings and other similar aspects would seem to be excellent infiltration grounds for such Marxists as might want to become involved. The strike is a pattern for tyranny of the finest order as it shows how far down the road toward violence a group of people can go.

Unfortunately, the state has not seen fit to take action and the strike now enters its second terrible year. Last week for instance, a union man on picket duty came home to see his children in the yard playing near a curious brown bag. It contained enough dynamite and nitroglycerine to blow the children, house, and neighborhood off the map. Would this have done any good? Would it have helped solve the problem or settle the strike?

The main gas line leading into Elizabeth and the paper company has been blown up 40 times as of Wednesday last. Has that stopped the production of paper? It has made the lives of the townspeople of Elizabeth one of misery and despair.

This situation is what is termed in the newspaper business "good material", or better yet, "an editorialist's dream." Many lines of florid writing have been poured into the strike by writers who enjoy seeing their statements in print. The situation calls not for this action, rather, it calls for calm consideration by the people of this state who are seeing another example of the tyranny which can take over your nation.

Both the Union and the management have spent long hours defending themselves and denouncing the other side. The Union and the management have taken not responsibility for the violence at hand. Can it be honestly said that the Union could not order a halt to such action? Can it also be said that the management could not do the same? Whether you are pro-labor, pro-management, you should be anti-violence. Heated tempers never do any good. There is hardly a dispute which cannot be carried on in an orderly manner and without violence if the people concerned will realize the example they set.

The dynamitings of homes, place of business, and a general scene of terror is not in keeping with the concepts of the American way of life. The people of Louisiana are becoming tired of the official view being taken of the strike and are tired of seeing the name of a Louisiana community becoming similar to that of terror and destruction.

Official action must be taken to stop the violence.

As far as the dispute itself is concerned, the people of this state have no particular interest in its outcome no matter what either the Union or the management can say to the contrary. It is easy to see that the strike has destroyed the harmony and the feeling of the spirit of this land in at least one community of America, a nation which today is faced with certain destruction from abroad if the American people do not remain united.

Tryanny from abroad, Soviet style, is being matched with tyranny at home, Elizabeth style. As such, the time has come to bring it to a halt. The strike at Elizabeth, Louisiana is a design of tyranny which if allowed to continue, can only bring troubles on a greater scale to this state and nation and this growth is a definite harbinger of destruction.

On A Certain Forum Letter

The Sunday World of two weeks ago printed a Public Forum letter written by a R. R. Hunt. The letter described in florid terms, the present Louisiana vagrancy law and denounced the city judge, the state Senator from this district and the Monroe Police force.

In its efforts to be fair and print an open and impartial Forum Column, the Morning World prints the letters as they come in unless they are unsigned and contain abusive material of a libelous and slanderous nature. The line of demarcation is obviously thin and this was according to many, a definite borderline case, as the facts later graphically pointed out.

According to the city judge, the writer in this case had a police record of vagrancy, issuing worthless checks and had served time in jail for these sentences. His bitterness toward the police, the city judge and the state senator who sponsored the latest bill would seem to be a natural series of circumstances. The Morning World was unfortunately not possessed of this information. The Police force, the state senator and the city judge were all doing their duty as prescribed by the law and that law, the one concerning vagrancy, has been on the books in some form or other, since 1902. The law is of the utmost necessity and does not deny a single freedom as set down by the constitution.

In these days and times, there is no room for vagrancy. Jobs are available to a great extent and those who show enough spirit and ability can generally get them. Those who haven't got the jobs can be protected by the state while attempting to get them. The vagrancy laws have been upheld by the courts of this nation as being entirely valid and of great necessity. Each Forum writer is obviously entitled to his or her opinion on any question, but the letters should be kept on a calm and somewhat placid basis, steering away from statements which tinge with libel and slander.

West Monroe Grows, Grows And Grows Progress In The Twin Cities

The energetic community on the West bank of the Ouachita river is on a growing improvement spree which should make every citizen of this area sit up and take notice.

The people are anxious to make their City grow, expand and become more attractive. Civic-minded West Monroe people have come to understand that unless you invest in something good, you will never get something better. One example is the present street program which calls for the paving of streets by the adjacent property owners. To date, there have recently been five new streets paved and Mayor Norris and several of the Commissioners state that the cash is nearly collected which will allow the program to be extended.

It is a known fact that a community is improved by its paved streets and it attracts more local business interests by its civic pride and attention. That, the West Monroe people are determined to show and are "not sparing the horses." Sparked by their civic clubs such as the energetic Lions, the West Monroe Kiwanis and others, the atmosphere resembles that of a community determined to progress.

There are plans afoot to change the water conditions, allowing the insurance rates to decrease instead of increase as presently planned. With the growth of West Monroe, the entire area progresses.

The Feud Paid Off Children, Consider Yourselves Lucky

Unknown to the amazed people of the Twin Cities and Ruston, there seems to have been a "feud" of some sort carried on between the Freshmen of Louisiana Tech and Northeast State College. It concerned the hazing traditionally carried on against the new fourth classmen or Freshmen, and wound up in near tragedy.

The idea seemed to have been that if the "frosh" of one school could capture the freshman cap or headgear of the other school, the freshman was exempted from hazing. The feud was carried on this year in high-powered automobiles at tremendous speeds. It was carried on over United States Highway 80 in a new Lincoln which was as a result of speed, demolished and the passengers inside hurt and one seriously injured. The feud had overstepped its bounds and come onto a public highway, endangering the lives and limbs of innocent drivers.

The average age in this instance was 19. It is an age when boys should have become men. In many cases, especially in Korea, that age indeed represents seasoned men. Unfortunately, here it apparently does not. In fact, the entire "feud" shows the involved to have not grown up.

This newspaper feels that it has the support of many people when it states with great emphasis that the time has come to stop this idiocy on the streets and the roads. Unless a person is equipped to drive a car with the responsibility necessary, he or she should not be allowed on the roads. The streets of the cities and the highways of the state and nation are not race courses over which automobiles are to be driven at fantastic rates of speed.

That the driver's license of any man should be removed in such instance, is a matter of direct necessity. The matter of high-powered automobiles racing across the highways as if they were on the Indianapolis Speedway, has of necessity come to point where steps must be taken to curb the speeds.

Death and destruction lurk on the highways to such an extent, that many people fear to use them as means of going from one place to the other. College feuds and freshman hazing does not belong on the highway and there should be steps taken to insure that such does not happen in the future.

Louisiana Yams—Florida Oranges There Is Some Similarity

In the State of Florida, the price of oranges is high. One can have two or three trees laden with oranges and grapefruit in his backyard and his neighbor will have to pay more at the grocery store in Orlando (for instance), than you here in the Twin Cities.

It is a safe bet however, that the yam eaters of Florida can get yams at less cost than you pay for them here! The price of these "sweet potatoes" called yams, taros, and other things have passed the price of good old Idaho spuds any day in the week. Soon, Louisiana will have to start importing its yams from abroad or from out of the state. That won't look so good for the new automobile license plates which advertise the high priced home product.

A Detroit newspaper became curious as to what the automobile had finally done to the horse, until a few decades ago the world's principal means of transporation. A survey revealed that in the great automobile metroplis the horse population was done to 350, equal in power to that contained under the hoods of two modern automobiles.

We Have To Pray

GOD knows our needs and every wish . . . We make from day to day . . . So why should we be worried now . . . And take the time to pray? . . . Whatever sorrow fills the heart . . . However trouble grows . . . Are these not all the thorns of life . . . That He already knows? . . . Yes, there is nothing ever that . . . Is hidden from His view . . . Including all our problems and . . . The trials we go through . . . But, oh, He loves to hear us plead . . . And beg Him for His aid . . . And whisper humbly that we are . . . So lonely and afraid . . . He wants to know that we believe . . . And that we lean on Him . . . And as we pray, He will not let . . . The light of hope grow dim.

Neville Prima Donnas

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Over the pseudonym "Disgusted' there appeared in the New Orleans Times Picayune a letter claiming that New Orleans owes Monroe an apology for the unhappy manner in which things worked out for the Neville band and Tigerettes on their visit to the Sesquirama.

The writer knows nothing at all about what arrangements were made by the Sesquirama authorities with your Mr. Luther Jones. It may be as he contends, that he was given to understand that he and his organization would have 45 minutes in which to perform. The fact that when they arrived here and found that such an amount of time had to be cut to 30 minutes, hardly warrants or excuses him or the other disgruntled "Monroyans" for their bad taste and bad manners.

The facts of the matter are as follows, and Mr. Luther Jones alone can be held responsible for the lack of public address sound. When Mr. Jones arrived, in his overzealousness, and without as much as "with your permission," he proceeded to move the loudspeakers around on the field, and in doing so disconnected all but one. When the official sound men came on the job they found their entire system "out" due to this breaking of the field connections. When Mr. Jones was asked why he moved the speakers, or who had given him permission, he informed the writer that he had to have room for his girls to work, and that he would move the speakers again if he felt so inclined. Needless to say, such an attitude hardly is conducive to co-operation, and therefore it is suggested that the blame be placed where it belongs on the shoulders of your Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones and his group were invited guest, and certainly should have behaved as guests, and not as temperamental prima donnas. His attitude was entirely inexcusable, and the writer would refer him and the writer "Disgusted" to the 14th chapter of the Gospel of Luke, verses 7 through 11, for a lesson on how to behave when they are invited guests. Humility seems to be one of the virtues he does not know.

On further thought. "Disgusted" claims the Neville band to be 100 strong and the Tigerettes numbering 180. On Tuesday evening the city of Lake Charles brought a larger band and a larger drill team onto the same field and gave a beautiful performance without having to disturb a single speaker or in any way disrupt the routine of the feature show the Sesquirama.

In the interest of truth.

Republican Jitters

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

We have been hearing so much of late about our balanced economy; how we can consume the goods and things we produce here in America so that things will not get out of hand etc. The question is out of all of this talk we have been hearing, has any individual or individuals come up with a good sensible answer to the question? Do our planners or government experts, as they are called, know how to plan a balanced economy, as they so loudly proclaim? Judging from what I hear over the radio and what I read in the papers, things are more out of balance now than they were when the experts and planners began their work of giving us a smooth running economy, or if you please, a balanced economy.

We owe more now than at any time in the history of this nation and it seems from all reports, that we will not be able to reduce this indebtedness for some time to come, if ever.

Our national debt is now three hundred billion dollars, and growing bigger by the day. The interest on this debt is over six billion dollars yearly. How are we, as a nation, going to pay this mammoth debt, much less the interest on this debt? If you can figure that one out, you can beat me. Wonder how our expert planners up in Washington can solve this problem for us? They are trying as hard as they can but so far have failed. Things are getting worse all the time. People are looking for some relief in this awful situation we find ourselves in today.

Our No. 1 problem in America is to take care of our own people. We should see that every human being in this country has plenty of wholesome food, clothing and shelter. We must build America strong. Our people should be cared for in regard to their health problems. We have too few hospitals, too few doctors, nurses, etc. Some people actually die for the want of attention at the proper time. We must have a healthy normal people in every way. We have the money. Why is this not done?

You haven't forgotten what the Republicans promised the people, in their platforms and public speeches. They were going to cut taxes, bring the cost of living down. They said the Democrats had been in office too long, and that the Democrats had made a "mess" of things and the people needed a change in government. The Republicans promised us that change. Have they changed for the better or the worse?

When congress meets in January 1954, they are coming up with a new agricultural program for the farmers. They will have a new set up on Social Security, old age pensions, welfare departments, etc. This will come up in 1954. Why did they wait until 1954? They could have done this in 1953. They know 1954 is election year; they wanted to keep the people waiting and expecting something, but this is where the Republican party made its biggest mistake.

The Democrats in 1954 will control the house by at least 50 or 60 majority and will also control the senate by 10 or 12 majority. Then in 1956 will elect a president. At present, there are 48 Democrats in the senate to 47 Republicans. The Republicans only have about eight or 10 majority in the lower house. Republicans can't brag too much in the face of these facts and figures. Can you wonder that they are scared and have what is known in modern times as a good case of "jitters."

Bald-Faced Lie

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

About a month ago I became well fed up receiving a yellow journal purporting to represent the railroad crafts. A contributing factor and possibly the main sore point was the fact that I never subscribed to it voluntarily, the subscription being entered by the railroad union as the one of the dubious blessings I was to enjoy by virtue of my membership. Since I have been carrying on a vendetta of my own this year with the order of railroad telegraphers, and accumulated a certain amount of carbon copy letters with my opinion of them as a result of their forcing compulsory unionism on me, I have been thinking for some time that I would bale up some of them and their replies and forward to Westbrook Pegler for any new leads or ideas that they might be worth to him.

Any further hesitancy in doing so was dispelled Sunday the 18th when I ran across a letter to your Public Forum in the Sunday World written by Alfred Baker Lewis, your unsolicited correspondent in Mount Vernon, N. Y. Coincidentally, only a few days prior to the 18th Mr. Pegler in his column had placed his finger on this character as an inveterate Vox Pop contributor bombarding newspapers all over the country with his propaganda, together with a pertinent fact or two to explain the interest of Lewis in union welfare, when this character wrote that "no one can be compelled to be a union member in order to get a job in a particular plant or industry," and "If he stays a member it is because he wants to," he wrote a bald - faced lie. And you can imagine with what feelings I read it when thousands upon thousands of railroad employees across the nation, and many here in Monroe, including myself, are paying compulsory union dues in order to keep on working. There is a limit on just how white you can make black look.

What About Gambling?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The news that a parish judge in the state of Louisiana ruled the destruction of slot machines illegal interests me greatly. Like many citizens who have sat back quietly and watched the great purge of the gambling, it raises some hope in my breast that democracy in our state is not dead yet. Our governor may be a fine man, morally above reproach, I hope and feel sure that he is, but it sickens me sometimes to see some of the crumbs of humanity who are supported by the public taxes.

Those same taxes which were paid openly and accepted gladly for slot machines are now being used to trample and override small business men, who are trying to provide what their customers want, a form of relaxation which is objected to only by the person who doesn't indulge. I don't smoke, but it doesn't make me want to close up the cigarette manufacturers. It would be hard to make me believe I was committing a crime by putting two bits in a slot machine, even if I had no hope of winning a cent. Some of the ministers might think it their moral duty to prevent gambling, but any one who wants to really gamble can invest in the stock market or plant a cotton crop. Should they try to prevent these happenings?

Insurance is a form of gambling, if one is to be quite technical on the subject. It's a hard matter to convince the average person that two bits or a dollar spent on a bingo game or a few pennies pitched on a board at a school carnival is illegal.

After all is said and done on the subject, the person who earns his own livelihood and wants to take a few of his own nickels or dollars to spend in a slot machine should have a freedom of choice. A person isn't tied and dragged in and made to operate a slot machine. Because some north Louisiana citizens like to spend their Saturday nights at a hill billy singing or the movies, should they insist that south Louisiana natives do likewise?

This is still America, the Land of the Free, isn't it? Wonder what George, Washington that is, would think of a band of sixty (extra state police), brave and fearless citizens hired to enforce a law to prevent some other citizens from spending their money as they wished. He'd probably think matters of what's worth fighting for had gotten pretty well mixed up.

As a voice for the quiet, peaceable, average group, which has surveyed the situation silently, but not without interest, may we now speak? Let's settle down to democratic neighborly living and recruit the long arm of the law to do something constructive and beneficial instead of following the wishes of a few fanatics.

NOT A GAMBLER.

Cut - Over Lands

Newellton, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I live where we have a stock law. It suits me OK, but I believe in home rule also. Each parish has passed stock laws as it becomes necessary in their own boundaries. Some haven't for the reason that most of the parishes or wards are cut-over lands, and are only suitable for grazing cattle.

'I Refuse To Answer—'

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Americans are beginning to present a healthy approach to the problem of ridding this country of communists. They are accomplishing this objective by insisting upon public identification of those communists who masquerade as Americans.

Observers are concerned with the outcome of President Eisenhower's order which permits the immediate firing of any federal employee who refuses to commit himself about communism by claiming protection of the Fifth Amendment.

Many think the president's order has only provided the communists with a method of forcing complete compliance with communistic objectives upon those Americans who are on - the - fence and who have sold their souls to the communists for financial gain.

Other observers feel that Christian teachings will prevail and the president's order will prove the most effective measure in separating the American citizens known as progressive reds from the real communists.

"You Can Change TheWorld"

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

From the many appreciative remarks going around about your editorials, it is evident that more and more folks have been reading and appreciating your efforts to use your talents and opportunities for a good purpose.

A lot of us sit back idle and discouraged because we think the little bit of good we could do would be so little that it would be of no account, but that's where we are wrong. If we stop to think, we would realize that every little bit of good that each of us could do all added together would be a great lot of good.

Most of us who would like to do something for the betterment of our community just haven't known how to go about it. For that purpose, the new Christopher book, "You Can Change The World," by James Keller is excellent; it gives constructive ideas and examples of what individuals can do and are doing all over the nation to better the world in which we live; (that includes housewives, students, and folks in every walk of life) and of course we start bettering the world by perfecting ourselves.

When our Lord commanded us, "Be ye therefore perfect, as also your heavenly father is perfect" (Matthew 5:48), he knew, better than we, what an impossibility that would be. Still, He meant for us to put forth every effort in getting as near that perfection as humanly possible — with His Divine supernatural help, of course. So just because we know we can't be perfect should be no reason to discourage us into not making any effort toward perfection. If we're smart, we'll aim high, try hard, and leave the rest to Our Lord, the Chief Navigator of Life.

Thank you very much. We hope you keep up the good work.

MRS. PHILIP INZINA.

Korea.

Editor, Morning World:

With the World Series just over and the fall season merely getting under way, it seems strange to be thinking about Christmas time. Yet when we are separated by so many miles and there are so many days between letters and packages, it is necessary for us to start planning early.

The Second Battalion, my outfit, is preparing for a huge Christmas party for the Korean orphans in our area. There are approximately 112,000 Koreans living within the First Marine Division area. Of these, 65,000 are refugees; and 25,000 are living in refugee camps. Having been evacuated from their farms in the military zone, these people are without any means of support and are completely destitute. They are in dire need of food and clothing.

For example, a Korean school in a village adjacent to our camp has 1,100 children in grades 1 to 6. They study in 14 wornout, torn tents which are 20 feet by 20. Seventy children with their desks squeeze into one tent. They sit on the ground. There is no heat.

Now this is why I am writing to you. We want to collect items of clothing and nourishing canned food (not money) to give to the children at the Christmas party. Possibly you could interest a church, a school, or neighborhood group in getting up a package for us. Check with the postman on the size and weight limitations, and be sure to wrap and tie the package securely. Put an extra rope around it to make certain it will reach us. In order to get it here in time, it should be mailed the first week in November. Send it to the Battalion Chaplain at the address below.

For anything that you might send we express our thanks in advance. It is our hope that you will recieve a portion of enjoyment and satisfaction by participating in our party in this way.

Capt. Marine Corps.

British Guiana

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Well, once again the Communists have shown their claws, this time in British Guiana, a British Protectorate. How well founded was the editorial appearing in the Monroe (La.) News-Star on the 11th Sept., 1953, if one can judge the recent happenings there. Following that report, and my subsequent interview with the editor, I felt it my duty as an Englishman to bring this matter to the notice of the British Prime Minister, The Rt. Hon. Sir Winston Churchill. The seriousness of this Communist sponsored revolt in British Guiana against the British Crown must not be underestimated, and may well be a forerunner to similar happenings in other British territories. If not checked at an early stage this menace could present a serious threat to the United States of America, as well as our South American friends who border on this territory.

The Communists have proved themselves pastmasters at infiltrating into government, not only there, but in many parts of the world. However, we can rest assured that our British friends will bring everything to bear to crush out this menace.

One is forced to ask themselves how was it that the governor of this colony was not aware of this Communist organization in the government ranks, from information at my disposal it was obvious that there was Communist tendencies in executive posts of that government months ago, especially following the recent elections there. What are the basic causes of communism, logically the answer is, poverty, unemployment, and to a greater extent, ignorance. Hence it is noticeable, how easily primitive peoples in undeveloped countries readily accept the ideology of communism. A man hungry and without adequate means of support

Voting, On-The-Record Scores For Louisiana Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (CQ)—Members of Louisiana's Congressional delegation answered "yea" or "nay" to 83.0 per cent of the roll calls for which they were eligible during the first session of the 83rd Congress, according to a Congressional Quarterly analysis of Voting Participation.

Louisiana senators registered a Voting-Participation score of 89.9 per cent, while the state's representatives voted 80.8 per cent of the time.

The Colorado Senate-House delegation, with its combined 96.5 per cent score, led all other states in over - all Voting Participation. Maine and North Carolina Senators and Nevada Representatives topped their chambers with 100 per cent scores.

New Hampshire trailed the Senate with 60.6 per cent, and Rhode Island was "low" in the House with 54.8 per cent.

LOUISIANA'S SENATORS

The Senate voted by roll call 89 times during the 1953 session. Sen. Ellender (D.) answered "yea" or "nay" 84 times. Adding these votes to his declared "for" and "against" stands, CQ found that he went "On The Record" on 89 of the roll calls. Declared stands include announcements, "pairs," and responses to CQ Polls of Members not otherwise recorded.

On 5 of the roll calls, Sen. Ellender did not vote.

Percentage-wise, his On-The-Record score for the 1953 session was 100 compared to 95 for his two years in the 82nd Congress (1951-52).

On "yea" and "nay" votes alone, Sen. Ellender had a Voting-Participation percentage of 94 in 1953, and 92 during the 82nd Congress.

Sen. Long (D.) cast 76 "yes" or "nay" votes in 1953, was On The Record for 88 of the roll - call votes, and did not vote on 13 of the roll calls for which he was eligible.

He was On The Record 99 per cent of the time in the first session of the 83rd Congress, compared to 95 per cent in the 82nd Congress. His 1953 Voting-Participation score was 85 per cent, compared to 90 per cent in the 82nd Congress.

LOUISIANA'S REPRESENTATIVES

During the 1953 session of Congress, there were 71 roll-call votes in the House. Rep. Passman (D.) voted "yea" or "nay" on 66 roll calls, and was On The Record—by voting or declaring stands—67 times. On 5 roll calls he did not vote.

Rep. Passman was On The Record 94 per cent of the times the roll was called in 1953, compared to 82 per cent during the 82nd Congress. His Voting - Participation average — counting "yea" and "nay" votes but not stands — for the 1953 session was 93 per cent. For the 82nd Congress his Voting-Particip tion score was 74 per cent.

The On-The-Record and Voting-Participation scores of other Louisiana Representatives for the 1953 session:

Representative	On Record	Voting
Boggs	92	87
Brooks	90	87
Hebert	85	48
Morrison	69	62

CQ's surveys showed that Congressmen's failures to vote or go On The Record frequently were due to absences caused by illness or official business.

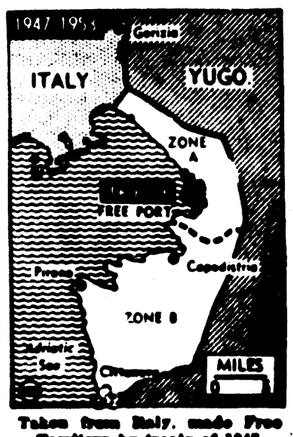
What The Trieste Hassle Is About

During the pre-World War I days, Trieste was the prinicpal port of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and the gateway to trade for Eastern Europe and the Danube basin. Because Austria-Hungary was on the losing side of the war it was ceded to Italy. In World War II, Hitler grabbed Trieste, only to lose it to Tito who tried for a time to bring the area into the then expanding Soviet-Slav Empire. After the war, the Western Allies wanted to return it to Italy, but finally compromised on a "Free



Taken from Italy, made Free Territory by treaty of 1947.

Territory of Trieste," under UN supervision. Until the territory could be set up the U. S. and Britain were to administer Zone "A," including the port of Trieste, and Yugoslavia was to administer Zone "B." Of the two, Zone "A" is largely commercial and is inhabited by 250,000 Italians and 50,000 Slovenes. Zone "B," while the larger of the two, is primarily agricultural and is inhabited by 80,000 Slovenes and 20,000 Italians. Sticking by its promise, the U. S. now wants to turn Zone "A" back to Italy, but Marshal Tito objected violently, threatening to use force if Italian troops march into Trieste, the principal port on the Adriatic Sea.

for himself and his family, is a dissatisfied man, and he will accept anything or anybody that will promise to change the situation for him, even against his better judgment, as a result his moral is low and in most cases he loses his self respect and inclination to do something about it. In order that the reader can understand a little of what British Guiana and its people are like and conditions there, etc., le. me describe it in a little detail.

This colony lies in the N. E. of South America and adjoins Dutch Guiana on the one side and Brazil on the other. It covers an area of 83,000 sq. miles and is mostly covered by forest, most of which is unexplored. It is rich in minerals, such as gold, diamonds, bauxite, manganese and mica. Balata (hard rubber), rosewood and mahogany timber is also plentiful. The population comprises of East Indians, Negroes, Carib & Arawak Indians, Chinese, and whites of Portugese, English and Dutch descent. In view of the fact that development either by government, or private enterprise, is way behind and the labour force far exceeds the demand, there is naturally much unemployment, here could well be some of the cause of the present trouble. Ways surely exist for tapping that undeveloped wealth, private enterpise should be encouraged, and so give every opportunity to reduce that festering sore of unemployment. Progress means prosperity, and a prosperous people are happy people, as the saying goes, good sometimes comes out of evil, let us hope that this will prove so in this troubled British Colony.

Facts About British Guiana

("BRITISH RECORD" — an agency of the British government)

British Guiana, which was ceded to Britain by the Dutch in 1814, and is Britian's only colony on the main land of South America, has an area of about 83,000 square miles (the size of Kansas); but some 90 per cent of the population — which totals about 440,000 — Live on a narrow coastal strip two to eight miles wide, a large part of this land being below sea - level and protected by sea-dykes.

About 18,000 of the population are aboriginal Amerindians. Of the remainder, some 160,000 are of African origin, descended from slaves brought there by various colonial powers until all slaves were freed by the British in 1838. Some 200,000 are descended from East Indians brought to British Guiana on a system of indenture to work the sugar plantations after the emancipation of the slaves. Some 50,000 of the remainder are mixed in origin, and other racial groups include Chinese, and, among other Europeans, a group of Portugese.

Almost all the agricultural and mineral development of British Guiana has taken place in the coastal area, which is some 4½ per cent of the total area. The interior is largely unexplored forest, but it includes also some 8,000 square miles of grass - covered savannah country, on which ranching is a growing industry.

Some raw materials are already being developed in the colony, notably bauxite, from which aluminum is made. Whether vast riches lie untapped in the interior is a matter for conjecture until surveying has been completed, but the report of the International Bank suggests that there may be important possibilities in the long term. Gold, diamonds and bauxite have already been found in the interior, as well as some manganese and columbite.

Sitzkrieg Over In Indo-China

By FRED SPARKS

HANOI, Indo-China — The sitzkrieg is over in Indo-China.

After two years of sitting and waiting for the war to come to them, France's excellent and colorful collection of European, Asiatic and African troopers with fresh American weapons are now climbing jungle mountains to smash two regular Communist divisions.

For those who criticized the Maginot Line philosophy, during which the French huddled in forts on the Red River delta, this "Operation Killer" is good news.

Ignoring guerrilla assaults in the rear areas, Frenchmen, Legionnaires, Senegalese and loyal Indo-Chinese are cutting into the Red fortified hills. This push cannot win the war, but victory will be measured in the awful statistics of Communist bodies.

The mountains around Ninh Binh, the heart of "Operation Killer," look down on French forts by the sleepy river. Visiting Ninh Binh, I noted Communists left their mountain sanctuary almost nightly to harass the forts and steal rice under the gun slits for their Alpine kitchens.

Although carrier planes from the former USS Langley are rocketing the hills, the operation is basically old fashioned, carried out by commandos in camouflage suits spotted like dirty tablecloths and Legionnaires chattering in 10 tongues, climbing the hills with fingernails and ropes.

The Commies have seven or eight regular divisions. If these two are clobbered, the Red plan for invading the delta will fold like a beach chair.

A pitiful few American - made helicopters egg-beat into the battle to pluck wounded boys to safety. Airborne ambulances are lifesavers, for few casualties with torn insides survive bouncing down hill in a stretcher.

Perhaps the Communists, using the Chinese formula, will shed their uniforms and bury their guns and try to look like innocent villagers.

Perhaps they'll fight more than a delaying action. In this game of king-on-the-mountain, as any kid knows, the guy on top has the edge.

Germany Looks After Her Latest Repatriates Condemned For 9 Years

By DR. PETER NAHM

BONN. — The Soviet Union has begun to return home those German prisoners of war still held by the states of the eastern bloc. We hope that the Soviet Union will complete this long overdue humanitarian task quickly and thoroughly so that in the shortest possible time no more Germans held as prisoners of war or deported during the occupation of the eastern territories of Germany will remain in Soviet Russia and the East Bloc States. More will have been done for understanding and reconciliation when all prisoners of war and the deported have come home and been returned to their families than by big diplomatic efforts.

When the tense days of first, fine rapture have begun to fade, the repatriate will not face a dreary everyday existence filled with worry about his bread and future. For years now there have been laws to help returnees gain a new foothold in life. On the basis of this legislation, the repatriate will be supported in every way by the state. In addition to an immediate repatriation payment of 200 DM given on his arrival at the release camp, the returnee will receive in case of need a tiding-over payment of 300 DM in the township he goes to. This sum will be pain by the Federal government. This tiding - over payment will normally be made in the form of clothing and articles for everyday use but can if desired be made in cash.

Free medical aid according to the rules of sickness insurance authorities will be given even to those repatriates who were not previously insured. Artificial dentures, so far as they are necessary and suitable, will be offered to the returnees without charge.

In cases where his old employmen is no longer available, the repatriate will enjoy preferential treatment at labour exchanges. He will be entitled to six months notice in whatever job he takes.

Should he find no work, he will receive unemployment benefits for 25 weeks, amounting to a weekly compensation of a least 45 DM.

Aid will be given where a repatriate wishes to learn a new trade or had not begun or not yet ended his vocational training.

Should the repatriate need to be alloted a home, he will be given top priority.

For 12 months from the date of his release the repatriate will be safe from any writs of execution.

In addition to these legal minimum measures, the Federal government, the states and townships as well as the economic federations and organizations will go out of their way to give every possible help to the latest returnees.

Chiang Checks His New Army--

Here's the latest picture of Chiang Kai-shek, looking very much the generalissimo, as he reviews troops of his rejuvenated Nationalist army in Taipeh, Formosa. The parade was in honor of China's National Flag Day. Marooned on Formosa since Dec. 6, 1949, when Chinese Communist armies drove him off the mainland, Chiang still hopes some day to lead his armies back for the reconquest of their homeland. Troops taking part in parade were snappy in dress, equipment and marching spirit, but Chinag will need considerable more help before his dream can be realized.

Bolivia Woos U. S. Aid To Avoid Plunge Into Communism, Fascism Or Civil War

By DANIEL JAMES

LAPAZ, Bolivia — This primitive, mountainous country momentarily could plunge into communism, fascism, or a long and bloody civil war.

The only force that can prevent any of these tragedies, according to informed opinion, is the United States.

"If we don't get important help from you soon, the situation will get out of hand."

Bolivia has more neighbors than any other Latin American nation, being bordered by Peru, Chile, Argentina, Paraguay and Brazil. Each is watching tensely to see what happens next, and worrying about the possible effect upon itself.

Since 1930, Bolivia has experienced 19 big and small revolts. One, in 1946, ended with a president hanging from a lamp-post in the capital of La Paz.

But on April 9, 1952, a new kind of revolution occurred. It brought to power men who had been elected democratically the year before, but had been prevented from taking office by a military junta. These men have since destroyed the foundations of the old Bolivia: the army, the tin monopoly, the feudal ownership of land.

Tin nationalization and agrarian reform were not Communist-inspired. The Paz Estenssoro regime is not Communist nor Communist - influenced. It is nationalist. It is also revolutionary. But, paradoxically, it is the only alternative to communism. Or fascism, or chaos.

That crisis can be described simply. Bolivia normally imports $25 million worth of food annually. This year food imports have been cut drastically because she lacks dollars. The dollar shortage is due, in turn, to a loss of $30 million in tin sales. Tin usually accounts for nearly all Bolivia's dollar income.

Revenue from tin has fallen because of a drop in the world market price from $1.21½ to 82 cents a pound, and therefore has nothing to do with nationalization. The expropriated big three mining families — Patino, Hochschild and Aramayo — are in fact happy they aren't around at the moment to take the financial and political rap for the price fall.

To overcome its unhealthy dependence on tin, and on food imports, Bolivia has launched an agrarian reform intended chiefly to diversify the economy. President Paz Estenssoro confidently told me this would conquer the food crisis within a year and a half. But the results, so far, have not been encouraging.

For four centuries the Indians, who number 2,500,000 out of a total of 3,000,000 people, have been held in virtual serfdom. They were reqrired to work gratis two or three days a week for the landowner, pay him a portion of their own crop output as rent, and generally live like animals. Whenever land was sold the Indians usually went with it like livestock.

Voting, On-The-Record Scores For Louisiana Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (CQ)—Members of Louisiana's Congressional delegation answered "yea" or "nay" to 83.0 per cent of the roll calls for which they were eligible during the first session of the 83rd Congress, according to a Congressional Quarterly analysis of Voting Participation.

Louisiana senators registered a Voting-Participation score of 89.9 per cent, while the state's representatives voted 80.8 per cent of the time.

The Colorado Senate-House delegation, with its combined 96.5 per cent score, led all other states in over - all Voting Participation. Maine and North Carolina Senators and Nevada Representatives topped their chambers with 100 per cent scores.

New Hampshire trailed the Senate with 60.6 per cent, and Rhode Island was "low" in the House with 74.8 per cent.

LOUISIANA'S SENATORS

The Senate voted by roll call 89 times during the 1953 session. Sen. Ellender (D.) answered "yea" or "nay" 84 times. Adding these votes to his declared "for" and "against" stands, CQ found that he went "On The Record" on 89 of the roll calls. Declared stands include announcements, "pairs," and responses to CQ Polls of Members not otherwise recorded.

On 5 of the roll calls, Sen. Ellender did not vote.

Percentage-wise, his On-The-Record score for the 1953 session was 100 compared to 95 for his two years in the 82nd Congress (1951-52).

On "yea" and "nay" votes alone, Sen. Ellender had a Voting-Participation percentage of 94 in 1953, and 92 during the 82nd Congress.

Sen. Long (D.) cast 76 "yes" or "nay" votes in 1953, was On The Record for 88 of the roll - call votes, and did not vote on 13 of the roll calls for which he was eligible.

He was On The Record 99 per cent of the time in the first session of the 83rd Congress, compared to 95 per cent in the 82nd Congress. His 1953 Voting-Participation score was 85 per cent, compared to 90 per cent in the 82nd Congress.

LOUISIANA'S REPRESENTATIVES

During the 1953 session of Congress, there were 71 roll-call votes in the House. Rep. Passman (D.) voted "yea" or "nay" on 66 roll calls, and was On The Record—by voting or declaring stands—67 times. On 5 roll calls he did not vote.

Rep. Passman was On The Record 94 per cent of the times the roll was called in 1953, compared to 82 per cent during the 82nd Congress. His Voting - Participation average — counting "yea" and "nay" votes but not stands — for the 1953 session was 93 per cent. For the 82nd Congress his Voting-Particip tion score was 74 per cent.

The On-The-Record and Voting-Participation scores of other Louisiana Representatives for the 1953 session:

Representative	On Record	Voting
Boggs	92	87
Brooks	90	87
Hebert	85	48
Morrison	69	62

CQ's surveys showed that Congressmen's failures to vote or go On The Record frequently were due to absences caused by illness or official business.

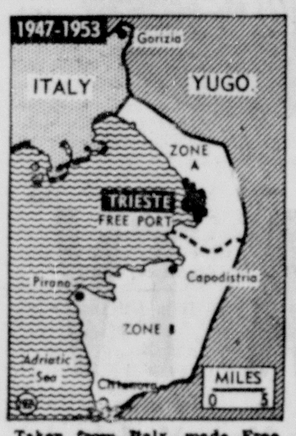
What The Trieste Hassle Is About

During the pre-World War I days, Trieste was the prinicpal port of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and the gateway to trade for Eastern Europe and the Danube basin. Because Austria-Hungary was on the losing side of the war it was ceded to Italy. In World War II, Hitler grabbed Trieste, only to lose it to Tito who tried for a time to bring the area into the then expanding Soviet-Slav Empire. After the war, the Western Allies wanted to return it to Italy, but finally compromised on a "Free Territory of Trieste," under UN supervision. Until the territory could be set up the U. S. and Britain were to administer Zone "A," including the port of Trieste, and Yugoslavia was to administer Zone "B." Of the two, Zone "A" is largely commercial and is inhabited by 250,000 Italians and 50,000 Slovenes. Zone "B," while the larger of the two, is primarily agricultural and is inhabited by 80,000 Slovenes and 20,000 Italians. Sticking by its promise, the U. S. now wants to turn Zone "A" back to Italy, but Marshal Tito objected violently, threatening to use force if Italian troops march into Trieste, the principal port on the Adriatic Sea.



Taken from Italy, made Free Territory by treaty of 1947.

In order that the reader can understand a little of what British Guiana and its people are like, and conditions there, etc., le. me describe it in a little detail.

This colony lies in the N. E. of South America and adjoins Dutch Guiana on the one side and Brazil on the other. It covers an area of 83,000 sq. miles and is mostly covered by forest, most of which is unexplored. It is rich in minerals, such as gold, diamonds, bauxite, manganese and mica. Balata (hard rubber), rosewood and mahogany timber is also plentiful. House Probers To Ask Counsel From Clergymen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 —UP— Chairman Harold H. Velde of the House Un-American Activities committee said Saturday organized religious groups constitute "the greatest single force combatting communism in the United States."

The Illinois Republican made this statement in announcing that he has arranged to confer with leaders of the protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths to get advice and suggestions on the work of his committee.

Velde and some of his collegues on the committee — particularly Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) —have been criticized for suggesting that Congress investigate communism in religion. The committee said in a formal statement last May, that it would investigate communism whereever it exists, including the ministry.

Velde had announced previously that the committee would grant a hearing to J. B. Matthews, former congressional investigator, on Matthew's charge that "the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States is composed of protestant clergy." No date has been set for the Matthews hearing.

In his statement Saturday, Velde said the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America, the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and the American Jewish Committee have agreed to send representatives to meet with him.

The chairman said he hoped "to obtain advice and suggestions which might be offered relating to the work of the committee on Un-American activities."

WILL GIVE DEMONSTRATION — The 280 MM "atomic" gun will be included in the fire coordination instructions which a mobile team from Fort Sill, Okla., will give reservists in the Fourth Army area. Their tour will last for more than two months. Looking at a picture which will be used as a slide during the lectures are, left to right, Capt. W. H. Trotter, communications; Capt. W. C. Worthy, combined arms; and M/Sgt. W. J. Miller, communications. (U. S. Army photo.)

Mobile Teams To Be Shown At Selman Field

Major Francis L. Kueht, unit advisor for the United States Army Reserve, announced yesterday that the first of five mobile instructional demonstration teams will be at the USARTC, Selman field, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The group will present "use of fire support coordination center in corps and lower level activities."

These teams are highly trained and sent to each reserve area by the chief of field forces to bring the latest developments and information on military equipment and training to the reservists at home. Of special interest, Major Kueht said, will be the instructions on the new 280 mm atomic gun.

All members of the National Guard, Air Force, Navy and Marine reserve are cordially invited to attend. All interested civilian personnel are welcome.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It is well worth your time to experiment with makeup and hair styling.

Youthful Makeup, Hairdo Not For The Older Woman

The kind of makeup you use and the hairdo you wear can make such a big difference in the way you look. If cleverly done they can actually make a plain woman look pretty.

Many women fail to realize that makeup and hairstyling for the older woman should be given special thought. I do not mean that the middle-aged or older woman should adopt grim styles and colors. BUT you must recognize the fact that the skin tone changes some with the years and also that certain hairdos are aging.

Today I bring you some ideas from Anna Mahramas, of Pittsburgh. Miss Mahramas is doing lovely things with television makeups and has several times won first prizes in New York hair-styling competition.

Her Ideas

1. The new pink makeup is not good for women of 40 or more. It is wonderful on collegiates. Aging gives the skin a darker tone. Pink does not look well on it. This is too light and bland for the mature woman. A good clear red is best, one with no purples or orange in it.

(You cannot apply this rule universally but I agree with Miss Mahramas that too few middle-aged women use clear reds. These do not have to be pink in order to be soft in color.

2. Never apply rouge directly to the face. Put a little cold cream on the back of your left hand. Rub the side of your lipstick against this. Blend. This will make your rouge go on more smoothly (otherwise it may settle in wrinkles. It also gives you a slightly lighter shade than the lipstick you are using.

3. The older woman needs a gleam in her eye. A tiny bit of rouge applied close to the eyes, near the corners, will help.

4. It is often difficult to trust your own judgment under the fluorescent lights of a store. Ask for a color chart.

Hold Skin Taut

5. Hold the skin taut when you apply rouge.

6. Avoid kittenish curls and frou-frou jewelry.

Here I will add a few suggestions for applying rouge. As a general rule it should be applied at the center of each cheek and then blended outward. Do not get it too low on the face. This gives a drooping appearance. Remember that rouge highlights the area to which it is applied.

If you wish to make your face look wider, put rouge on a little further toward the outside of the face. If you want your face to look slimmer apply it a bit closer to the nose.

It is well worth a woman's time to experiment with makeup and hair styling. These are modern magic!

House Probers To Ask Counsel From Clergymen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 —UP— Chairman Harold H. Velde of the House Un-American Activities committee said Saturday organized religious groups constitute "the greatest single force combatting communism in the United States."

The Illinois Republican made this statement in announcing that he has arranged to confer with leaders of the protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths to get advice and suggestions on the work of his committee.

Velde and some of his collegues on the committee — particularly Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) —have been criticized for suggesting that Congress investigate communism in religion. The committee said in a formal statement last May, that it would investigate communism whereever it exists, including the ministry.

Velde had announced previously that the committee would grant a hearing to J. B. Matthews, former congressional investigator, on Matthew's charge that "the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States is composed of protestant clergy." No date has been set for the Matthews hearing.

In his statement Saturday, Velde said the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America, the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and the American Jewish Committee have agreed to send representatives to meet with him.

The chairman said he hoped "to obtain advice and suggestions which might be offered relating to the work of the committee on Un-American activities."

WILL GIVE DEMONSTRATION — The 280 MM "atomic" gun will be included in the fire coordination instructions which a mobile team from Fort Sill, Okla., will give reservists in the Fourth Army area. Their tour will last for more than two months. Looking at a picture which will be used as a slide during the lectures are, left to right, Capt. W. H. Trotter, communications; Capt. W. C. Worthy, combined arms; and M/Sgt. W. J. Miller, communications. (U. S. Army photo.)

Mobile Teams To Be Shown At Selman Field

Major Francis L. Kueht, unit advisor for the United States Army Reserve, announced yesterday that the first of five mobile instructional demonstration teams will be at the USARTC, Selman field, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The group will present "use of fire support coordination center in corps and lower level activities."

These teams are highly trained and sent to each reserve area by the chief of field forces to bring the latest developments and information on military equipment and training to the reservists at home. Of special interest, Major Kueht said, will be the instructions on the new 280 mm atomic gun.

All members of the National Guard, Air Force, Navy and Marine reserve are cordially invited to attend. All interested civilian personnel are welcome.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. Yes. The late G. K. Chestertson said, "The most important thing about a man is what he believes." What you believe about yourself, other people, your home, family, community, country and God, governs all your conduct—even much of your health. It is the chief ingredient of your so-called "human nature." The world-wide conflict today is a battle for men's beliefs. Communism wants to dictate them; we want to guide them.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Cats and dogs can easily be taught to dwell in peace under the same vines and fig trees, or kitchen table. Cats and rats have been taught not only to live together, but to cooperate to get their food. Even some men and women live happily together.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. He has to take the scientists' word for it. For thirty-five years, as a side line I've studied the germ or sex cells of plants and human beings. But the advances have been so spectacular they strain my mind. Same in psychology. But now I am flabbergasted as I learn of a SUPERCOLOSOTRON — an atom-smashing machine that covers an 160 acre farm That knowledge has almost put me in bed!

Indian Farming Upset By Skilled Missourian

By H. H. BRINSMADE

Reminiscent of an improved type of mousetrap, a story that has come down through the years, a brother -in - law of Miss Ola Mae Pennington, has followed out the idea to which reference is just made. This man, Mason Vaugh, agricultural engineer at Allahabad Agricultural Institute, in way off India, has done just that thing. He has built at a cost of $3, a plow adaptable for farm use in that country.

Reduced to a nutshell the story is told thus: "Take a simple plowshare, a moldboard, a few bolts, and a wooden beam. It will total a cost in Indian money of 15 rupees, or $3, and if you're a small Indian farmer, you'd much rather get your hands on a Shabash than on a tractor. In Hindustani, "Shabash" means "well done."

Born and raised on a farm in Missouri, Mason Vaugh attended the University of Missouri, in his teens studying scientific agriculture. This new knowleige he decided to share with some of God's people who seem to need it greatly and in 1921, he accepted assignment as missionary who would teach agriculture engineering at Allahabad Institute, near the junction of the Jumna River and the sacred Ganges in Northern India.

The first thing Mason Vaugh was to learn was that scientific farming could not be utilized in India. He set forth, accordingly, to try to improve traditional Indian farm tools.

What a farmer would and could use profitably, not what experts thought he should, became the guiding rule. Thus his plows, farm buildings, bungalows, kitchen equipment and field implements of all kinds use native forms and materials. Normally a man and his pair of bullocks can work only four or five acres. Using institute methods he can work 22 acres.

What gives the Shabash its superiority over other plows? To begin with, its generous throat clearance reduces entanglements in weeds and tough grass. Also, its hard steel share makes it sharper and more durable than the village-made deshi plow hewn from a block of wood and fitted with metal tip. Then the wider and deeper furrow makes the Shabash almost a third greater in efficiency. And it is so cheap that the people can afford it.

At this time the Institute workshop turns out 100 plows a month. Next year it is planned to be able to make 1,000 a week, but even this will not meet the demand.

Many other farm implements that have proved widely useful have crowned the labors of this forceful and talented Missouri man.

Monroe people will be interested to know that Miss Ola Mae Pennington's sister is the wife of Mason Vaugh. This coming week, Miss Pennington is to sail from New York for India and plans to spend a year with her sister and brother-in-law.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am engaged to a little waitress whom I love very much. We were supposed to get married next month but now she informs me that she just "wants to stay engaged." She has been taking a lot of kidding at her place of business about quitting her job. I think they have done it intentionally to make her want to stay, as they need her. It looks like I'm the goat. There's very little feeling in her "Good-night" kisses now, too. Can you tell me what to do as I'm licked! — J. S.

Wake up, dreamer, wake up. There is more than a "job" keeping your heart - throb from marrying you. My guess is that it is a two - legged animal tagged "male."

Let's face it. If it were only her job that was preventing her from tripping down the aisle, her kisses would still be torrid. The lukewarm kisses are your answer, boy. What to do? Tell the little lady to make a choice between you, the job and ?. What good is one-sided love?

Dear Ann: I am 26, my husband is 30 and we have been married for one and one - half years. As long as I knew my husband he seemed to be crazy about babies and children, which made me very happy. Seven months ago, when I knew we were going to have our own baby, I was in heaven and couldn't wait to tell my husband. If I had placed a bomb in his hands, I could not have upset him more!

He won't tell his family or friends and won't let me tell them. He refuses to see my doctor or talk about arrangements (names, equipment, hospital, etc.). He told my aunt (who knows about me) that, "it had better be a girl, or else!" I am living like a hermit but can't go on hiding my condition forever and I am very confused as I certainly expected my husband to share my happiness. What is wrong? What happened to the husband I had who loved babies? Could he be jealous of the baby-to-be? — Mother-to-Be Jealous, my Aunt Hattie- You have a husband who is convinced that he will no longer be young, gay and attractive if he becomes a father. Sounds silly as that fear more often strikes women, but occasionally we find it in men. He may also be afraid of the responsibility of fatherhood. You are doing the wrong thing when you allow him to hide you and keep the fact from people. Tell everyone, be happy about the coming event, make all your arrangements yourself and eventually, people and time will force your husband into a more normal attitude. After the baby arrives (boy or girl), create situations whereby your husband must hold and handle the baby so that pride of parenthood will assert itself.

Dear Ann Landers: We have been married for nine years and have three children. We live happily until my husband's brother shows up, and then our lives are miserable. The brother talks against me, encourages my husband to join him and keeps him out drinking until the morning hours. When my husband comes home he strikes me and behaves so terribly that the children are afraid of him. This is getting to be a habitual occurrence even though the brother is married and a father too. I can't take it any longer but do not know what to do.—Alice M.

Tell your husband he married you —not his brother. His obligation is to you and the family. You do not have to sit around and wait for a drunken husband to come home and strike you and terrorize the children. Tell him to forbid the brother to visit if he can't control his drinking and hours when the brother comes, or you will seek legal aid.

Monica: Tell him you are very flattered at his invitation but that you are sorry you must refuse as you are "tied up with other interests," or "have another date."

Anxious Mother: Regardless of whether the daughter - in - law is wrong or right or is the cause and regardless of what one son is doing to the other, they are all of age and you would be wise to let them work out their own problems. I know it is difficult, but it is for the best.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the News-Star.)

A military policeman, Peter J. Kawolkowski, of Camp Polk, who was taken into custody recently on charges of drunkenness while in charge of a prisoner, was again apprehended Saturday, Monroe city detectives reported.

Kawolkowski was charged with being A. W. O. L. Officers reported the M. P. was being returned to Camp Polk near Alexandria to have charges filed against him, when he managed to escape his custodian, and hired a cab to take him to Monroe, giving the driver a check for the amount of the fare. When the check returned "no funds," the driver immediately complained to the provost marshal at Camp Polk, and informed the official of Kawolkowski's whereabouts.

After Monroe detectives were notified, Kawolkowski was arrested at the Little Club, a local night spot, which was also the scene of a prisoner's escape from Kawolkowski a few weeks previously.

Married Women In Business Are Showing Gains

"Old-age and survivors insurance is of increasing importance to the working women of the nation because more women of mature age are entering the labor ranks," J. Dodd Brooks, manager of the Monroe Social Security Office, said today.

While the number of single, widowed and divorced women workers has changed but little in recent years, there has been a marked increase in the number of married women workers. "This number had grown from 7½ million in 1947 to nearly 10½ million in April 1952," Brooks said.

He pointed out the tendency during the past decade for women to return to work, or to take jobs for the first time after reaching middle age. This trend contrasts with the pre-war period when it was largely young wives in their twenties and early thirties who went into outside employment. Today, the greatest proportion of working wives are in their early forties; even married women in their early fifties are entering the labor force in about the same proportions as younger women, an April 1952 survey reveals.

"A woman now age 50 will be fully insured for old-age insurance payments at age 65 after about 7½ years of covered work," Brooks said. An amount of covered work equal to at least one-half the time after 1950 and age 65 or death is required to be fully insured.

Brooks said that around 5.3 million women workers have children under 18; over two million of these women have youngsters below school age for whose care the mothers must provide during the hours they spend at work outside the house. As survivors benefits are payable to children if the supporting parent had at least a year and a half of covered work during the three years ending with death, mothers now engaged in covered work are building this social security insurance protection.

Burglar Fails In Attempt To Rob Store Safe

A burglar was unsuccessful Friday night in his attempt to burglarize a safe at the Capitol Stores, located on Forsythe Avenue, the Monroe city detectives reported Saturday morning.

Investigation by detectives and sheriff deputies revealed that someone had entered the grocery establishment by boring holes through the back door with a brace and bit and then prying the lock off the door with a jimmy bar. After also opening the door of the office, where the safe was located, the thief knocked the dial off the safe and attempted to punch the pin.

Police expressed the belief that the burglar was frightened away by police cars patroling that area.

F. S. Brown, the Capitol store manager, stated that he would notify officers if any merchandise was missing. The store was closed Friday at 7:30 p.m. and opened at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, at which time the burglary was discovered. Sheriff's deputies and detectives are working on the case.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. Yes. The late G. K. Chestertson said, "The most important thing about a man is what he believes." What you believe about yourself, other people, your home, family, community, country and God, governs all your conduct—even much of your health. It is the chief ingredient of your so-called "human nature." The world-wide conflict today is a battle for men's beliefs. Communism wants to dictate them; we want to guide them.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Cats and dogs can easily be taught to dwell in peace under the same vines and fig trees, or kitchen table. Cats and rats have been taught not only to live together, but to cooperate to get their food. Even some men and women live happily together.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. He has to take the scientists' word for it. For thirty-five years, as a side line I've studied the germ or sex cells of plants and human beings. But the advances have been so spectacular they strain my mind. Same in psychology. But now I am flabbergasted as I learn of a SUPERCOLOSOTRON — an atom-smashing machine that covers an 160 acre farm That knowledge has almost put me in bed!

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am engaged to a little waitress whom I love very much. We were supposed to get married next month but now she informs me that she just "wants to stay engaged." She has been taking a lot of kidding at her place of business about quitting her job. I think they have done it intentionally to make her want to stay, as they need her. It looks like I'm the goat. There's very little feeling in her "Good-night" kisses now, too. Can you tell me what to do as I'm licked! — J. S.

Wake up, dreamer, wake up. There is more than a "job" keeping your heart - throb from marrying you. My guess is that it is a two - legged animal tagged "male."

Let's face it. If it were only her job that was preventing her from tripping down the aisle, her kisses would still be torrid. The lukewarm kisses are your answer, boy. What to do? Tell the little lady to make a choice between you, the job and ?. What good is one-sided love?

Dear Ann: I am 26, my husband is 30 and we have been married for one and one - half years. As long as I knew my husband he seemed to be crazy about babies and children, which made me very happy. Seven months ago, when I knew we were going to have our own baby, I was in heaven and couldn't wait to tell my husband. If I had placed a bomb in his hands, I could not have upset him more!

He won't tell his family or friends and won't let me tell them. He refuses to see my doctor or talk about arrangements (names, equipment, hospital, etc.). He told my aunt (who knows about me) that, "it had better be a girl, or else!" I am living like a hermit but can't go on hiding my condition forever and I am very confused as I certainly expected my husband to share my happiness. What is wrong? What happened to the husband I had who loved babies? Could he be jealous of the baby-to-be? — Mother-to-Be Jealous, my Aunt Hattie- You have a husband who is convinced that he will no longer be young, gay and attractive if he becomes a father. Sounds silly as that fear more often strikes women, but occasionally we find it in men. He may also be afraid of the responsibility of fatherhood. You are doing the wrong thing when you allow him to hide you and keep the fact from people. Tell everyone, be happy about the coming event, make all your arrangements yourself and eventually, people and time will force your husband into a more normal attitude. After the baby arrives (boy or girl), create situations whereby your husband must hold and handle the baby so that pride of parenthood will assert itself.

Dear Ann Landers: We have been married for nine years and have three children. We live happily until my husband's brother shows up, and then our lives are miserable. The brother talks against me, encourages my husband to join him and keeps him out drinking until the morning hours. When my husband comes home he strikes me and behaves so terribly that the children are afraid of him. This is getting to be a habitual occurrence even though the brother is married and a father too. I can't take it any longer but do not know what to do.—Alice M.

Tell your husband he married you —not his brother. His obligation is to you and the family. You do not have to sit around and wait for a drunken husband to come home and strike you and terrorize the children. Tell him to forbid the brother to visit if he can't control his drinking and hours when the brother comes, or you will seek legal aid.

Monica: Tell him you are very flattered at his invitation but that you are sorry you must refuse as you are "tied up with other interests," or "have another date."

Anxious Mother: Regardless of whether the daughter - in - law is wrong or right or is the cause and regardless of what one son is doing to the other, they are all of age and you would be wise to let them work out their own problems. I know it is difficult, but it is for the best.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the News-Star.)

Indian Farming Upset By Skilled Missourian

By H. H. BRINSMADE

Reminiscent of an improved type of mousetrap, a story that has come down through the years, a brother -in - law of Miss Ola Mae Pennington, has followed out the idea to which reference is just made. This man, Mason Vaugh, agricultural engineer at Allahabad Agricultural Institute, in way off India, has done just that thing. He has built at a cost of $3, a plow adaptable for farm use in that country.

Reduced to a nutshell the story is told thus: "Take a simple plowshare, a moldboard, a few bolts, and a wooden beam. It will total a cost in Indian money of 15 rupees, or $3, and if you're a small Indian farmer, you'd much rather get your hands on a Shabash than on a tractor. In Hindustani, "Shabash" means "well done."

Born and raised on a farm in Missouri, Mason Vaugh attended the University of Missouri, in his teens studying scientific agriculculture. This new knowleige he decided to share with some of God's people who seem to need it greatly and in 1921, he accepted assignment as missionary who would teach argiculture engineering at Allahabad Institute, near the junction of the Jumna River and the sacred Ganges in Northern India.

The first thing Mason Vaugh was to learn was that scientific farming could not be utilized in India. He set forth, accordingly, to try to improve traditional Indian farm tools.

What a farmer would and could use profitably, not what experts thought he should, became the guiding rule. Thus his plows, farm buildings, bungalows, kitchen equipment and field implements of all kinds use native forms and materials. Normally a man and his pair of bullocks can work only four or five acres. Using institute methods he can work 22 acres.

What gives the Shabash its superiority over other plows? To begin with, its generous throat clearance reduces entanglements in weeds and tough grass. Also, its hard steel share makes it sharper and more durable than the village-made deshi plow hewn from a block of wood and fitted with metal tip. Then the wider and deeper furrow makes the Shabash almost a third greater in efficiency. And it is so cheap that the people can afford it.

At this time the Institute workshop turns out 100 plows a month. Next year it is planned to be able to make 1,000 a week, but even this will not meet the demand.

Many other farm implements that have proved widely useful have crowned the labors of this forceful and talented Missouri man.

Monroe people will be interested to know that Miss Ola Mae Pennington's sister is the wife of Mason Vaugh. This coming week, Miss Pennington is to sail from New York for India and plans to spend a year with her sister and brother-in-law.

Weaks Cites Misconceptions Of Charity Aid

In a meeting of the Industrial Division of the Community Chest yesterday, Chairman George Weaks said the attitude of the average person helped by the nine agencies of Red Feather is that, "Your less fortunate neighbors hate the thought of charity just as much as you do. All they ask is a chance."

Weaks said that just because people are financially unable to pay their full bill for treatment or service doesn't mean they are trying to "get-by," and, in fact, seldom does such a person fail to offer to pay what he or she can to an agency for service rendered.

For the benefit of the people who don't understand the machinery of the united action of the Community Chest, Weaks explained that when a person is sick or disabled for a long period of time, cost of medicine, treatment, and nursing mount up. Quite often their savings or small income just cannot meet all expenses, and it is then, that the funds pledged to these agencies help defray their expenses.

When asked during a question period how the natives of the Twin Cities can be sure that the money is going to the deserving people, Weaks answered, "Every case is carefully screened. Each is thoroughly investigated so that only those who are honestly hard-pressed will have their expenses adjusted." He said that directors of Chest Agencies will be glad to tell any questioning person of many people who insist on paying what they can for treatment, and bills are based on ability of the patint to pay.

Weaks again stressed the fact that our less fortunate neighbors hate the thought of charity and all they ask is a chance. He said, "When you pledge to the 1953 Red Feather Drive, you give them this chance. Make your pledge bigger this year than last. More money is needed to carry on the humanitarian services of our Community Chest."

American Legion Membership Drive Gains Momentum

The 1954 American Legion membership campaign in Louisiana has gained momentum this week in its effort to sign up 50,054 members by Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

Legionnaires through the state are reportedly signing an average of 2500 veterans a day. By the end of this week, which has been proclaimed "American Legion Week" in most communities throughout Louisiana, the total might jump to 4000 a day, said state Commander Louis W. Dawson.

"This is the largest — in the shortest space of time — membership drive ever attempted in Louisiana," says Dawson, "but I'm confident the 300-odd post commanders and the record 48,445 Legionnaires who paid membership dues in 1953 will not lay down on the job."

MAKES HUGE CATCH—A 72-lb. Loggerhead turtle, believed to be the largest turtle ever caught in the residential section of Bayou DeSiard, was brought in by Harold Thorpe of Weston, W. V. While Thorpe and his wife were visiting his sister, Mrs. Art Evans of 801 Loop Road, Thorpe was on the pier at the back of the house fishing for bass with a shrimp on his hook, when suddenly he realized he had something much larger than a bass and the result was the 72-lb. turtle which he brought on to the patio for inspection. The above picture shows the turtle after it had been shot. It is not known just how old the turtle was but, Thorpe stated a great age was indicated by the huge shell and claws of this mighty turtle.

Thinks Output To Keep Pace With Population

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (Special)—American techniques for soil care and use will keep step with the growth of this nation's population, predicts Francis R. Mangham, native of Coushatta, La., who will become director of the Office of Plant and Operations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Nov. 1.

Mangham's statement followed estimates by the agricultural research administration that only 507,000,000 acres of cropland are expected to be available by 1975.

The bureau of the census has estimated that this country will have 221,000,000 inhabitants by that year—if 1950 levels of fertility and reproductive trends are continued.

According to these figures, a deficit of 165,000,000 acres of cropland will be felt in 1975, since 672,000,000 acres would be required to feed the expected population at 1950 diet levels.

If estimates are fairly accurate, Americans will have to tighten their belts a notch or two, unless, as Mangham expects, improved techniques in soil care and use make up for the impending land shortage.

Mangham, currently chief administrative officer in the soil conservation service's national office, will succeed Arthur B. Thatcher, who is retiring after having been in charge of the space, maintenance, communications, records managements and central supply and mailing services of the department since 1939.

Mangham said, "Barring war or unforeseen catastrophes, for which we could not be fully prepared, I don't foresee the United States as a nation going hungry. I think the American people are too industrious to starve. When the chips are down, they'll come through."

Recognizing the flood and drouth damage of this year, he continued, "Farmers are in a pretty treacherous business. The weather and the elements, insects and diseases —these are the things contributing to their problems. Furthermore, crops usually have to be marketed without too long a delay."

"Take the people in Louisiana, for example. After their crops were planted this year, they first had floods and so had to plant over. Then they got the drouth, so whatever they harvest now they just about have to sell," continued the incoming director.

Mangham is closely acquainted with the problems of farming, having grown up on a farm. Furthermore, he has been with the soil conservation service for around 13 years, the last two and one-half years of which he has spent at the post he is vacating.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and a law degree from the North Texas School of Law at Fort Worth. He is a member of the Texas bar even now. He worked with a Louisiana oil company before 1935, when he entered the employ of the Soil Conservation Service at Minden, La.

He was with the service at Fort Worth, working mainly in service operations, from 1936 to 1942.

'Waistline Fee' Community Night Thurs. At Ransom

Unique entertainment, a unique admission fee and good old-fashioned party eats feature Ransom School's annual Community Night at 420 Wheelis Street, West Monroe, beginning at 5:15 Thursday evening.

The "unique entertainment" consists of a baseball game, "Pants vs. Skirts", slated to begin at 5:30 p.m., in which opposing team members, men vs. women, must wear the customary attire of the opposite sex.

A talent show is also on tap for 6:30, and at 7:30.

The admission fee is unique insomuch as it will only be according to your usual eating capacity. If you like to eat, and your waistline shows it, your admission price will be slightly higher, for you pay one cent per waistline inch. So the "wasp-waists" may partake of all the hot dogs, sandwiches, cake and coffee they can hold for only a few cents.

The Carnival, sponsored by the room parents of the Ransom School, promises an evening of fun for both young and old, and for a worthy cause—improvement of the school playground.

Good credit standing is a real convenience. It enables you to buy and use the things you need at once, and pay for them the following month . . . or, on deferred payment purchases, over a longer period.

But a good credit standing also involves an obligation, to pay your bills promptly on the due date.

The merchant, the physician, the dentist, the fuel dealer are all guided in the granting of credit by only one thing—the way you pay your bills. If you maintain a good credit record, you can buy almost anything you want, anywhere, any time—without laying out the cash. Use your credit—don't abuse it. Pay all bills when due.

KENN BARR'S EXCITING SEPARATES IN OUR OWN COUTURE PATTERN

PATTERN A838
A CASINO ORIGINAL
by Kenn Barr

PROMINENT DESIGNER—"One distinctive shirt—one fabulous skirt can be the making of many costumes! That's why I love to design separates," American designer Kenn Barr declares. Distinctive and fabulous are just the words to describe this brilliant, young designer's creations. Famed first for his "Sand-Barr" shop on New York's exclusive Fire Island, he set the fashion world on its ear with his orginal approach to separates. Patterned here are two hits from his collection for Casino. The blouse has that imaginative "couturier" look in the curve of the collar, the cut of the sleeve, the novelty of the bow in back. You might make it in jersey, cotton, crepe, even faille—and team it with everything from a casual tweed skirt to your fanciest velvet slacks. A huge, buckled envelope pocket distinguishes the whirling skirt. It's easy as 1-2-3 to make in any fabric from faille to tweed.

Pattern A838 is available in Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 blouse requires 2⅛ yards 54-inch fabric. Skirt requires 2⅛ yards 54-inch fabric.

Send FIFTY CENTS (in coins) for Pattern A838 to Morning World, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Weaks Cites Misconceptions Of Charity Aid

In a meeting of the Industrial Division of the Community Chest yesterday, Chairman George Weaks said the attitude of the average person helped by the nine agencies of Red Feather is that, "Your less fortunate neighbors hate the thought of charity just as much as you do. All they ask is a chance."

Weaks said that just because people are financially unable to pay their full bill for treatment or service doesn't mean they are trying to "get-by," and, in fact, seldom does such a person fail to offer to pay what he or she can to an agency for service rendered.

For the benefit of the people who don't understand the machinery of the united action of the Community Chest, Weaks explained that when a person is sick or disabled for a long period of time, cost of medicine, treatment, and nursing mount up. Quite often their savings or small income just cannot meet all expenses, and it is then, that the funds pledged to these agencies help defray their expenses.

When asked during a question period how the natives of the Twin Cities can be sure that the money is going to the deserving people, Weaks answered, "Every case is carefully screened. Each is thoroughly investigated so that only those who are honestly hard-pressed will have their expenses adjusted." He said that directors of Chest Agencies will be glad to tell any questioning person of many people who insist on paying what they can for treatment, and bills are based on ability of the patint to pay.

Weaks again stressed the fact that our less fortunate neighbors hate the thought of charity and all they ask is a chance. He said, "When you pledge to the 1953 Red Feather Drive, you give them this chance. Make your pledge bigger this year than last. More money is needed to carry on the humanitarian services of our Community Chest."

American Legion Membership Drive Gains Momentum

The 1954 American Legion membership campaign in Louisiana has gained momentum this week in its effort to sign up 50,054 members by Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

Legionnaires through the state are reportedly signing an average of 2500 veterans a day. By the end of this week, which has been proclaimed "American Legion Week" in most communities throughout Louisiana, the total might jump to 4000 a day, said state Commander Louis W. Dawson.

"This is the largest — in the shortest space of time — membership drive ever attempted in Louisiana," says Dawson, "but I'm confident the 300-odd post commanders and the record 48,445 Legionnaires who paid membership dues in 1953 will not lay down on the job."

MAKES HUGE CATCH—A 72-lb. Loggerhead turtle, believed to be the largest turtle ever caught in the residential section of Bayou DeSiard, was brought in by Harold Thorpe of Weston, W. V. While Thorpe and his wife were visiting his sister, Mrs. Art Evans of 801 Loop Road, Thorpe was on the pier at the back of the house fishing for bass with a shrimp on his hook, when suddenly he realized he had something much larger than a bass and the result was the 72-lb. turtle which he brought on to the patio for inspection. The above picture shows the turtle after it had been shot. It is not known just how old the turtle was but, Thorpe stated a great age was indicated by the huge shell and claws of this mighty turtle.

State Fair Opens Its Gates at Shreveport

The Louisiana State Fair opened yesterday with thousands of spectators pouring in through the gates to enjoy what has been proclaimed as the biggest and best State Fair of all.

The fair doors swung open yesterday afternoon at 1:30 heralding ten days of thrills and excitement for everyone. Auto races, football games, livestock judging, thrill shows, the gay Midway mile with its Royal American Shows, the State Fair Grandstand review, the hundreds of industrial and commercial exhibits . . . there's something for everyone at the Louisiana State Fair.

The second of the Big Car Auto Races takes place today, closing the two day meet which has attracted top name drivers from about the country.

One of the most lavish grandstand shows of all times is being presented nightly during the fair. Produced by Barnes-Carruthers, this State Fair Revue of 1953 features a numbe. of thrilling and hilarious acts with top names performers.

The Tournament of Thrills begins Wednesday and continues through Friday, October 30th. In this amazing and breathtaking exhibition a dozen or more of the top automobile stuntmen of the country will compete in a series of death defying events for gold, glory and points towards a national seasonal championship. There will be deliberate roll over of cars, crashing motorcycles and cars tearing through walls of fire.

Championship motorcycle races will be featured on October 31 and November 1st, the closing day of the fair.

Every day and evening the grand Royal American Shows, the world's largest Midway attraction will be offering the many unusual shows on the mile long glittering Midway.

State Fair officials stated that even with the slight gate admission charge this year for adults, there is every expectation of shattering last year's attendance record. The admission fees have been set at 50 cents for adults, with children 16 years and under being admitted free.

Thinks Output To Keep Pace With Population

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (Special)—American techniques for soil care and use will keep step with the growth of this nation's population, predicts Francis R. Mangham, native of Coushatta, La., who will become director of the Office of Plant and Operations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Nov. 1.

Mangham's statement followed estimates by the agricultural research administration that only 507,000,000 acres of cropland are expected to be available by 1975.

The bureau of the census has estimated that this country will have 221,000,000 inhabitants by that year—if 1950 levels of fertility and reproductive trends are continued.

According to these figures, a deficit of 165,000,000 acres of cropland will be felt in 1975, since 672,000,000 acres would be required to feed the expected population at 1950 diet levels.

If estimates are fairly accurate, Americans will have to tighten their belts a notch or two, unless, as Mangham expects, improved techniques in soil care and use make up for the impending land shortage.

Mangham, currently chief administrative officer in the soil conservation service's national office, will succeed Arthur B. Thatcher, who is retiring after having been in charge of the space, maintenance, communications, records managements and central supply and mailing services of the department since 1939.

Mangham said, "Barring war or unforeseen catastrophes, for which we could not be fully prepared, I don't foresee the United States as a nation going hungry. I think the American people are too industrious to starve. When the chips are down, they'll come through."

Recognizing the flood and drouth damage of this year, he continued, "Farmers are in a pretty treacherous business. The weather and the elements, insects and diseases —these are the things contributing to their problems. Furthermore, crops usually have to be marketed without too long a delay."

"Take the people in Louisiana, for example. After their crops were planted this year, they first had floods and so had to plant over. Then they got the drouth, so whatever they harvest now they just about have to sell," continued the incoming director.

Mangham is closely acquainted with the problems of farming, having grown up on a farm. Furthermore, he has been with the soil conservation service for around 13 years, the last two and one-half years of which he has spent at the post he is vacating.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and a law degree from the North Texas School of Law at Fort Worth. He is a member of the Texas bar even now. He worked with a Louisiana oil company before 1935, when he entered the employ of the Soil Conservation Service at Minden, La.

He was with the service at Fort Worth, working mainly in service operations, from 1936 to 1942.

From 1942 to 1943 he was with the War Relocation Authority at McGehee, Ark. He served with the Army in 1944 and 1945. He was with the UNRRA, with headquarters in London, in 1945 and 1946. During that period he spent considerable time in France and Germany.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Get on the baseball bandwagon! The drive to organize a home-owned professional club still needs lots of help if it is to attain its goal, and it will take baseball fans to save the Twin Cities' franchise in the Cotton States League. The deadline for obtaining the necessary stockholders has been set at November 30, but it shouldn't take that long if baseball people are really interested. If the larger part of the sought after $25,000 in stock isn't obtained in the next few days it's reasonable that it will be harder to collect in the waning days.

Last Tuesday's baseball meeting was mighty heartening for the fans, however, with nearly $5,000 in the till then and boosted past this mark since. Another meeting is on tap for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Virginia, and, once again, all followers of the diamond sport are urged to be present and put weight behind the cause.

We see where Lou Perini, who moved his Boston Braves to Milwaukee last spring, thus making him the worst sort of heel in Bean Town, has reported the one season in Milwaukee has erased the one million dollars his club lost in the last three campaigns at Boston. The Perini report is good enough answer to the Boston fans who fought the move.

Said Perini at an Association of Commerce dinner in Milwaukee: "The last three years in Boston, as the Boston Braves, we lost just a bit over a million dollars. I don't usually talk about figures, but I want you to know you have completely wiped out that loss in our one year of operation here." The Braves' president didn't say how much more than a million the club made this year.

Louisiana State University alumni from throughout northeast Louisiana are campaigning to put Nathan "Buddy" Blair, an L. S. U. Hall-of-Famer, on the Louisiana State Athletic Council. The Fifth District of Louisiana has no representation on the council, but alumni in this area are working to land their representative who is now a Monroe businessman and well known in the area, especially Ferriday and Sicily Island where he formerly lived. Blair, of L. S. U.'s Class of '36, was outstanding in track, basketball, and baseball for the Bayou Bengals.

By TED HECKATHORN

If the Northeast State Indians could have started the game at the beginning of the fourth quarter last night at Brown Stadium, the outcome might have been slightly different than the 21-7 final score with Arkansas A. and M. on top.

The Tribe piled up seven first downs in the final period, driving 75 yards to paydirt on one drive, and coming right back after a Weevil punt to push from their own 15 to the visitors' 25 before time ran out, as the gala homecoming crowd was treated to perhaps the best offensive football of the season for the Redskins.

For the first three periods, it was all Arkansas, with the invaders scoring one in each stanza, and converting each time. A pass interception on the Northeast 35, run back to the 19 by Weevil halfback Russ Bulloch, paved the way for the first quarter tally. Bulloch and Charles Grassi alternated carrying to the one, from where Don Burt skirted his right end for the marker. Punk Owen's placement kick for point was good.

The Green and White got another break just before the end of the second quarter, when Indian safetyman Camillo Detore fumbled a punt, and the Boll Weevils recovered on the Tribe 31. Two runs by Burt gained 17 yards, and a 15 yard penalty against the Tribe for pass interference put the pigskin on the one. As the horn blew ending the first half, Grassi plunged over for the TD, and James McGowan kicked the point.

Starting on their own 32 in the third quarter, the Arkansas eleven had to drive 68 yards for their third six-pointer, with Bulloch and Grassi doing most of the running, and quarterback Cecil Burchfield completing a crucial ten-yard aerial to end Lou Ciarlotta to give his team a first down on the Tribe 20. After a three-yard gain by Grassi, Bulloch scampered the remaining 17 yards through center to the end-zone. Owen's placement was good, and the Boll Weevils led, 21-0.

Mark Boatright lit the Northeast fire in the final period, by intercepting an Arkansas pass on his 18 and lugging it to the 25. With "Red" Nix, Tommy Leos, and Lloyd Ray Smith, a hard-running ball carrier all evening for the home team, alternating carrying, the Indians rolled up four consecutive first downs to the Arkansas 12. Smith burst through his right tackle for a score, but had it nullified by an offsides penalty. Two plays later, Leos hit the center, broke into the clear, and sped the remaining distance for the score. Nix kicked the point from placement.

Northeast kicked off, and A and M punted, after three plays gained only eight yards. Starting on their 15, the Tribe, with the same trio of backs carrying, and with Billy Joe Milstead still quarterbacking, drove to the Arkansas 25, before three pass attempts failed, and the Weevils took over for one play before the final horn sounded.

Stalwarts on defense for the Tribe were Sherwood McKoin at tackle, M. R. Cole and Percy Wheeler at guards, Ronald Gunter and Jim Knox at ends, and Sammy Moore at center. For the visitors, guard Frank Poff, end Bill McGowan, and linebacker Ciarlotta were outstanding on defense.

Imps Upset Bulldogs, 15-7

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 24 (AP)—Northwestern State College registered the biggest upset of the season in Gulf States Conference football today by beating title-favored Louisiana Tech 15-7, before 7,000 fans at the Louisiana State Fair.

Northwestern, regarded as an also ran in pre-season polls, took the lead in the second quarter when Clyde Chesson bulled over from the one to cap a drive that started at mid-field.

Tech roared back late in the second quarter when halfback Russell Rainbolt returned a pass interception 65 yards for a touchdown. Bud McMichael's placement gave Tech a 7-6 advantage at halftime.

But Northwestern continued hammering at the Tech line in the third quarter and went in front to stay when halfback James McNew swept around end for nine yards and a touchdown. Earl Haynes kicked the conversion.

Larry Whutt's 30-yard punt return to the Tech 30 set up Northwestern's final score. On the fourth down on the Tech four, Haynes booted a field goal to end the scoring.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Washington State annoyed U.C.L.A. for the first five minutes of their Pacific Coast Conference game today and then absorbed a 44 to 7 whipping from the indignant Rose Bowl-minded Bruins.

U.C.L.A. fumbled away the ball two plays after the opening kickoff and the Cougars managed to travel 37 yards in nine laborious plays and two U.C.L.A. offsides to score the touchdown.

Then began a nightmare under the sun for the visitors, featured by a 68-yard run, plus another for 38 by U.C.L.A. All-America candidate halfback Paul Cameron.

The unpleasantness ended in the final seconds when halfback Don Stalwick intercepted a Washington State pass and raced it back 70 yards for the seventh and final touchdown for U.C.L.A.

Cameron, leading the Bruins back on the victory march after their 21-20 upset by Stanford last week, gained 121 yards running, passed for 47 and scored two touchdowns.

Wash. State	7	0	0	0	— 7

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—A magnificent Purdue defense smashed down Michigan State's famous "light brigade" backfield today, intercepted five State passes and cut the Spartan's string of 28 straight victories, 6-0.

It was a clean-cut Purdue victory, with the Boilermakers making 12 first downs to the Spartans' 7 and gaining 204 yards net to Michigan State's 133.

Even so Michigan State, rated No. 2 team in the nation behind Notre Dame, lost a chance to win or tie in the fourth quarter because of a clipping penalty that nullified Leroy Belden's 94-yard kickoff return after Purdue's touchdown.

Another 15-yard Michigan State penalty, for roughing the kicker, kept alive Purdue's scoring drive that was climaxed by fullback Dan Pobojewski's one-yard touchdown plunge. The Spartans' mistake restored the ball to Purdue on its own 45 late in the third quarter and it scored 12 plays later in the final period.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP) — The Missouri Tigers found themselves in the last half and rolled to a 23-7 victory over Nebraska.

The Nebraskans started out like they meant business, scoring a touchdown in the first four minutes, but that was all.

Leahy Resting After Collapse Between Halves

Leahy, whose team won 27-14, was reported by doctors to have suffered a severe abdominal spasm resulting from an acute attack of virus enteritis, commonly termed intestinal influenza.

Dr. Nicholas Johns, the physician who attended Leahy following the attack, said it was brought on by "excitement."

The coach was taken to St. Joseph Hospital where attendants said after the game he was resting comfortably but would be kept in observation for several days.

Trojans Sidetrack California Bears Under 32-20 Loss

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Southern California's mighty Trojans delivered a smashing blow to California's Rose Bowl hopes today when they thundered to a 32-20 victory over the Bears in their annual football thriller.

The game was witnessed by 78,000 persons—the largest crowd for a Pacific Coast Conference game so far this year.

The Trojans, defending P. C. C. champions, winners last New Year's in the Rose Bowl and ineligible to return, sidetracked the Bears on a field cluttered with fumbles by the home team.

Southern California went 58 yards almost on sheer power to score in the first period. Three more TDs followed California fumbles in the second period. One was from the Cal seven, another from the five and the last from the four. The Trojans pulverizing defensive charges had a lot to do with the Bear miscues. A third period touchdown by U. S. C. climaxed a 66-yard thrust.

Buckeyes Battle From Behind, Nip Wisconsin, 20-19

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 24 (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes battled back from a two touchdown deficit as the fourth quarter opened today to nip Wisconsin 20-19 in a bruising Big Ten football game.

Hard-hitting Bobby Watkins, who rolled up well over 100 yards rushing before being injured, smashed through from the two on the first play of the final period as the Buckeyes pulled up to within striking distance.

Ohio State's closing fireworks wiped out a brilliant offensive show by young Jimmy Miller, Wisconsin's kid quarterback, making his second collegiate start. The 165-pound sophomore scored two of the Badgers' touchdowns and passed for the third.

Score by quarters:

Bosox' Piersall Named Outstanding Sophomore

By JOE REICHLER

Nine second year men received recognition on the 179 ballots cast by the experts. Sammy White, fine young catcher of the Red Sox, received six votes. Two each went to outfielder Bob Nieman and shortstop Harvey Kuenn of Detroit; outfielder Jim Ribera of Chicago; and third baseman Andy Carey of the Yankees. Single votes were gained by pitcher Hector (Skinny) Brown of the Red Sox and southpaw Billy Hoeft of the Tigers. Kuenn who played in 19 games in 1952, generally is regarded as a rookie in '53.

Piersall, described by many including Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees as the greatest defensive outfielder since Tris Speaker, endeared himself to Red Sox fans with catch after catch that bordered on the miraculous. Extremely fast and agile, he also showed a strong and accurate arm that rubbed out many an ambitious base runner. In addition, the fiery-tempered flychaser batted .272 in 151 games.

Piersall finished seventh percentage-wise among outfielders participating in 100 or more games, but he led all outfielders in starting double plays, was second only to center fielder Johnny Groth in assists and paced all rightfielders in putouts. He took part in seven twin killings, accumulated 15 assists and accepted 52 putouts.

At different times, Piersal committed highway robbery against every club in the league. His greatest single inning, however, came against Cleveland, July 19. In the ninth inning of the second game of a double header, the Sox were protecting a two-run lead against the Indians.

Mel Parnell, the Red Sox pitcher, walked leadoff batter Wally Westlake. The next hitter, Al Rosen, lofted a high fly ball into right field that appeared sure to fall for a hit. Piersall charged in and made a sensational sliding catch at his shoe-tops. He recovered in time to fire to first base and double Westlake off the bag.

Nullify TD That Might Have Given Huskies Victory

But the visiting Indians needed gambler's luck to survive when the Huskies snapped out of a first half stupor to slam over two touchdowns, one of which was nullified by a penalty.

Washington kept the crowd of 39,000 on edge and Stanford on its heels through the final half but couldn't quite punch over the equalizer. The tally that would have tied the game or won it for Washington was a 53-yard pass play in the closing quarter.

Big George Black got beyond the Indian defense, took Sandy Lederman's 40-yard heave and romped to the goal—but the Huskies were penalized for backfield in motion.

Washington	0	0	7	0	— 7

Stanford scoring: touchdowns, Cook 2. Conversion, Garrett.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Get on the baseball bandwagon! The drive to organize a home-owned professional club still needs lots of help if it is to attain its goal, and it will take baseball fans to save the Twin Cities' franchise in the Cotton States League. The deadline for obtaining the necessary stockholders has been set at November 30, but it shouldn't take that long if baseball people are really interested. If the larger part of the sought after $25,000 in stock isn't obtained in the next few days it's reasonable that it will be harder to collect in the waning days.

Last Tuesday's baseball meeting was mighty heartening for the fans, however, with nearly $5,000 in the till then and boosted past this mark since. Another meeting is on tap for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Virginia, and, once again, all followers of the diamond sport are urged to be present and put weight behind the cause.

We see where Lou Perini, who moved his Boston Braves to Milwaukee last spring, thus making him the worst sort of heel in Bean Town, has reported the one season in Milwaukee has erased the one million dollars his club lost in the last three campaigns at Boston. The Perini report is good enough answer to the Boston fans who fought the move.

Said Perini at an Association of Commerce dinner in Milwaukee: "The last three years in Boston, as the Boston Braves, we lost just a bit over a million dollars. I don't usually talk about figures, but I want you to know you have completely wiped out that loss in our one year of operation here." The Braves' president didn't say how much more than a million the club made this year.

Louisiana State University alumni from throughout northeast Louisiana are campaigning to put Nathan "Buddy" Blair, an L. S. U. Hall-of-Famer, on the Louisiana State Athletic Council. The Fifth District of Louisiana has no representation on the council, but alumni in this area are working to land their representative who is now a Monroe businessman and well known in the area, especially Ferriday and Sicily Island where he formerly lived. Blair, of L. S. U.'s Class of '36, was outstanding in track, basketball, and baseball for the Bayou Bengals.

Bosox' Piersall Named Outstanding Sophomore

By JOE REICHLER

Nine second year men received recognition on the 179 ballots cast by the experts. Sammy White, fine young catcher of the Red Sox, received six votes. Two each went to outfielder Bob Nieman and shortstop Harvey Kuenn of Detroit; outfielder Jim Ribera of Chicago; and third baseman Andy Carey of the Yankees. Single votes were gained by pitcher Hector (Skinny) Brown of the Red Six and southpaw Billy Hoeft of the Tigers. Kuenn who played in 19 games in 1952, generally is regarded as a rookie in '53.

Piersall, described by many including manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees as the greatest defensive outfielder since Tris Speaker, endeared himself to Red Sox fans with catch after catch that bordered on the miraculous. Extremely fast and agile, he also showed a strong and accurate arm that rubbed out many an ambitious base runner. In addition, the fiery-tempered flychaser batted .272 in 151 games.

Piersall finished seventh percentage-wise among outfielders participating in 100 or more games, but he led all outfielders in starting double plays, was second only to center fielder Johnny Groth in assists and paced all rightfielders in putouts. He took part in seven twin killings, accumulated 15 assists and accepted 52 putouts.

At different times, Piersal committed highway robbery against every club in the league. His greatest single inning, however, came against Cleveland, July 19. In the ninth inning of the second game of a double header, the Sox were protecting a two-run lead against the Indians.

Mel Parnell, the Red Sox pitcher, walked leadoff batter Wally Westlake. The next hitter, Al Rosen, lofted a high fly ball into right field that appeared sure to fall for a hit. Piersall charged in and made a sensational sliding catch at his shoe-tops. He recovered in time to fire to first base and double Westlake off the bag.

Missouri Slaps Nebraska With 23 To 7 Defeat

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP)—The Missouri Tigers found themselves in the last half and rolled to a 23-7 victory over Nebraska.

The Nebraskans started out like they meant business, scoring a touchdown in the first four minutes, but that was all.

Nebraska	7	0	0	0—7

Tackle Gives Brown Win Over Crusaders

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 24 (AP)—Brown's stoked up football team surprised even its most faithful followers today by blanking the heavily-favored Holy Cross Crusaders 6-0 on an 83-yard dash by Bill Klaess, a reserve tackle.

The game seemed destined to wind up in a scoreless tie until, with five minutes to go Klaess grabbed Bill Haley's fumble out of the air on the Brown 17 and took off.

Art Persley Scres Decision Over Davis

By TED HECKATHORN

If the Northeast State Indians could have started the game at the beginning of the fourth quarter last night at Brown Stadium, the outcome might have been slightly different than the 21-7 final score with Arkansas A. and M. on top.

The Tribe piled up seven first downs in the final period, driving 75 yards to paydirt on one drive, and coming right back after a Weevil punt to push from their own 15 to the visitors' 25 before time ran out, as the gala homecoming crowd was treated to perhaps the best offensive football of the season for the Redskins.

For the first three periods, it was all Arkansas, with the invaders scoring one in each stanza, and converting each time. A pass interception on the Northeast 35, run back to the 19 by Weevil halfback Russ Bulloch, paved the way for the first quarter tally. Bulloch and Charles Grassi alternated carrying to the one, from where Don Burt skirted his right end for the marker. Punk Owen's placement kick for point was good.

The Green and White got another break just before the end of the second quarter, when Indian safetyman Camillo Detore fumbled a punt, and the Boll Weevils recovered on the Tribe 31. Two runs by Burt gained 17 yards, and a 15 yard penalty against the Tribe for pass interference put the pigskin on the one. As the horn blew ending the first half, Grassi plunged over for the TD, and James McGowan kicked the point.

Starting on their own 32 in the third quarter, the Arkansas eleven had to drive 68 yards for their third six-pointer, with Bulloch and Grassi doing most of the running, and quarterback Cecil Burchfield completing a crucial ten-yard aerial to end Lou Ciarlotta to give his team a first down on the Tribe 20. After a three-yard gain by Grassi, Bulloch scampered the remaining 17 yards through center to the endzone. Owen's placement was good, and the Boll Weevils led, 21-0.

Mark Boatright lit the Northeast fire in the final period, by intercepting an Arkansas pass on his 18 and lugging it to the 25. With "Red" Nix, Tommy Leos, and Lloyd Ray Smith, a hard-running ball carrier all evening for the home team, alternating carrying, the Indians rolled up four consecutive first downs to the Arkansas 12. Smith burst through his right tackle for a score, but had it nullified by an offsides penalty. Two plays later, Leos hit the center, broke into the clear, and sped the remaining distance for the score. Nix kicked the point from placement.

Northeast kicked off, and A and M punted, after three plays gained only eight yards. Starting on their 15, the Tribe, with the same trio of backs carrying, and with Billy Joe Milstead still quarterbacking, drove to the Arkansas 25, before three pass attempts failed, and the Weevils took over for one play before the final horn sounded.

Stalwarts on defense for the Tribe were Sherwood McKoin at tackle, M. R. Cole and Percy Wheeler at guards, Ronald Gunter and Jim Knox at ends, and Sammy Moore at center. For the visitors, guard Frank Poff, end Bill McGowan, and linebacker Ciarlotta were outstanding on defense.

Leahy Resting After Collapse Between Halves

Leahy, whose team won 27-14, was reported by doctors to have suffered a severe abdominal spasm resulting from an acute attack of virus enteritis, commonly termed intestinal influenza.

Dr. Nicholas Johns, the physician who attended Leahy following the attack, said it was brought on by "excitement."

The coach was taken to St. Joseph Hospital where attendants said after the game he was resting comfortably but would be kept in observation for several days.

Gavilan Begins Final Stages Of Workouts

The Cuban also did four miles of roadwork in the morning.

WILDCATS, 19-0

Imps Upset Bulldogs, 15-7

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 24 (AP)—Northwestern State College registered the biggest upset of the season in Gulf States Conference football today by beating title-favored Louisiana Tech 15-7, before 7,000 fans at the Louisiana State Fair.

Northwestern, regarded as an also ran in pre-season polls, took the lead in the second quarter when Clyde Chesson bulled over from the one to cap a drive that started at mid-field.

Tech roared back late in the second quarter when halfback Russell Rainbolt returned a pass interception 65 yards for a touchdown. Bud McMichael's placement gave Tech a 7-6 advantage at halftime.

But Northwestern continued hammering at the Tech line in the third quarter and went in front to stay when halfback James McNew swept around end for nine yards and a touchdown. Earl Haynes kicked the conversion.

Larry Whutt's 30-yard punt return to the Tech 30 set up Northwestern's final score. On the fourth down on the Tech four, Haynes booted a field goal to end the scoring.

Louisiana Tech	0	7	0	0—7

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Washington State annoyed U.C.L.A. for the first five minutes of their Pacific Coast Conference game today and then absorbed a 44 to 7 whipping from the indignant Rose Bowl-minded Bruins.

U.C.L.A. fumbled away the ball two plays after the opening kickoff and the Cougars managed to travel 37 yards in nine laborious plays and two U.C.L.A. offsides to score the touchdown.

Then began a nightmare under the sun for the visitors, featured by a 68-yard run, plus another for 38 by U.C.L.A. All-America candidate halfback Paul Cameron.

The unpleasantness ended in the final seconds when halfback Don Stalwick intercepted a Washington State pass and raced it back 70 yards for the seventh and final touchdown for U.C.L.A.

Cameron, leading the Bruins back on the victory march after their 21-20 upset by Stanford last week, gained 121 yards running, passed for 47 and scored two touchdowns.

Wash. State	7	0	0	0—7

Washington State scoring: touchdown, McCants. Conversion, Burkhart.

U.C.L.A. scoring: touchdowns, Cameron 2, Davenport 2, Heydenfeldt, Collins, Stalwick. Conversions, Debay, Hermann.

Nullify TD That Might Have Given Huskies Victory

But the visiting Indians needed gambler's luck to survive when the Huskies snapped out of a first half stupor to slam over two touchdowns, one of which was nullified by a penalty.

Washington kept the crowd of 39,000 on edge and Stanford on its heels through the final half but couldn't quite punch over the equalizer. The tally that would have tied the game or won it for Washington was a 53-yard pass play in the closing quarter.

Big George Black got beyond the Indian defense, took Sandy Lederman's 40-yard heave and romped to the goal—but the Huskies were penalized for backfield in motion.

Washington	0	0	7	0—7

By DALE BURGESS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—A magnificent Purdue defense smashed down Michigan State's famous "light brigade" backfield today, intercepted five State passes and cut the Spartan's string of 28 straight victories, 6-0.

It was a clean-cut Purdue victory, with the Boilermakers making 12 first downs to the Spartans' 7 and gaining 204 yards net to Michigan State's 133.

Even so Michigan State, rated No. 2 team in the nation behind Notre Dame, lost a chance to win or tie in the fourth quarter because of a clipping penalty that nullified Leroy Belden's 94-yard kickoff return after Purdue's touchdown.

Another 15-yard Michigan State penalty, for roughing the kicker, kept alive Purdue's scoring drive that was climaxed by fullback Dan Pobojewski's one-yard touchdown plunge. The Spartans' mistake restored the ball to Purdue on its own 45 late in the third quarter and it scored 12 plays later in the final period.

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Southern California's mighty Trojans delivered a smashing blow to California's Rose Bowl hopes today when they thundered to a 32-20 victory over the Bears in their annual football thriller.

The Trojans, defending P. C. C. champions, winners last New Year's in the Rose Bowl and ineligible to return, sidetracked the Bears on a field cluttered with fumbles by the home team.

Southern California went 58 yards almost on sheer power to score in the first period. Three more TDs followed California fumbles in the second period. One was from the five and the last from the four. The Trojans pulverizing defensive charges had a lot to do with the Bear miscues. A third period touchdown by U. S. C. climaxed a 66-yard thrust.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 24 (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes battled back from a two touchdown deficit as the fourth quarter opened today to nip Wisconsin 20-19 in a bruising Big Ten football game.

Hard-hitting Bobby Watkins, who rolled up well over 100 yards rushing before being injured, smashed through from the two on the first play of the final period as the Buckeyes pulled up to within striking distance.

Ohio State's closing fireworks wiped out a brilliant offensive show by young Jimmy Miller, Wisconsin's kid quarterback, making his second collegiate start. The 165-pound sophomore scored two of the Badgers' touchdowns and passed for the third.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 24 (AP)—Sophomore Harry Speers passed and kicked with the poise of a veteran and 25-year-old senior Tommy Haddock ran like a kid to give Florida a surprising 21-21 tie with favored Louisiana State here today.

Al Doggett led LSU to its three touchdowns, mostly on passes. But after each one Florida came back to square the score. Another Florida threat in the closing minutes was stopped by an illegal substitution by Coach Bob Woodruff, violating the new rule.

Woodruff said immediately after the game he sent Sonny May in as a substitute for Joe D'Agostino although May already had been in during the last four minutes. Woodruff said he meant to sub Curt Haygood but erred.

The officials paced 15 yards against Florida from the LSU 15 when the illegal substitution was made.

Doggett scored one of LSU's touchdowns and passed to Charley Oakley and Levi (Chuck) Johns for the others. Speers, Haddock and Bob Davis scored the three for Flirida.

It was a standoff on conversions too. Cliff Stringfield kicked two and Tommy Davis one for LSU and Speers made all three for Florida.

Florida's line was keyed up and more than matched the highly regarded Louisiana forwards. LSU was able to gain only 52 yards on the ground.

But Doggett's passes probed the weakness the Tigers needed to remain unbeaten for the season (though they have three ties). He threw four straight completions for 77 yards and a touchdown in the last minute and a half of the second quarter and in all completed 15 of 23 tries for 166 yards.

Louisiana State got its first touchdown the short way, via a Florida fumble that left only 14 yards to cover and dismayed the homecoming crowd of 39,000. But in the third quarter LSU returned the favor when a pitchout went wild and Haddock fell on the ball in the end zone for a Florida touchdown.

After Doggett had sneaked over for the first score, Florida marched 80 yards for the tie; Speers going across the same way from a few inches out.

LSU had a 14-7 halftime lead on Doggett's series of passes, the payoff going 23 yards to Charley Oakley.

But early in the third period Florida evened it again on the gift from Doggett's wild pitchout.

Doggett's passes again put Louisiana State in front, the capper of a 57-yard drive being a 5-yard toss to Johns.

And once more Florida came back, marching 80 yards. Most of it came on a 65-yard pass from Speers to Davis and Davis ran the last two yards.

Not until the fourth quarter, when the Mountaineers held a 40-0 lead, did the Keydets get into action. Then, engineered by Dave Woolwine, 160-pound quarterback, the Keydets hit for three scores while the Mountaineers went for two more.

West Virginia played its second and third stringers throughout most of the game, and it was substitute quarterback Ted Anderson who dominated the Mountaineer play.

N. C. State Falls To Duke's Might By 31 To 0 Count

Bouncing back from last week's 14-13 loss to Army, Duke scored one touchdown in the first period, two in the second, one in the third, and added a fourth in the last period on an electrifying 75-yard run by third string quarterback Dave Lerps, a graduate student.

It was Duke's third straight Atlantic Coast Conference win and gave the Blue Devils a 5-1 second record. State's record is now one victory against four losses.

By HENDRIX CHANDLER

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 24 (AP)—Auburn's Tigers came back from their humiliating defeat by Georgia Tech with a furious ground attack that overwhelmed the battered Tulane Green Wave today 34-7.

Starting slowly, Auburn got its offense rolling late in the first quarter. With fullback Charlie Littles and quarter back Bobby Freeman spearheading the attack, the Tigers rolled almost at will in the final quarter.

It was the biggest score Auburn had ever run up on Tulane in 51 years.

Tulane threatened briefly in the third period when Paul Rushing scored.

Littles scored two touchdowns, once on a one-yard smash in the first period and again in the second quarter on a three-yard plunge off tackle.

Bobby Duke caught a deflected 26-yard touchdown pass from Freeman for another score. Two final scores came in the last quarter on a seven-yard jaunt by Freeman an a 22-yard sprint by substitute Joe Davis on a draw play.

Late in the first period, the Tigers put together a 59-yard touchdown drive with Hataway bulling over from the one.

A pass interception by Freeman opened the gates for the second Auburn touchdown. Freeman grabbed Pete Clement's toss away from Max McGee on the Tulane 40 and streaked 33 yards to the Greenie 7. Hataway scored in two plays.

At this point, Tulane rose up briefly from the frustration of four previous defeats to score its only touchdown on a 56-yard drive. Rushing, Tulane center, got credit for the score when he fell on the ball in the end zone after it squirted out of the hands of McGee.

Really rolling in the fourth period, Auburn drove 76 yards in 12 plays for its fourth touchdown, Freeman going over. A few minutes later Davis recovered a fumble by Saia on the Tulane 30. Davis got the ball on a draw play and raced 22 yards to score.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 24 (AP)—Stan Wallace's two long touchdown runs and Elry Falkenstein's passing ignited Illinois to a 20-13 victory over Syracuse today.

The unbeaten Illini, now the Big Ten leaders, were forced to come from behind twice and didn't hold a comfortable lead until Wallace's second touchdown on a 45-yard gallop in the final quarter.

It was the speedy Wallace who took over when Syracuse stopped Illinois' one-two punch, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates. With Syracuse ahead 13-7, Wallace sprang loose in the third period for a 55-yard dash across the goal line. Bob Wiman boosted the conversion which gave the Illini a 14-13 margin.

Illinois took to the air, and on two Falkenstein passes to John Ryan tied the score. The touchdown play covered 51 yards, and Wiman's successful conversion pushed Illinois ahead by one point at halftime.

The Illinois lead was short-lived. Syracuse recovered Caroline's fumble on the Illinois 30, and Stark tossed to Neil Brenneman for 28 yards. Stark sneaked over for the touchdown.

Florida Ties L. S. U.; Auburn Wallops Tulane

'Gators Deadlock Tilt Three Times In 21 To 21 Draw

By F. T. MACFEELY

Al Doggett led LSU to its three touchdowns, mostly on passes. But after each one Florida came back to square the score. Another Florida threat in the closing minutes was stopped by an illegal substitution by Coach Bob Woodruff, violating the new rule.

Woodruff said immediately after the game he sent Sonny May in as a substitute for Joe D'Agostino although May already had been in during the last four minutes. Woodruff said he meant to sub Curt Haygood but erred.

The officials paced 15 yards against Florida from the LSU 15 when the illegal substitution was made.

Doggett scored one of LSU's touchdowns and passed to Charley Oakley and Levi (Chuck) Johns for the others. Speers, Haddock and Bob Davis scored the three for Flirida.

It was a standoff on conversions too. Cliff Stringfield kicked two and Tommy Davis one for LSU and Speers made all three for Florida.

Florida's line was keyed up and more than matched the highly regarded Louisiana forwards. LSU was able to gain only 52 yards on the ground.

But Doggett's passes probed the weakness the Tigers needed to remain unbeaten for the season (though they have three ties). He threw four straight completions for 77 yards and a touchdown in the last minute and a half of the second quarter and in all completed 15 of 23 tries for 166 yards.

Louisiana State got its first touchdown the short way, via a Florida fumble that left only 14 yards to cover and dismayed the homecoming crowd of 39,000. But in the third quarter LSU returned the favor when a pitchout went wild and Haddock fell on the ball in the end zone for a Florida touchdown.

After Doggett had sneaked over for the first score, Florida marched 80 yards for the tie; Speers going across the same way from a few inches out.

LSU had a 14-7 halftime lead on Doggett's series of passes, the payoff going 23 yards to Charley Oakley.

But early in the third period Florida evened it again on the gift from Doggett's wild pitchout.

Doggett's passes again put Louisiana State in front, the capper of a 57-yard drive being a 5-yard toss to Johns.

And once more Florida came back, marching 90 yards. Most of it came on a 65-yard pass from Speers to Davis and Davis ran the last two yards.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 24 (AP)—West Virginia University ran wild before 23,000 fans here today to smother Virginia Military Institute, 52-20, in a Southern Conference football contest.

The West Virginians bottled V.M.I.'s Johnny Mapp, whose best gain was for nine yards in the third quarter.

Not until the fourth quarter, when the Mountaineers held a 40-0 lead, did the Keydets get into action. Then, engineered by Dave Woolwine, 160-pound quarterback, the Keydets hit for three scores while the Mountaineers went for two more.

West Virginia played its second and third stringers throughout most of the game, and it was substitute quarterback Ted Anderson who dominated the Mountaineer play.

The senior from Mount Hope, W. Va. gained a total of 205 yards on nine tries running for 58, 71 and 40 yards on three different plays. He scored two of West Virginia's eight touchdowns.

The B-Bears scored touchdowns in the first, second, and third periods and Doyle Byrd, left end on the Bear squad, put his educated toe to work by kicking two field goals in the fourth period—one from the eight-yard line and one from the 10.

N. C. State Falls To Duke's Might By 31 To 0 Count

Bouncing back from last week's 14-13 loss to Army, Duke scored one touchdown in the first period, two in the second, one in the third, and added a fourth in the last period on an electrifying 75-yard run by third string quarterback Dave Lerps, a graduate student.

It was Duke's third straight Atlantic Coast Conference win and gave the Blue Devils a 5-1 second record. State's record is now one victory against four losses.

A crowd of 15,000 saw state completely throttled by a bruising Duke team that never allowed the Wolfpack to penetrate its territory until the third period. Not until late in that period did State get its initial first down.

W. and M. Slips Past Colonials, 12 to 7

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 24 (AP)—William and Mary's iron Indians, a tried, gasping team at the end, came from behind with a 32-yard drive early in the fourth quarter and then put up a last-ditch, last-second defensive stand today to whip George Washington's Colonials 12-7.

Bullet Bill Bowman's brilliant running from fullback was the game's highlight. After Dick Gasperi's extra point put George Washington ahead, 7-6, late in the third period, Bowman took the ensuing kickoff and rambled 37 yards to the Colonial 32. Nine plays later, Charlie Sumner dived over the goal.

By HENDRIX CHANDLER

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 24 (AP)—Auburn's Tigers came back from their humiliating defeat by Georgia Tech with a furious ground attack that overwhelmed the battered Tulane Green Wave today 34-7.

Starting slowly, Auburn got its offense rolling late in the first quarter. With fullback Charlie Littles and quarter back Bobby Freeman spearheading the attack, the Tigers rolled almost at will in the final quarter.

It was the biggest score Auburn had ever run up on Tulane in 51 years.

Tulane threatened briefly in the third period when Paul Rushing scored.

Littles scored two touchdowns, once on a one-yard smash in the first period and again in the second quarter on a three-yard plunge off tackle.

Bobby Duke caught a deflected 26-yard touchdown pass from Freeman for another score. Two final scores came in the last quarter on a seven-yard jaunt by Freeman an a 22-yard sprint by substitute Joe Davis on a draw play.

Late in the first period, the Tigers put together a 59-yard touchdown drive with Hataway bulling over from the one.

A pass interception by Freeman opened the gates for the second Auburn touchdown. Freeman grabbed Pete Clement's toss away from Max McGee on the Tulane 40 and streaked 33 yards to the Greenie 7. Hataway scored in two plays.

At this point, Tulane rose up briefly from the frustration of four previous defeats to score its only touchdown on a 56-yard drive. Rushing, Tulane center, got credit for the score when he fell on the ball in the end zone after it squirted out of the hands of McGee.

Really rolling in the fourth period, Auburn drove 76 yards in 12 plays for its fourth touchdown, Freeman going over. A few minutes later Davis recovered a fumble by Saia on the Tulane 30. Davis got the ball on a draw play and raced 22 yards to score.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 24 (AP)—Stan Wallace's two long touchdown runs and Elry Falkenstein's passing ignited Illinois to a 20-13 victory over Syracuse today.

The unbeaten Illini, now the Big Ten leaders, were forced to come from behind twice and didn't hold a comfortable lead until Wallace's second touchdown on a 45-yard gallop in the final quarter.

It was the speedy Wallace who took over when Syracuse stopped Illinois' one-two punch, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates. With Syracuse ahead 13-7, Wallace sprang loose in the third period for a 55-yard dash across the goal line. Bob Wiman boosted the conversion which gave the Illini a 14-13 margin.

Illinois took to the air, and on two Falkenstein passes to John Ryan tied the score. The touchdown play covered 51 yards, and Wiman's successful conversion pushed Illinois ahead by one point at halftime.

The Illinois lead was short-lived. Syracuse recovered Caroline's fumble on the Illinois 30, and Stark tossed to Neil Brenneman for 28 yards. Stark sneaked over for the touchdown.

The victory knocked A. and M. from a tie for the lead in the Southwest Conference race and kept Baylor up there.

A crowd of 36,000 thrilled to the great runs of Baylor's mighty backfield—L. G. Dupre, Jerry Coody and Allen Jones—and the passing of Francis Davidson.

Coody got the first Baylor touchdown with an 11-yard line blast and Davidson sneaked over from the Aggie one for the other, with Smith adding both extra points. Mighty Notre Dame Ends Georgia Tech's Streak

Irish Manhandle Engineers, 27-14, In Day's Top Tilt

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 team, survived a tooth-and-nail second half without stricken Coach Frank Leahy today to shatter Georgia Tech's vaunted 31-game unbeaten streak 27-14.

It was a dramatic, bitterly fought game that really started after Notre Dame left the field at halftime leading 7-0 but came back without Leahy who was taken to a hospital in the third quarter about the time Tech bounced back with a 70-yard scoring drive to tie the game. Then Notre Dame, with lightning swiftness, scored two touchdowns on a short pass and a bad snap by Tech's third string center into the end zone.

Georgia Tech, last beaten by Alabama 54-19 on Nov. 18, 1950, made one more comeback, scoring in the last quarter on a pass covering 53 yards, from brilliant freshman quarterback Wade Mitchell to halfback Billy Teas.

Crumbling under the bruising Irish attack as the end neared, Tech yielded the fourth Notre Dame touchdown on a two-yard smash by halfback Johnny Lattner, who was an inspired player throughout.

The ever-exploiting Irish, in smashing to their fourth victory of the season, scored the most touchdowns in one game against Tech since the Engineer streak began. They also passed to the first six-pointer against Tech in 22 games.

The aerial score was Notre Dame's second touchdown which broke a 7-7 tie in the third quarter and capped a 65-yard drive. It came on a nine-yard shot from quarterback Ralph Guglielmi to halfback Joe Heap.

Only a few minutes later, the Irish scored the clinching touchdown, a "gift" from Jim Morris, third string Tech center. Snapping back for a punt, Morris centered the ball high over punter Jim Carlen, a third string guard, standing in the end zone.

Mitchell, who apparently wrested the Tech quarterback job from regular Bill Brigman by his performance today, converted after both Engineer touchdowns.

Notre Dame took the opening kickoff and started so charged up that they crashed the entire Tech line into sieve-like resistance on every play.

The roaring partisan crowd of 58,254 was convinced after fullback Neil Worden pierced seven yards for the first Irish score that the befuddled Southerners were due for a sound trimming.

It was bang-bang-bang by a ruthless running attack which swept the Irish 80 yards to their 7-0 lead in the game's first 10 plays.

Although Joe Heap's 33-yard dash around Tech's right end to the Engineer 34 midway in the drive was a booming factor, the Irish touchdown mainly was a product of slashing the middle of Tech's line to ribbons.

After Heap's fine run, Lattner brust 15 yards through center. Quarterback Guglielmi probed the middle for five more, then Worden hammered the same spot twice for seven more to Tech's 7.

For a third straight time, the ball was handed to Worden. The chunky Irish fullback darted inside Tech's right tackle and across the goal line.

The Irish continued to push around the Engineers until the start of the second quarter when Leahy elected to pull a "shock troop" stunt which fizzled when reserve fullback Tom McHugh fumbled and Tech recovered on its 7.

Tech seemed relieved only to be trailing 7-0 at halftime and came out steaming for the start of the third quarter.

Teas, Leon Hardeman and Glenn Turner began to find daylight in the previously impregnable Irish line and slashed to Notre Dame's 1. Then Mitchell shoved across on a quarterback sneak through the entire Irish forward wall and converted to tie the score at 7-7.

Tech's hopes, flaming brightly after Mitchell's 53-yard touchdown heave to Teas, were doused for keeps when the Irish doggedly battered to their fourth touchdown with 5:32 left.

Notre Dame struck 42 yards for the touchdown which came when Lattner struggled across from the 2 in the drive. Shortly before, Lattner, after a run from scrimmage, had tossed a lateral to Worden good for 19 yards to Tech's 2.

Georgia Tech	0	0	7	7—14
Notre Dame	7	0	14	6—27

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Mitchell, Teas. Conversions, Mitchell 2.

Browns, With Fingers Crossed, Meet Giants

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The big, bad Cleveland Browns, seeking to run their undefeated skein to five games, invade New York tomorrow—and they're not too happy about it.

This is one of the big ones of a five-game National Football League slate which includes the Chicago Bears at Los Angeles, Detroit at San Francisco, Philadelphia at the Chicago Cardinals and Washington at Baltimore. The Detroit-San Francisco game also gets top billing since they are tied with Los Angeles for first place in the Western Conference.

The Browns, behind Otto Graham's arm, as usual, have been pulverizing all opposition. Yet they lost both their games to the Giants last year, and two in 1950. They always have trouble with Steve Owen's men.

It should be close because the Browns have the tightest defense in the league. The Giants, too, have a strong forward line, but they can be passed against this year which wasn't true the past two seasons.

The Giants' hopes will ride with Chuck Conerly, who snapped out of his slump last week in the New Yorkers' victory over the Cards. Conerly, over the years, has enjoyed spectacular success against the Browns. Also, Kyle Rote, who caught seven passes against the Browns in their second game last year, is back in shape after being injured on Oct. 3.

Rote, Sonny Grandelius and Eddie Price are the three top Giant runners and will be together for the first time this season. Owen also plans to use Arnold Galiffa, the ex-Army star, in his swing T arrangement.

No matter what happens, though, the Browns will retain their first-place hold in the Eastern Conference. The Giants, who have won only one and lost three, could climb a notch if they take it.

While the 49ers and Lions are tearing at each other, the Rams seem to have a relatively soft-assignment against the Bears, who are only a shadow of their former powerful selves.

The 49ers rate as the favorites over the Lions. Bobby Layne's bad hand will throw a crimp in the Detroit offense, which means that Doak Walker and Bob Hoerneschemeyer will have to carry the brunt of the attack with their running talents.

'Frisco, too, has its troubles, because quarterback Y. A. Tittle is sidelined. But the 49ers have a capable replacement in Jimmy Powers and three good runners in Joe Perry, Hugh McElhenny, and Joe Arenas. The 49ers have come from behind to win three of their four games. The Lions beat them, 24-21, earlier in the season.

The Rams have little to fear from the Bears. They are on their own field and with Norm Van Brokin pitching to Elroy Hirsch and Bob Boyd, who replaced Tom Fears, they figure to have too much power.

Washington's star rookie passer, Jack Scarbath, figures to give the Redskins the edge over their neighborhood rivals. The Colts have a good, if slow, defense but they've had troubles with passers.

Philadelphia is not a high-scoring outfit. Against the Cards, who have lost all four of their games, however, the Eagles should show to advantage.

Methodists Show More Than Hawks Able To Conquer

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 24 (AP)—A fumble and a 13-yard drive after the half intermission gave the Southern Methodist Mustangs a 14 to 6 victory over Kansas surprisingly stubborn Jayhawks today.

Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference favorite, scored the first touchdown early in the second quarter when tackle Jack Gunlock grabbed a Kansas fumble in midair and ran 39 yards untouched. Sam Stollenwerck's conversion was good.

The points proved the margin of victory although both teams had a touchdown a piece coming up later in the second period.

Southern Methodis tscored in the first minute of the fourth period with Don Mcfilhenny going six yards after a clutch pass interception. Stollenwreck converted again to end the scoring.

Kansas	0	6	0	0— 6

S.M.U. scoring: touchdowns, Gunlock, Macilhenny. Conversions, Stollenwerck 2.

Furman Hangs 34-0 Defeat On Davidson

Tennessee Romps To Easy Victory Over Louisville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24 (AP)—Tennessee romped to an easy 59-6 victory over badly outclassed Louisville today in a warm-up football game for its date with North Carolina next Saturday.

The Vols, in picking up their second triumph of the season, scored twice each in the first three quarters, and picked up three more touchdowns in the fourth.

Quarterback John Unitas, a brilliant performer for Louisville until sidelined late in the game with a leg injury, sped 23 yards for the Cardinals' lone touchdown on the first play of the fourth period.

The breather gave Tennessee's reserves a chance to pick up some badly needed game experience before the final half of the campaign in which the Vols meet six major opponents.

Score by quarters:

Louisville	0	0	0	6—6
Tennessee	13	13	13	20—59

Louisville scoring: touchdown, Unitas.

Vanderbilt Taps Virginia For 1st Victory Of Year

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24 (AP)—Vanderbilt combined its best passing and running offense of the season before a homecoming day crowd of 16,000 today to defeat Virginia 28-13.

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—A last minute 31-yard pass shot never - say-die Rice to an 18-13 victory over Texas today in one of the most hectic spine-tingling finishes ever seen in memorial stadium.

With 56 seconds remaining, Fenstemaker fired to End Dan Hart in the goal line and Hart took the ball between two diving defenders to drop to the ground with the winning points.

That was the payoff play and it added volume to the screams of 50,000 fans who were in a state of frenzy the final six minutes.

Improving Army Machine Blasts Columbia, 40-7

Van threw two touchdown passes—16 yards to Lowell Sisson and eight yards to Bob Mischak—and engineered three other scores with his deceptive handoffs and long forwards.

Pat Uebel, a yearling (sophomore) halfback drove across twice as Vann flim flammed Columbia with fake handoffs to fullback Fred Attaya. Tommy Bell sped seven yards for another touchdown on a pitchout from Vann, and Mike Zeigler, eased out of the starting lineup by Bell, ran over from the 27 in the final minutes.

Columbia's only score came in the third period while Army was pouring it on with a three-touchdown barrage. Little Bob Mercier, a 155-pound halfback, intercepted a Vann pass, intended for Mischak, and sped 41 yards for his touchdown of the year.

Score by quarters:

Quakers Surprise Unbeaten Middies With 9 To 6 Upset

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP)—Pennsylvania booted Navy right out of the unbeaten ranks today on a field goal by husky Ed Gramigna from the 25-yard line that gave the Quakers a 9-6 upset win in the final 60 seconds before a roaring crowd of 52,210.

This was Penn's day as the red and blue charged up and down the field, completely dominating the play against favored Navy.

Even a gift touchdown which the Quakers handed the Middies in the third period did not stem the Pennsylvania charge.

Penn scored first on a 36-yard march, literally handed Navy a matching touchdown and then surged back in the dying seconds of the contest.

It was Gramigna, the man of the hour on Franklin Field who kicked the bottom out of Navy's chances for a clear record this season. He had missed a chance for an extra point, earlier, that would have been a comfortable margin. But with the chips down the six-foot quarterback from Audubon, N. J., had the accuracy and the power for the important point.

It was a big win for Penn, previously thrashed by California and edges out last week by Ohio State.

Score by quarters:

Navy	0	0	6	0—6
Penn	0	0	6	3—9

Navy scoring: touchdown, Hopkins.

Ole Miss Chalks Up 28-0 Triumph Over Razorbacks

MEMPHIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Mississippi powered over two touchdowns, shook Harol Lofton loose on an 86-yard dash for a third, passed for a fourth and four times stopped Arkansas drives inside the 20 for a 28-0 win today.

The rugged Ole Miss defense kept Arkansas' highly regarded Lamar McHan bottled up except for a dazzling 40-yard pass completion and a 30-yard punt return.

Mississippi's initial TD came with the first quarter only five minutes gone when Billy Kinard rammed over from the one to climax a 55-yard drive. Lea Paslay converted.

Lofton went off tackle and shook the last defensive man loose on the Mississippi 25 in his spectacular run in the last quarter. A 20-yard pass from Paslay to Allen Muirhead in the last seconds accounted for the final score. Paslay converted after both fourth quarter scores.

Mississippi	7	0	7	14—28

Mobley, Steele Finish Bloody Draw Tuesday

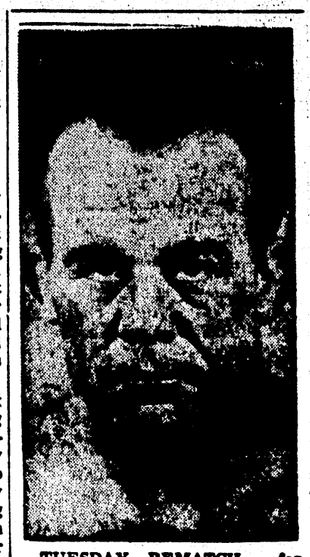
A two - hour time - limit return match between Rex Mobley and Jack "Stinger" Steele headlines the Tuesday night wrestling card at Kallio's Arena. The semi-final, which could be another main event in itself, pits villainous Pat "Big Boy" Cronin against Don Martin. Both matches are two - of - three falls to win.

The main event between Mobley and Steele, with Gus Kallio officiating, ended in a gory draw last week, with the situation getting out of hand in the final fall, when both grapplers began to slug it out in the ring, continued their battle in the ringside section, and were broken up by the police and Kallio, who ended the hostilities by declaring the bout a draw.

The first fall, which went to Rex on a rolling crabhold, or rolling leg-spread, as it is known officially; went 30 minutes of fairly clean wrestling, with Kallio watching "Stinger" closely throughout, and promptly calling a break when he detected such numerous Steele tactics as hair pulling and trunk boosting.

The villian came back to win the second, after another strenuous heat, which wound up with Steele making Mobley give up from a painful "bonafide" crabhold. This evened matters up for the final fall, which promptly turned into a slugfest, with Steele knocking Mobley out of the ring, refusing to let him back in, and finally getting pulled out himself to collect a fistful of Mobley knuckles above his right eye that opened the blood gate.

Cronin needs no introduction and neither does Martin in the 8:15 match; but one thing is certain, the hulking "Big Boy" will have no easy time with behemoth Martin, who dishes out whatever villainy his evil opponent gives him.



TUESDAY REMATCH — for Rex Mobley, (above) at Kallio's Arena Tuesday night with Jack "Stinger" Steele, in the main, two-hour-time-limit event. The two battled to a gory draw last week, with police and Referee Gus Kallio forced to interfere and halt the match. Jack "Big Boy" Cronin and Don Martin wrestle in the 8:15 opener.

Oklahoma Chills Colorado's Bid For Grid Upset

Less than a minute earlier, Colorado, a four-touchdown underdog, had tied the score at 20-20 on Roger Hunt's 26-yard run and Don Piper's conversion.

But Oklahoma, fighting to keep its ranking as the No. 9 team in the nation, decided to gamble on a ground play by Green and in his second carry of the game he was sprung loose for the clincher.

Score by quarters:

Colorado	0	7	0	7—20
Oklahoma	0	6	7	14—27

Colorado scoring: touchdowns, Bernardi, Hardy, Hunt. Conversions, Hunt, Piper.

Mighty Notre Dame Ends Georgia Tech's Streak

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 team, survived a tooth-and-nail second half without stricken Coach Frank Leahy today to shatter Georgia Tech's vaunted 31-game unbeaten streak 27-14.

It was a dramatic, bitterly fought game that really started after Notre Dame left the field at halftime leading 7-0 but came back without Leahy who was taken to a hospital in the third quarter about the time Tech bounced back with a 70-yard scoring drive to tie the game. Then Notre Dame, with lightning swiftness, scored two touchdowns on a short pass and a bad snap by Tech's third string center into the end zone.

Georgia Tech, last beaten by Alabama 54-19 on Nov. 18, 1950, made one more comeback, scoring in the last quarter on a pass covering 53 yards, from brilliant freshman quarterback Wade Mitchell to halfback Billy Teas.

Crumbling under the bruising Irish attack as the end neared, Tech yielded the fourth Notre Dame touchdown on a two-yard smash by halfback Johnny Lattner, who was an inspired player throughout.

The ever-exploiting Irish, in smashing to their fourth victory of the season, scored the most touchdowns in one game against Tech since the Engineer streak began. They also passed to the first six-pointer against Tech in 22 games.

The aerial score was Notre Dame's second touchdown which broke a 7-7 tie in the third quarter and capped a 65-yard drive. It came on a nine-yard shot from quarterback Ralph Guglielmi to halfback Joe Heap.

Only a few minutes later, the Irish scored the clinching touchdown, a "gift" from Jim Morris, third string Tech center. Snapping back for a punt, Morris centered the ball high over punter Jim Carlen, a third string guard, standing in the end zone.

Mitchell, who apparently wrested the Tech quarterback job from regular Bill Brigman by his performance today, converted after both Engineer touchdowns.

Notre Dame took the opening kickoff and started so charged up that they crashed the entire Tech line into sieve-like resistance on every play.

The roaring partisan crowd of 58,254 was convinced after fullback Neil Worden pierced seven yards for the first Irish score that the befuddled Southerners were due for a sound trimming.

It was bang-bang-bang by a ruthless running attack which swept the Irish 80 yards to their 7-0 lead in the game's first 10 plays.

Although Joe Heap's 33-yard dash around Tech's right end to the Engineer 34 midway in the drive was a booming factor, the Irish touchdown mainly was a product of slashing the middle of Tech's line to ribbons.

After Heap's fine run, Lattner brust 15 yards through center. Quarterback Guglielmi probed the middle for five more, then Worden hammered the same spot twice for seven more to Tech's 7.

For a third straight time, the ball was handed to Worden. The chunky Irish fullback darted inside Tech's right tackle and across the goal line.

The Irish continued to push around the Engineers until the start of the second quarter when Leahy elected to pull a "shock troop" stunt which fizzled when reserve fullback Tom McHugh fumbled and Tech recovered on its 7.

Tech seemed relieved only to be trailing 7-0 at halftime and came out steaming for the start of the third quarter.

Teas, Leon Hardeman and Glenn Turner began to find daylight in the previously impregnable Irish line and slashed to Notre Dame's 1. Then Mitchell shoved across on a quarterback sneak through the entire Irish forward wall and converted to tie the score at 7-7.

Tech's hopes, flaming brightly after Mitchell's 53-yard touchdown heave to Teas, were doused for keeps when the Irish doggedly battered to their fourth touchdown with 5:32 left.

Notre Dame struck 42 yards for the touchdown which came when Lattner struggled across from the 2 in the drive. Shortly before, Lattner, after a run from scrimmage, had tossed a lateral to Worden good for 19 yards to Tech's 2.

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Mitchell, Teas. Conversions, Mitchell 2.

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The big, bad Cleveland Browns, seeking to run their undefeated skein to five games, invade New York tomorrow—and they're not too happy about it.

This is one of the big ones of a five-game National Football League slate which includes the Chicago Bears at Los Angeles, Detroit at San Francisco, Philadelphia at the Chicago Cardinals and Washington at Baltimore. The Detroit-San Francisco game also gets top billing since they are tied with Los Angeles for first place in the Western Conference.

The Browns, behind Otto Graham's arm, as usual, have been pulverizing all opposition. Yet they lost both their games to the Giants last year, and two in 1950. They always have trouble with Steve Owen's men.

It should be close because the Browns have the tightest defense in the league. The Giants, too, have a strong forward line, but they can be passed against this year which wasn't true the past two seasons.

The Giants' hopes will ride with Chuck Conerly, who snapped out of his slump last week in the New Yorkers' victory over the Cards. Conerly, over the years, has enjoyed spectacular success against the Browns. Also, Kyle Rote, who caught seven passes against the Browns in their second game last year, is back in shape after being injured on Oct. 3.

Rote, Sonny Grandelius and Eddie Price are the three top Giant runners and will be together for the first time this season. Owen also plans to use Arnold Galiffa, the ex-Army star, in his swing T arrangement.

No matter what happens, though, the Browns will retain their first-place hold in the Eastern Conference. The Giants, who have won only one and lost three, could climb a notch if they take it.

While the 49ers and Lions are tearing at each other, the Rams seem to have a relatively soft-assignment against the Bears, who are only a shadow of their former powerful selves.

The 49ers rate as the favorites over the Lions. Bobby Layne's bad hand will throw a crimp in the Detroit offense, which means that Doak Walker and Bob Hoernescheyer will have to carry the brunt of the attack with their running talents.

'Frisco, too, has its troubles, because quarterback Y. A. Tittle is sidelined. But the 49ers have a capable replacement in Jimmy Powers and three good runners in Joe Perry, Hugh McElhenny, and Joe Arenas. The 49ers have come from behind to win three of their four games. The Lions beat them, 24-21, earlier in the season.

The Rams have little to fear from the Bears. They are on their own field and with Norm Van Brokin pitching to Elroy Hirsch and Bob Boyd, who replaced Tom Fears, they figure to have too much power.

Washington's star rookie passer, Jack Scarbath, figures to give the Redskins the edge over their neighborhood rivals. The Colts have a good, if slow, defense but they've had troubles with passers.

Philadelphia is not a high-scoring outfit. Against the Cards, who have lost all four of their games, however, the Eagles should show to advantage.

Methodists Show More Than Hawks Able To Conquer

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 24 (AP)—A fumble and a 13-yard drive after the half intermission gave the Southern Methodist Mustangs a 14 to 6 victory over Kansas surprisingly stubborn Jayhawks today.

Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference favorite, scored the first touchdown early in the second quarter when tackle Jack Gunlock grabbed a Kansas fumble in midair and ran 39 yards untouched. Sam Stollenwerck's conversion was good.

The points proved the margin of victory although both teams had a touchdown a piece coming up later in the second period.

Southern Methodis tscored in the first minute of the fourth period with Don McIllhenny going six yards after a clutch pass interception. Stollenwreck converted again to end the scoring.

S.M.U. scoring: touchdowns, Gunlock, Macillhenny. Conversiins, Stollenwerck 2.

Tennessee Romps To Easy Victory Over Louisville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24 (AP)—Tennessee romped to an easy 59-6 victory over badly outclassed Louisville today in a warm-up football game for its date with North Carolina next Saturday.

The Vols, in picking up their second triumph of the season, scored twice each in the first three quarters, and picked up three more touchdowns in the fourth.

Quarterback John Unitas, a brilliant performer for Louisville until sidelined late in the game with a leg injury, sped 23 yards for the Cardinals' lone touchdown on the first play of the fourth period.

The breather gave Tennessee's reserves a chance to pick up some badly needed game experience before the final half of the campaign in which the Vols meet six major opponents.

Score by quarters:

Mobley, Steele Finish Bloody Draw Tuesday

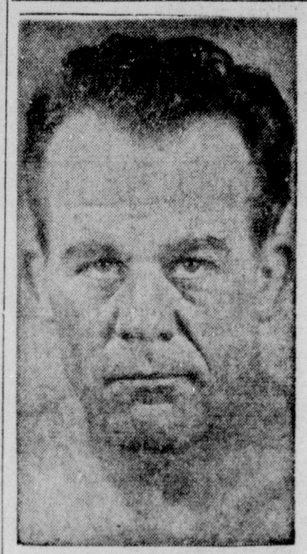
A two - hour time - limit return match between Rex Mobley and Jack "Stinger" Steele headlines the Tuesday night wrestling card at Kallio's Arena. The semi-final, which could be another main event in itself, pits villainous Pat "Big Boy" Cronin against Don Martin. Both matches are two - of - three falls to win.

The main event between Mobley and Steele, with Gus Kallio officiating, ended in a gory draw last week, with the situation getting out of hand in the final fall, when both grapplers began to slug it out in the ring, continued their battle in the ringside section, and were broken up by the police and Kallio, who ended the hostilities by declaring the bout a draw.

The first fall, which went to Rex on a rolling crabhold, or rolling leg-spread, as it is known officially; went 30 minutes of fairly clean wrestling, with Kallio watching "Stinger" closely throughout, and promptly calling a break when he detected such numerous Steele tactics as hair pulling and trunk boosting.

The villian came back to win the second, after another strenuous heat, which wound up with Steele making Mobley give up from a painful "bonafide" crabhold. This evened matters up for the final fall, which promptly turned into a slugfest, with Steele knocking Mobley out of the ring, refusing to let him back in, and finally getting pulled out himself to collect a fistful of Mobley knuckles above his right eye that opened the blood gate.

Cronin needs no introduction and neither does Martin in the 8:15 match; but one thing is certain, the hulking "Big Boy" will have no easy time with behemoth Martin, who dishes out whatever villainy his evil opponent gives him.



TUESDAY REMATCH — for Rex Mobley, (above) at Kallio's Arena Tuesday night with Jack "Stinger" Steele, in the main, two-hour-time-limit event. The two battled to a gory draw last week, with police and Referee Gus Kallio forced to interfere and halt the match. Jack "Big Boy" Cronin and Don Martin wrestle in the 8:15 opener.

Oklahoma Chills Colorado's Bid For Grid Upset

Less than a minute earlier, Colorado, a four-touchdown underdog, had tied the score at 20-20 on Roger Hunt's 26-yard run and Don Piper's conversion.

But Oklahoma, fighting to keep its ranking as the No. 9 team in the nation, decided to gamble on a ground play by Green and in his second carry of the game he was sprung loose for the clincher.

Score by quarters:

Colorado	6	7	0	7	—20
Oklahoma	0	6	7	14	—27

The American male is undergoing a change of style in clothing. (Did you read about it in LIFE?) He is bidding farewell to exaggerated broad shoulders, wide lapels and "drape" appearance. GIVES LEGION IMPETUS— A proclamation issued by two chief executives, Mayor John E. Coon of Monroe and Mayor J. Proclamation Issued Saturday By Two Mayors

Support of the present membership campaign of the American Legion was voiced at the Monroe city hall Saturday morning when a picture was taken of the chief executives of Monroe and West Monroe and a proclamation issued urging the cause of the organization.

The proclamation issued stated:

"Whereas, The American Legion has always and at all times dedicated itself to the advancement and betterment of the community throughout the land, and,

"Whereas, The American Legion through its veteran membership stands as a mighty guardian against the inroads of communism in these critical days and,

"Whereas, the Louisiana department of the American Legion has declared the week of October 24 to October 31, as American Legion Week, during which time it calls all eligible veterans of the great wars to join ranks in its fight against all enemies which threaten our great American way of life, and,

"Whereas, It is deemed fitting and proper at this time to publicly commend this great organization for its fine record and achievements.

"We, now therefore, by virtue of the power vested in us as Mayors do proclaim the week, October 24 to October 31, American Legion Week and do urge and recommend that our citizenry assist and support the program of the American Legion in our community, state and nation."

Camp Polk's Safety Drive Is Paying Off

Since August 31, not one Camp Polk soldier has been killed in an accident involving a civilian automobile. In contrast, from January to August, before the present safety drive went into action, 15 soldiers were killed in accidents of this type. Each of the first eight months of 1953 saw at least one such death, and, in one month, June, there were six.

To save lives as well as equipment, the provost marshal's office cracked down on fast driving, a factor in 80 per cent of Camp Polk's auto accidents. DeRidder and Leesville law enforcement officials cooperated with military police in the crackdown.

The provost marshal's office is now taking away driving privileges if a soldier has two serious accidents, or three including one serious accident, within a period of three months. The office also is writing to the offender's home state and asking that the license be revoked. Previously, this was not done unless a driver had been involved in five accidents over the same period.

Another point of the safety program was the air-to-ground patrol, by which cars are tracked by radar-carrying planes outside the post. So successful was this that it will be continued indefinitely.

To make military personnel and civilians more safety conscious, essay contests on the subject were held in DeRidder, La., and Leesville, La., and on the post. The suggestion of Camp Polk's essay winner, SFC Louis Choquette, has recently been put into effect. His idea was a series of "don't" signs similar to the ones Burma Shave uses.

"We had to do something," says Provost Marshal Lt. Col. Samuel T. Denton. "to keep people from killing each other and killing themselves."

The Monroe Recreation Department's program of fall activities is in full swing, according to Jack Hesketh, director.

The Recreation Center, located at 113½ Catalpa St., is open every day except Sunday. Closing time on week nights is 9:00 p. m., and on Saturdays it is 10:45 p. m.

Activities offered at the center are varied, and some programs are designed for adult participation, the director said. On Thursday night square dancing gets under way at 7:30 o'clock, and continues until closing time, with youngsters and adults invited to take part.

Friday night is Youth Night, with a movie being shown for boys and girls 13 years of age and under. Handicraft activities are held on Friday afternoon for adults, running from 1 to 4 o'clock.

From 9 to 10 a. m. every Saturday boys and girls 13 and under, attend dramatic club sessions, while the Teen Age club meets from 7:30 p. m. until 10:45 p. m. Saturday, with participation open to boys and girls in the age group 14 through 19.

Chinese Consul Here Today For Far East Talks

The Chinese consul at Houston, Texas, Yunan Mao, will arrive in Monroe today to participate in a special television program at 6 p.m. He will return to Houston later tonight.

James Ewing, who each Sunday presents a program entitled "Freedom Speaks" over KFAZ-TV, announced Saturday that Mao will discuss the present situation in Asia, and particularly in the Far East.

"We are indeed fortunate in having a man of Mr. Mao's standing and background to participate in the program," Ewing said. "And I am sure he will present some enlightening information about the distasteful situation which has arisen in the Far East in the last few years.

"I personally want to urge every person to hear Mao discuss the situation as it exists in his homeland and adjacent countries," he said.

100% G. I. Loan
IF you're a veteran and can qualify . . . pay the closing costs and move in this new 3 bedroom brick home at 1201 Hinkle Drive in West Monroe. It's a corner lot with these refreshing features: the bath is tile, there's Coleman wall heat; the kitchen is pine-paneled with Formica cabinet tops, washer plumbing, double sink and Vents-Hood. Two of the bedrooms have double closets; the home also has a 42" attic fan! It's priced at only $11,825.. Would you like to see it?

Price Conscious?
WOULD YOU believe me if I told you that we have a 5-room, 5 year old youngster on a 75 foot lot for only $7250 . . . and it's in perfect condition, too? Well, we've "got the goods" at 209 Circle Drive in West Monroe with these quality features: Solid walls with wallpaper (no textone); 2 bedrooms, both with roomy closets; separate living and dining room; the kitchen has a double sink and a stove hood. The yard has 3 good - sized oak trees near the house and St. Augustine grass. It's occupied so please call for appointment!

Unbelievable?
A 3 bedroom, 2 tile - bath home on Lexington in Marie Place for only $2000 down? Sounds like a joke, but it's not. Here's a brand new home on a 75-foot lot with amazing features. The home has hardwood floors throughout, pine-paneled kitchen with Vent-A-Hood, Tracy metal cabinets, and a built-in breakfast nook. It's heated by forced-air central heating; the guest bath has a lavanette dressing table; 2 bedrooms have walk-in closets and the 29'x13' living room has plenty of room for furniture. It's priced at $13,900 ($1000 under FHA value) and only $2,000 down moves you in. You'll regret it if you miss this bargain!

"It Ain't Necessarily So"
IT'S BIG, I'll admit and you couldn't build it for $30,000 . . . but the price isn't big! Here's a solid brick home on a 200x175 foot lot well shaded by a huge pecan tree with 1867 sq. feet in the house alone. It's a 3 years old with 3 tremendous bedrooms, a tile bath with tub and a tile shower stall, a Roman brick fireplace that completely covers one wall in the living room, a mammoth 11x26 kitchen with tile counters and splashboards. There's a den, double garage and a lifetime roof. It's in Broadmoor and $6000 will turn the key. It'll be a pleasure to show you this one today!

"We've Got The Goods"
FOR BAYOU living at it's best . . . we've got the goods! Here is a brand new brick home on Bayou DeSiard with a whole host of wonderful features, among the 1867 sq. feet of floor space. There are three bedrooms all with double sliding door closets; 2 tile baths; central heating; mahogany paneled living room and den overlooking the bayou; separate dining room and the kitchen . . . well it's "woman planned." Spacious cabinet space, washer plumbing. Formica cabinet tops & breakfast area. There's also a double carport and water softener. It's already financed and would be a pleasure to show you today!

Illegal Use Of Hands
THE "little woman's" hands are far too delicate to be thrust into dishwater day after day. So why not solve that problem with the American Kitchen dishwasher in the exciting pine - paneled kitchen of this new brick home at 1707 Milton in Marie Place? Other noteworthy features: 3 spacious bedrooms, (all with sliding door closets); 2 tile baths, one with a tub and one with tile shower stall); heating by Coleman Blend Air central heat; the floors are glistening hardwood block; and "to host" it's got a 40 gallon heater and aluminum frame windows! For a delightful surprise, call for appointment. Only $3400 down buys it.

All Treats, No Tricks!
CAPTIVATING at the first glance . . . and once inside it sells itself! We're referring to 4208 Lee Ave. Here's an 8-month old youngster, constructed of brick on a delightful corner lot with a galaxy of livable features! There are two roomy bedrooms, a den, separate living and dining room . . . an unrivaled kitchen with splashboard, recessed light over sink and natural woodwork cabinets. The bath has colored fixtures and a shower . . . then there's a breezeway on the back that opens into the carport. It's priced at only $12,984, so let us show you today.

Backfired!
ALMOST ANYWAY, for after reading a few of our ads pointing out all the comfortable features the home possesses, the owner has almost decided not to sell or if he does sell, raise the price. So before he does either, let us show what we mean! It's only 3 years young in one of Monroe's best northside locations with 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms plus a breesway on the back and an enclosed garage. The living room is huge, then there's a separate dining room and a well - arranged kitchen. The closet and storage space is magnificent! The back yard is shaded all day, and, well . . . we could go on and on but give us 30 minutes today to show the buy of a lifetime! Oh, yeah, the location is 306 Hilton.

Bending Your Ear?
NOT EXACTLY, but it is rather sad to see this "one owner" home stand vacant when someone like you could give it such loving care. It sits majestically on a 105x150 foot lot at 908 Sherrouse in the college area with these inspiring features; 5 rooms, 2 bedrooms and a den, the living room is cavernous, the kitchen has a GE dishwasher, spacious breakfast area, metal cabinets and a back and a side door, the home has two baths, roomy storage room and a host of other delightful features. It's already financed and would be "tickled to death" to show it to you today.

It's No Joke!
WHEN WE tell you we've got a new brick home on a 100 foot lot for only $13,500. No indeed! The home has: GE central heat, aluminum window frames, Roman brick fireplace and planting box, a perfectly delightful kitchen with room even for a deep freeze; roomy living room, with separate dining area; 3 bedrooms and a tile bath with shower. There's a garage and a 7x14' store room. It's in Broadmoor and only $2500 turns the key! It's vacant, too!

"Read 'Em And Weep"
RENT RECEIPTS that is! Life insurance companies say a person who pays rent for a lifetime pays for three homes! Why not own one . . . such as this matchless home at 1308 College Ave.? It's a home you could move into and not find a scratch, but you would find these refined features: 2 bedrooms; gleaming pecan floors; large kitchen with dining area; living room has built-in bookcases; there's a side screened porch plus a garage with metal, over-head door and store room. It's your move now and only $1250 makes it easy!

Have You Ever
WALKED into a home and because it was so immaculate and homey . . . just wanted to sit right down and stay there? I have, and this home at 908 D'Arbonne was the reason! It's a 6 room home only a block from Sherrouse grammar school priced at only $11,604. There are 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room, spacious (12x24) den on the back and an ingenious kitchen plus 3 floor furnaces, 42" attic fan and a separate garage! Amazing value. See it today!

100% G. I. Loan

IF you're a veteran and can qualify . . . pay the closing costs and move in this new 3 bedroom brick home at 1201 Hinkle Drive in West Monroe. It's a corner lot with these refreshing features: the bath is tile, there's Coleman wall heat; the kitchen is pine-paneled with Formica cabinet tops, washer plumbing, double sink and Venta-Hood. Two of the bedrooms have double closets; the home also has a 42" attic fan! It's priced at only $11,825. Would you like to see it?

Price Conscious?

WOULD YOU believe me if I told you that we have a 5-room, 5 year old youngster on a 75 foot lot for only $7250 and it's in perfect condition, too? Well, we've "got the goods" at 209 Circle Drive in West Monroe with these quality features: Solid walls with wallpaper (no textone); 2 bedrooms, both with roomy closets; separate living and dining room; the kitchen has a double sink and a stove hood. The yard has 3 good - sized oak trees near the house and St. Augustine grass. It's occupied so please call for appointment!

Unbelievable?

A 3 bedroom, 2 tile - bath home on Lexington in Marie Place for only $2000 down? Sounds like a joke, but it's not. Here's a brand new home on a 75-foot lot with amazing features. The home has hardwood floors throughout, pine-paneled kitchen with Vent-A-Hood, Tracy metal cabinets, and a built-in breakfast nook. It's heated by forced-air central heating; the guest bath has a lavanette dressing table; 2 bedrooms have walk-in closets and the 29'x13' living room has plenty of room for furniture. It's priced at $13,900 ($1000 under FHA value) and only $2,000 down moves you in. You'll regret it if you miss this bargain!

"It Ain't Necessarily So"

IT'S BIG, I'll admit and you couldn't build it for $30,000 but the price isn't big! Here's a solid brick home on a 200x175 foot lot well shaded by a huge pecan tree with 1867 sq. feet in the house alone. It's a 3 years old with 3 tremendous bedrooms, a tile bath with tub and a tile shower stall, a Roman brick fireplace that completely covers one wall in the living room, a mammoth 11x26 kitchen with tile counters and splashboards. There's a den, double garage and a lifetime roof. It's in Broadmoor and $6000 will turn the key. It'll be a pleasure to show you this one today!

"We've Got The Goods"

FOR BAYOU living at it's best . . . we've got the goods! Here is a brand new brick home on Bayou DeSiard with a whole host of wonderful features, among its 1867 sq. feet of floor space. There are three bedrooms all with double sliding door closets; 2 tile baths; central heating; mahogany paneled living room and den overlooking the bayou; separate dining room and the kitchen . . . well it's "woman planned." Spacious cabinet space, washer plumbing, Formica cabinet tops & breakfast area. There's also a double carport and water softener. It's already financed and would be a pleasure to show you today!

Illegal Use Of Hands

THE "little woman's" hands are far too delicate to be thrust into dishwater day after day. So why not solve that problem with the American Kitchen dishwasher in the exciting pine - paneled kitchen of this new brick home at 1707 Milton in Marie Place? Other noteworthy features: 3 spacious bedrooms, (all with sliding door closets); 2 tile baths, (one with a tub and one with tile shower stall); heating by Coleman Blend Air central heat; the floors are glistening hardwood block; and "to boot" it's got a 40 gallon heater and aluminum frame windows! For a delightful surprise, call for appointment. Only $3400 down buys it.

All Treats, No Tricks!

CAPTIVATING at the first glance . . . and once inside it sells itself! We're referring to 4208 Lee Ave. Here's an 8-month old youngster, constructed of brick on a delightful corner lot with a galaxy of livable features! There are two roomy bedrooms, a den, separate living and dining room an unrivaled kitchen with splashboard, recessed light over sink and natural woodwork cabinets. The bath has colored fixtures and a shower . . . then there's a breezeway on the back that opens into the carport. It's priced at only $12,984, so let us show you today.

Backfired!

ALMOST ANYWAY, for after reading a few of our ads pointing out all the comfortable features the home possesses, the owner has almost decided not to sell or if he does sell, raise the price. So before he does either, let us show what we mean! It's only 3 years young in one of Monroe's best northside locations with 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms plus a breezeway on the back and an enclosed garage. The living room is huge, then there's a separate dining room and a well - arranged kitchen. The closet and storage space is magnificent! The back yard is shaded all day, and, well we could go on and on but give us 30 minutes today to show the buy of a lifetime! Oh, yeah, the location is 306 Hilton.
Hilton.

Bending Your Ear?

NOT EXACTLY, but it is rather sad to see this "one owner" home stand vacant when someone like you could give it such loving care. It sits majestically on a 105x150 foot lot at 508 Sherrouse in the college area with these inspiring features; 5 rooms, 2 bedrooms and a den, the living room is cavernous, the kitchen has a GE dishwasher, spacious breakfast area, metal cabinets and a back and a side door, the home has two baths, roomy storage room and a host of other delightful features. It's already financed and would be "tickled to death" to show it to you today.

It's No Joke!

WHEN WE tell you we've got a new brick home on a 100 foot lot for only $12,500. No indeed! The home has: GE central heat, aluminum window frames, Roman brick fireplace and planting box, a perfectly delightful kitchen with room even for a deep freeze; roomy living room, with separate dining area; 2 bedrooms and a tile bath with shower. There's a garage and a 7x14' store room. It's in Broadmoor and only $2500 turns the key! It's vacant, too!

"Read 'Em And Weep"

RENT RECEIPTS that is! Life insurance companies say a person who pays rent for a lifetime pays for three homes! Why not own one . . . such as this matchless home at 1309 College Ave.? It's a home you could move into and not find a scratch, but you would find these refined features: 2 bedrooms; gleaming pecan floors; large kitchen with dining area; living room has built-in bookcases; there's a side screened porch plus a garage with metal, over-head door and store room. It's your move now and only $1250 makes it easy!

Have You Ever

WALKED into a home and because it was so immaculate and homey . . . just wanted to sit right down and stay there? I have, and this home at 508 D'Arbonne was the reason! It's a 6 room home only a block from Sherrouse grammar school priced at only $11,604. There are 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room, spacious (12x24) den on the back and an ingenious kitchen plus 2 floor furnaces, 42" attic fan and a separate garage! Amazing value. See it today!

3 Monroe Directors To Attend State Meeting For Crippled Children

Rev. R. L. Ross, Alan Sugar and Miss Frances Barnes, will attend the state convention of the Louisiana chapter of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which will be held Oct. 30 and 31, in New Orleans, it was announced Saturday morning.

Rev. Ross, vice-president of the Louisiana chapter, along with Sugar and Miss Barnes, who are members of the board of directors of this chapter, will represent Ouachita parish at this state-wide event.

Expansion of presently limited facilities for the care and treatment of Louisiana's physically handicapped children will be discussed at a meeting scheduled for October 30 in New Orleans.

Volunteers in parish units of the Louisiana chapter, National Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc., (The Easter Seal Society) will hold their third annual meeting in the St. Charles Hotel, Mrs. R. D. Cloninger, Lafayette, president announced. The general meeting will be followed on October 31 by the annual meeting of the chapter's board of trustees.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m., with the session getting underway at 9:15 a. m. A highlight of the meeting, Mrs. Cloninger said, will be a luncheon with Miss June Sokolov, Hartford, Connecticut, as the principal speaker. Director of the Hartford County Rehabilitation Workshop, Inc., Miss Sokolov will discuss "Rehabilitation Centers — From the Ground Up."

Urging anyone with an interest in problems of the handicapped to attend the meeting, Mrs. Cloninger said, "We feel particularly fortunate to have scheduled Miss Sokolov. With her background in establishing the Hartford Workshop, considered a model institution of its kinds, she is in a position to give us real help."

Various panels and discussions planned as a part of the program are all aimed toward helping local units of the chapter "do a better job in providing opportunities for rehabilitation of crippled children in their communities," Mrs. Cloninger said.

"With the exception of New Orleans where the Crippled Children's Hospital is under construction, and Shreveport, our crippled children generally have practically no opportunity to receive even the basic therapies and special education they need. There is a shortage of funds, a shortage of trained personnel, a shortage of almost everything except children in need of help.

"Due to the hard work and enthusiasm of our volunteers and the generosity of our citizens, more Easter Seal funds are becoming available, and if present plans are adopted by our board of trustees, we will proceed with a scholarship program aimed at recruiting and training more physical and speech therapists," Mrs. Cloninger explained. She said that the meeting will be a working session at which such problems as these will be discussed.

Other speakers and participants will include Harry B. Kelleher, New Orleans, a member of the executive committee, National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., and chairman of the board of Crippled Children's Hospital; Morgan Walker, Alexandria, business man and civic leader; the Rev. Mr. R. L. Ross, Monroe, chairman of the chapter's Ouachita unit; Dr. Harley Smith, supervisor, special education, Lafayette; and a number of specialists in the fields of physical, occupational and speech therapy, special education, social work, and related fields. Films relating to rehabilitation centers and recruitment of professional personnel will be shown.

Reports Inspect Giant Atomic Underseas Boat

GROTON, Conn., Oct. 23 (AP)—The Submarine Nautilus, the world's first atomic powered submersible designed for unheard of range, speed and depths, is well over half completed.

Reporters today climbed aboard the giant undersea boat. They saw that the race of the Electric Boat Division plant to finish her has gone so fast that already much of propulsion machinery is in place, the intricate plumbing of her steam plant to be heated by an atomic furnace woven through the hull, the turbine set on its frame.

Topside the progress was the same. Her conning tower had taken form, work was going ahead on the superstructure.

When she slides into the water in launching ceremonies presided over by Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower next Jan. 21 she will be much farther along than conventional submarines at the launching phase.

It is to be presumed even the multi-ton atomic reactor will be in place. The engine room already is a maze of machinery and pipes and controls.

SHEETS, TOWELS STOLEN

Four sheets, five towels and two pairs of pillow cases were stolen from the clothes line of the back yard of the residence of a Floyd Simmons, 2404 Short Wood Street, Friday night, the Monroe police department reported Saturday morning.

Little Theatre

Monroe Morning World

Sunday, October 25. 1953

Mrs. George Weaks, Jr., right, is chairman of the usher committee. Girls from Northeast College, D. B. S. Sorority, Ouachita Lionettes, and Neville Tigerettes are chosen to distribute programs and seat the guests at each performance. Serving, during this production are, Miss Grace Glass and Miss Violet Venable of Northeast College.

An important phase of the Little Theatre is the box office. Memberships must be filed and checked for each of the five plays of the season. Chairman, this year, is Mrs. Carl Slakter, assisting, are Mrs. Bill Latham, member of the board of directors and Julius Cahn, 1953-54 president.

Backstage In Little Theatre, many jobs have to be done before actors face the footlights. Make-up to a show is as important as the setting. Pictured here are two cast members, of the current, "Heaven Can Wait," Jerry Holzmann and Charles Wilhite being made-up by Mrs. James A. Hobbs and H. M. (Dusty) Rhodes.

An important but unsung role in a Little Theatre production are the back stage workers and crew, who build and finish the sets. Typical members who give their services behind the scene are, left, Ted Landhy, a former president, Carl Slakter, Russell Kettenring, Mrs. Barbara Addison and Miss Roberta Guion.

The Little Theatre's new director, Thom Feuerstein, assumes a characteristic pose as he discusses the lines of "Heaven Can Wait" with Mrs. John R. Hill and K. D. Hayes, Jr., who have two of leading roles in the current production.

"Shining Personalities in G. F. W. C." being the theme of our programs for the year, the Mangham Literary Club was pleased to have as their guest speaker, Miss Robbie Binion, director of Richland Parish Department of Public Welfare.

The president, Mrs. Kenneth McDonald, announced we would have "pleasure before business," Mrs. R. B. Boughton, leader, introduced Miss Binion who gave a most interesting talk on a subject that appeals to each of us as good citizens — public welfare.

Miss Binion said in part, "Public welfare is the people's program. They can have it changed if enough want it changed. The federal government puts up half the money but gives each state a great deal of leeway. But once a program is set up it has to be carried out that way for everyone has to be treated alike. There are five groups in the program. The biggest is the old age group. Louisiana is more generous with this group than any other state. There are only a few cases in this parish in the blind group. In the children's group the welfare welcomes a law that has been passed which makes it compulsory for a father who has deserted his family to be sued.

At this time there are on the welfare rolls the following: 1448 old age; 21 blind; 178 children; 149 permanently disabled; 93 temporarily disabled.

The welfare renders other services other than financial, such as the rehabilitation of the young blind by training them for work and helping place them in jobs, provisions for children other than welfare cases to secure glasses if they are referred by their teachers or the health unit, vocational rehabilitation, and the placement of neglected children in foster homes."

Mrs. Boughton expressed the club's appreciation to Miss Binion, and then led the group as they repeated the club collect in unison.

Delicious and colorful refreshments, reminding one of the approaching Halloween season, were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Bennie Boughton, Mrs. R. B. Boughton, and Mrs. Felix Boughton. Guest present, other than Miss Binion, was Mrs. Maude Mulhern, who is also employed by the department of public welfare in Rayville, La.

The president presided over the business session, during which time Mrs. Traylor Jones and Mrs Annie Boies were asked by the club to attend the convention to be held in Alexandria in November. These two agreed to represent the club at that time. Plans were completed for the chicken - spaghetti supper to be sponsored by the club at the school cafeteria preceding the homecoming game. The monthly bulletin was read and commented on, and the meeting adjourned.

Sunday Wedding Ceremony Unites Couple In Tallulah

TALLULAH—In a lovely wedding at the home of the bride's parents on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock Miss Susie Elizabeth Shauberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mial Jennings Shauberger was married to Mr. Howard Louis Burchardt, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Burchardt of Chicago. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John W. Howell before an improvised altar flanked by potted palms and tall white standards entwined with ivy and holding slender white candles. Sprays of ivy formed the background and in the center of the mantle was a beautiful arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The candles were lighted by Mrs. M. J. Shauberger, Jr. Preceding the ceremony recordings of the popular nuptial solos, "Because" and "I Love You Truly" were played.

The bride had as her only attendant, Miss Marian Parker of Vicksburg, who wore a model of aqua faille with beaded trim with which she wore matching gloves and headdress and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in her wedding dress of champagne colored faille fashioned with high neckline and small collar, three quarter length sleeves with which she wore matching lace mitts. The bodice was fastened with small pearl and aqua buttons and the street length gored skirt was made on princess lines. She carried a cascade bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums on a prayer book.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his brother, Jon Burchardt. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shauberger was attired in gray lace with which she wore a pink corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception. The lace draped refreshment table was centered with bouquets of the bride and maid of honor. At one end was placed a handsome silver punch bowl presided over by Mrs. Joe Milton Clark and at the other end Miss Lynn Dean Spears served slices of the handsome three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated with pale yellow roses. Little Donna Nettles had charge of the bride's book.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast Mrs. Burchardt was wearing a suit of gray wool with harmonizing accessories and a French hat of tangerine trimmed with beads. On their return they will reside in Chicago where Mr. Burchardt is employed by Hart Schaffner and Marx.

Out of town visitors were Mrs. J. S. White of New York City, Mr. V. R. Shauberger, Mrs. Letha Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shauberger and children of Liberty, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Shauberger of Albion, Pa., Mrs. Charles Anzono and daughter, Sherry and Mrs. Donald Anzono and son, Donald Ray of Chicago; Mrs. W. J. Castleberry and daughters, Mrs. R. L. Bruce of Ft. Worth, Tex.; Miss Lynn Spears of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Priestly and Miss Marian Parker of Vicksburg; Mrs. J. B. Morris of Delhi; Mrs. Johnnie Abington and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Franklin of Grand Cane; Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Linam and Mrs. Charles Linam of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Patrick and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stevens of Lake Providence.

When buying table linens, check for well-made hems, low-shrinkage percentage and color fastness. For longer wear, buy three-quarters or silver-bleach cloth rather than full-bleach linens.

Miss Shirley Franks served as maid of honor and Miss Vaudie Lee Foster, Miss Pearl Dycus, Miss Avis Jones and Mrs. Marie Boothe were bridesmaids.

News From The Public Library

Each week new titles arrive at the Ouachita Parish Public Library and are processed and distributed to the various branches for circulation. We are very proud of the fact that we nearly always have new books ready for circulation before publication date. Several new titles among this week's additions look very exciting. Samuel Shellabarger is one of the best of the current historical novelists. His latest book is called "Lord Vanity." Everyone who read his brilliant biography "Lord Chesterfield and His World" knows with what authority he writes of the eighteenth century. "Lord Vanity" begins in the middle of that century, in the atmosphere of elegance and extravagance, of enlightenment and worldiness, decorum and licentiousness that characterized the age. In this book we find a host of colorful characters and a variety of scene, gilded Venice, gay Paris on the eve of the revolution, the fashionable world of London and Bath and America, where Wolfe's armies were wresting Quebec from the French. In "Lord Vanity" as in his previous novels Dr. Shellabarger combines with consumate skill the art of story telling with a thorough knowledge of the period in which he lives. It is done with such art that the story interest never for a minute lags and the characters never fail to fascinate. This book is entertainment of the highest order and will be eagerly read by all those who like historical fiction.

A book which will be very popular with women is "Three at the Wedding," by Loula Grace Erdman. This is the story of the lives of three women and how the wedding was a culmination of all their struggles. It is a book that could happen to anyone and it takes hold on the imagination from the first page. "Ramey" by Jack Farris is a delightful story of a father and son relationship with the setting in the Arkansas hills. It is a refreshing account of the growing up of a boy in one unforgettable year.

Sholem Asch is one of the greatest living authors and he writes with a compelling force, whether his scene is Biblical or contemporary. His latest novel has a modern background. The title is "A Passage in the Night". The central theme is atonement. It is the story of a man tortured by his conscience for a trick he had played on a poor man, a trick that had given him his start on the road to wealth and eminence, who turns his back on all that he had achieved in an effort to right the wrong. The book is beautifully written and should appeal to a large audience. "The Trembling Earth" by Dale Van Every is another of his pioneer stories. This time the year is 1811 and the central event of the story is the earthquake. The main characters are two brothers, one a woodsman and the other a preacher. How each found his destiny, makes an absorbing story.

"Goodbye Summer" by Allis McKay is a sequel to the very popular book "They Came to a River" which was published in 1941. The central character of this book is Steve, the son of Christine of the earlier novel. The setting is Seattle and the neighboring areas. Miss McKay has captured the charm of the region and has beautifully depicted the characters of the story.

"Cowboy on a Wooden Horse" by Yuri Suhl continues the story begun in "One Foot in America." It is the story of an immigrant boy from Galacia and his efforts to adapt to American life and customs.

An utterly charming book is "My Heart Lies South" by Elizabeth Borton de Trevino. It is the story of an American girl who married a Mexican and went to live in Monterey. Things were very strange at first, but she is now a full fledged senora and loves living in Mexico.

There are books at the Ouachita Parish Public Library for every reading taste. If you are not taking advantage of its resources, you are neglecting a wonderful opportunity for pleasure and profit.

Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A. Members Attend School Of Instruction

To show their appreciation of the School of Instruction conducted annually by the Twin City Council of P. T. A., ten members of Barkdull Faulk P. T. A. were present Wednesday morning to attend classes conducted by the various instructors.

Following the invocation by Mr. Dan Caldwell, Mrs. A. R. Doughty led the assembly singing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Carl Thompson.

Mrs. Beth Breese always takes time to do her part in P.-T. A., aside from her many other activities, and, as her contribution toward making the program an interesting one, she gave two dramatic readings.

As a faithful worker of long standing, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese explained the "dos" and "don'ts" in P.-T. A. work, to bring about a closer and more gratifying relationship between parents and teachers.

Dr. Henry Sageser, of Northeast Louisiana State College's psychology department, is most generous in sharing his knowledge with others and, as guest speaker on the program, his address to the assembly was most helpful. Dr. Sageser spoke on pre-adolescence, explaining what phase of a child's life is known as pre-adolescence. His advice of what and how to do in the home during this particular age was most helpful to mothers trying to solve daily problems.

Mrs. James Larkan, Jr., general chairman, introduced the following instructors: presidents and vice presidents, Mrs. F. D. Luton; hospitality and membership, Mrs. W. F. Roberts; safety, Mrs. W. J. Veazey; room mothers, Mrs. Harold Brady; budget, finance and treasurers, Mr. Dan Caldwell; scrapbook and publicity, Mrs. James Larkan, Jr.; program planning, year books and goals, Mrs. C. R. Simpson; secretaries and welfare, Mrs. Helen Smith; legislation, Mrs. George Varino; civil defense and health, Mr. Clay Johnson.

Attendance certificates were awarded to Barkdull Faulk and Lida Benton Schools.

Women Of Church Celebrate Anniversary

WATERPROOF — During the last week of the church extension season, Mrs. W. T. Lanius and Mrs. John Rucker were co-hostesses in their home to the Women of the Presbyterian Church.

The meeting opened with the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. Earl Hunter reviewed some of the study of Jacob's Ladder and explained something of the work being done for the Negroes besides the money allocated to Stillman College. Following this, Mrs. Hunter then gave an account of the work of home missions. With maps, she showed many of the areas receiving home mission aid. Mountain areas, Indian work, Latin American and foreign language groups etc. Miss Mary Seddon, who had been rather closely associated with some of these missions gave several interesting accounts of her experiences. The main thought in the whole study was to strengthen the stakes of home missions in order that the cords of church extension might be lengthened.

Continuing the program, Mrs. John Rucker, in the study of "Portraits of the Master" gave the human side of "Jesus as the Son of Man."

During the social hour that followed, the group celebrated the 27th anniversary of the organization of the auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church in Waterproof. The cake with 27 candles was cut by Miss Mary Seddon and many good wishes were made for the future work of the Women of the Church.

The minutes of that meeting were read by Mrs. Hunter. There were nineteen members present and of that number Mrs. Long, Miss Mary Seddon, Mrs. Earl Hunter, and Miss Rose Guice are the only charter members in the present organization.

Those enjoying the meeting were Mrs. W. F. Long, Miss Mary Seddon, Mrs. B. L. Moss, Miss Charlotte Gottlob, Mrs. Earl T. Hunter, Mrs. John Rucker, Mrs. W. T. Lanius and Miss Rose Guice.

By coating candles (all but the wicks) with soapsuds, you'll gain candles that last longer and burn without smoking or dripping. Let them dry in the candleholders before lighting.

MRS. ED E. MEREDITH, JR.—was before her marriage in Bastrop, Oct. 2, Miss Grace Aline Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Harper of Rayville. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Meredith of Winnsboro.

Page - Howell Wedding Is Solemnized In Bawcomville

The wedding vows were exchanged against a background of southern smilax entwined in wrought iron candelabra holding slender yellow tapers. Baskets of yellow gladioli also decorated the altar.

Preceding the ceremony a program of prenuptial selections was rendered by Miss Elsie Lott accompanied by Miss Robbie Dee Fuller.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a gown of ice blue satin with a fitted bodice and sleeves that came to points over the wrist, with a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt fell into a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of ice blue illusion was attached to a coronet of matching satin and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow glamellias with blue feathered mums. Extending from the bouquet were ice blue satin streamers with white feathered mums caught in lover's knots.

Miss Shirley Franks served as maid of honor and Miss Vaudie Lee Foster, Miss Pearl Dycus, Miss Avis Jones and Mrs. Marie Boothe were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Howell chose for her daughter's wedding, a brown crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of vanda orchids with white feathered mums. The groom's mother was attired in a black crepe dress with red accessories. Her corsage was also of vanda orchids and white mums.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bride's table was overlaid with a blue lace cloth. Yellow candles and the crystal punch bowl were placed on the table with the three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom.

News From The Public Library

Each week new titles arrive at the Ouachita Parish Public Library and are processed and distributed to the various branches for circulation. We are very proud of the fact that we nearly always have new books ready for circulation before publication date. Several new titles among this week's additions look very exciting. Samuel Shellabarger is one of the best of the current historical novelists. His latest book is called "Lord Vanity." Everyone who read his brilliant biography "Lord Chesterfield and His World" knows with what authority he writes of the eighteenth century. "Lord Vanity" begins in the middle of that century, in the atmosphere of elegance and extravagance, of enlightenment and worldiness, decorum and licentiousness that characterized the age. In this book we find a host of colorful characters and a variety of scene, gilded Venice, gay Paris on the eve of the revolution, the fashionable world of London and Bath and America, where Wolfe's armies were wresting Quebec from the French. In "Lord Vanity" as in his previous novels Dr. Shellabarger combines with consumate skill the art of story telling with a thorough knowledge of the period in which he lives. It is done with such art that the story interest never for a minute lags and the characters never fail to fascinate. This book is entertainment of the highest order and will be eagerly read by all those who like historical fiction.

A book which will be very popular with women is "Three at the Wedding," by Loula Grace Erdman. This is the story of the lives of three women and how the wedding was a culmination of all their struggles. It is a book that could happen to anyone and it takes hold on the imagination from the first page. "Ramey" by Jack Farris is a delightful story of a father and son relationship with the setting in the Arkansas hills. It is a refreshing account of the growing up of a boy in one unforgettable year.

Sholem Asch is one of the greatest living authors and he writes with a compelling force, whether his scene is Biblical or contemporary. His latest novel has a modern background. The title is "A Passage in the Night". The central theme is atonement. It is the story of a man tortured by his conscience for a trick he had played on a poor man, a trick that had given him his start on the road to wealth and eminence, who turns his back on all that he had achieved in an effort to right the wrong. The book is beautifully written and should appeal to a large audience. "The Trembling Earth" by Dale Van Every is another of his pioneer stories. This time the year is 1811 and the central event of the story is the earthquake. The main characters are two brothers, one a woodsman and the other a preacher. How each found his destiny, makes an absorbing story.

"Goodbye Summer" by Allis McKay is a sequel to the very popular book "They Came to a River" which was published in 1941. The central character of this book is Steve, the son of Christine of the earlier novel. The setting is Seattle and the neighboring areas. Miss McKay has captured the charm of the region and has beautifully depicted the characters of the story.

"Cowboy on a Wooden Horse" by Yuri Suhl continues the story begun in "One Foot in America." It is the story of an immigrant boy from Galacia and his efforts to adapt to American life and customs.

An utterly charming book is "My Heart Lies South" by Elizabeth Borton de Trevino. It is the story of an American girl who married a Mexican and went to live in Monterey. Things were very strange at first, but she is now a full fledged senora and loves living in Mexico.

There are books at the Ouachita Parish Public Library for every reading taste. If you are not taking advantage of its resources, you are neglecting a wonderful opportunity for pleasure and profit.

To show their appreciation of the School of Instruction conducted annually by the Twin City Council of P. T. A., ten members of Barkdull Faulk P. T. A. were present Wednesday morning to attend classes conducted by the various instructors.

Following the invocation by Mr. Dan Caldwell, Mrs. A. R. Doughty led the assembly singing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Carl Thompson.

Mrs. Beth Breese always takes time to do her part in P.-T. A., aside from her many other activities, and, as her contribution toward making the program an interesting one, she gave two dramatic readings.

As a faithful worker of long standing, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese explained the "dos" and "don'ts" in P.-T. A. work, to bring about a closer and more gratifying relationship between parents and teachers.

Dr. Henry Sageser, of Northeast Louisiana State College's psychology department, is most generous in sharing his knowledge with others and, as guest speaker on the program, his address to the assembly was most helpful. Dr. Sageser spoke on pre-adolescence, explaining what phase of a child's life is known as pre-adolescence. His advice of what and how to do in the home during this particular age was most helpful to mothers trying to solve daily problems.

Mrs. James Larkan, Jr., general chairman, introduced the following instructors: presidents and vice presidents, Mrs. F. D. Luton; hospitality and membership, Mrs. W. F. Roberts; safety, Mrs. W. J. Veazey; room mothers, Mrs. Harold Brady; budget, finance and treasurers, Mr. Dan Caldwell; scrapbook and publicity, Mrs. James Larkan, Jr.; program planning, year books and goals, Mrs. C. R. Simpson; secretaries and welfare, Mrs. Helen Smith; legislation, Mrs. George Varino; civil defense and health, Mr. Clay Johnson.

Attendance certificates were awarded to Barkdull Faulk and Lida Benton Schools.

Women Of Church Celebrate Anniversary

WATERPROOF — During the last week of the church extension season, Mrs. W. T. Lanius and Mrs. John Rucker were co-hostesses in their home to the Women of the Presbyterian Church.

The meeting opened with the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. Earl Hunter reviewed some of the study of Jacob's Ladder and explained something of the work being done for the Negroes besides the money allocated to Stillman College. Following this, Mrs. Hunter then gave an account of the work of home missions. With maps, she showed many of the areas receiving home mission aid. Mountain areas, Indian work, Latin American and foreign language groups etc. Miss Mary Seddon, who had been rather closely associated with some of these missions gave several interesting accounts of her experiences. The main thought in the whole study was to strengthen the stakes of home missions in order that the cords of church extension might be lengthened.

Continuing the program, Mrs. John Rucker, in the study of "Portraits of the Master" gave the human side of "Jesus as the Son of Man."

During the social hour that followed, the group celebrated the 27th anniversary of the organization of the auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church in Waterproof. The cake with 27 candles was cut by Miss Mary Seddon and many good wishes were made for the future work of the Women of the Church.

The minutes of that meeting were read by Mrs. Hunter. There were ninteeen members present and of that number Mrs. Long, Miss Mary Seddon, Mrs. Earl Hunter, and Miss Rose Guice are the only charter members in the present organization.

Those enjoying the meeting were Mrs. W. F. Long, Miss Mary Seddon, Mrs. B. L. Moss, Miss Charlotte Gottlob, Mrs. Earl T. Hunter, Mrs. John Rucker, Mrs. W. T. Lanius and Miss Rose Guice.

By coating candles (all but the wicks) with soapsuds, you'll gain candles that last longer and burn without smoking or dripping. Let them dry in the candleholders before lighting.

MRS. ED E. MEREDITH, JR.—was before her marriage in Bastrop, Oct. 2, Miss Grace Aline Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Harper of Rayville. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Meredith of Winnsboro.

Tea Announces Engagement Of Miss Shirley Shepherd

TALLULAH—Mrs. John Carpenter, Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mrs. W. F. Patton entertained with a lovely party at the Carpenter plantation home, Bakalum, honoring Miss Shirley Shepherd. The occasion, featured the announcement of the engagement of Miss Shepherd and Mr. Bobby Grimes.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Patton and presented to the honoree who was lovely in a sky blue silk faille short formal trimmed with bead embroidery, silver slippers and a white corsage at the waist.

Mrs. Frank McDonald presented each guest with a miniature match box to which was attached a green ribbon tied to a note wrapped around a match. Inscribed on the note was "A match has been made, Shirley and Bobby are engaged." Miss LeEvelyn Grace had charge of registration in the bride's book.

Mrs. Johnson directed the guests into the dining room where the beautifully appointed refreshment table with its white organdy cover was centered with sweetheart figurines decorated with fern and white carnations. Green ribbons extending from the center to corners of the table were inscribed with the names "Shirley" and "Bobby."

Mrs. Warren Patrick and Mrs. Zack Chambliss presided at the table serving tea and coffee. Silver platters of delicious sandwiches, pastries and confections were served. Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. W. A. Harris, Mrs. Richard Alexander and Mrs. Ralph Loe.

Margie Dunn Is Bride Of Collins Viola

The Stone Avenue Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the marriage of Miss Marjorie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bordelon of this city and Cpl. Collins Viola, son of Mrs. Hazel Viola of Rayville. The Rev. I. L. Yeager performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz-length wedding gown of white taffeta overlaid with Chantilly lace. The bolero and veil were of white net which draped to finger tips. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with lilies of the valley and centered with a yellow-throated orchid and white satin streamers.

Mrs. T. H. Lutrick, grandmother of the bride, was attired in an aqua dress with a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother was becomingly dressed in a navy blue model with pink carnations.

The bride's table was covered in a handsome white linen cloth. At one end of the table was embossed three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The centerpiece was an arrangement of small white mums.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Meredith and son, Jerry, of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Powers; Mrs. Curtis Moore, all of Shreveport.

CPL. AND MRS. COLLINS VIOLA—cut the wedding cake at their reception following their wedding at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church. The bride is the former Margie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bordelon. Mrs. Hazel Viola of Rayville is the groom's mother.

Roamin' In The Rural

These cool nights and warm days are favorable to plant lice. Keep them under control by spraying with nicotine sulphate spray made by dissolving one cubic inch of yellow soap in one gallon of hot water. Then add 1¼ to 1½ teaspoons of nicotine sulphate to this soapy mixture. Apply spray when temperature is above 70 degrees (around noon). If you find stink bugs injuring your plants, use 20 per cent sabadilla dust.

If you are saving peas and beans to be used for planting next spring use one teaspoon of 5 per cent DDT to each gallon of beans or peas to control weevils. Do not, however, use DDT on peas and beans that are to be eaten.

Here is a list of vegetables that will withstand cold and can be planted in November: beets, mustard, turnips, carrots, shallots, kale spinach, lettuce, radishes, collards, garlic, creole and bermuda onion seeds should also be planted now. Plant bermudas enough to use fresh (they will not keep long) and creoles to store and use all during the year.

Cabbage can be transplanted. Control cut worms with poison bait —10 per cent DDT dust or 20 per cent toxaphene. Bait can be applied to rows before you plant, thus save plants and work.

Have you ordered those strawberry plants? Konvoy variety is recommended for home gardeners.

Landscape Gardening

Fall housecleaning in the garden is as important as in the home. Unless leaves are diseased, don't burn them, but add them to the compost pile. Oak leaves may be applied as mulch directly to roots of hibiscus, angel's trumpet, clerodendron, duranta, plumbago, azaleas, and camellias. Chlordane or 5 per cent DDT dust mixed with the mulch will discourage insects from wintering under it.

Clumps of summer blooming perennials — daylilies, coreapsis, golden glow, rudbeckia, and most dalsies may be divided now. Cut the tops to within six inches of the base divide the clumps by hand, and reset in reworked and refertilized beds.

Don't fertilize evergreen shrubs in early winter and don't prune except to remove diseased branches. Either practice encourages new growth which may be killed by a freeze.

Many bulbs may be planted in November. For nice long stems on hyacinths, plant bulbs at least 3 inches deep if your soil is heavy and from 4 to 5 inches in light sandy soil. Then put on mulch at least inches deep. Bone meal is an excellent fertilize for hyacinths and other bulbs and rhizomes. Be sure to add a few new varieties to your garden.

Those planted Globe — amaranth the dark purple salvia and vince (periwinkles) have been well rewarded as these have bloomed all during September and October in spite of the drouth.

All of us will be doing some landscaping this winter. For any landscape project to succeed the factors gauging success are: choosing the correct shrub, putting the shrub in the right place in the planting scheme, and correct planting of the shrub. So plan well. Helpful bulletins may be obtained from the extension service.

Don't forget to plan a patio and barbecue near your kitchen. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ownes of Cypress community this project is in progress.

Inside House Cleaning—Curtains

Many curtains will need freshening. or replacing. Curtains if washed in an automatic washer should be put in sacks to prevent them from knotting and tearing. They should be rolled in a sheet and pressed while damp. If you are replacing curtains, try materials that need no ironing. Color of old curtains may be freshened by dyeing. Use your washing machine for this job.

See you next week.

Wilhite-Parker Vows Pledged In Church Ceremony

A double ring ceremony marked by simplicity united in marriage Miss Bobbie Ann Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Howard Parker and Robert Lane Wilhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wilhite, both of this city.

The wedding was solemnized at Stone Avenue Methodist Church on Friday at 7 o'clock in the evening with Rev. I. L. Yeager officiating.

The altar was banked with ivy intermingled with gardenias. In the back ground were intricately designed candelabra of wrought iron holding lighted tapers—matching floor standards were filled with gardenias and trailing ivy.

Before the service the candles were lighted by Rev. Ben Clay and Mr. Bobby Carile who served as ushers.

The traditional wedding march was played as the bridal party entered. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a tailored suit of dusty rose, her corsage was a single orchid and she carried a white Bible.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Parker chose a gray suit with pink and black accessories. Her corsage was of white asters. Mrs. Wilhite wore a navy blue suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was also of white asters.

A reception followed in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was covered with white linen cloth. The centerpiece was white gardenias flanked with crystal candle holders tied with satin bows. Streamers ran from the centerpiece to the tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Jane DeMasterson served at the punch bowl. Mrs. Milton Butler and Mrs. Marie Simpson assisted in the serving.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Monroe.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Royals of McGehee, Ark., grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Fred Holt of McGehee and Mrs. J. W. Royals of McGehee, also relatives of the bride.

You'll be more likely to use hand cream often enough if you keep it handy. Have a jar in medicine cabinet, at kitchen sink and in night table.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LANE WILHITE cut their wedding cake at the reception which followed their wedding at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church. The bride is the former Bobbie Ann Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parker. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wilhite are parents of the bridegroom.

Edna Aurelia Bishop Weds J. Brock In Home Ceremony

LAKE PROVIDENCE — On Wednesday, October 14, at 5:30 in the afternoon, Miss Edna Aurelia Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Poole Bishop became the bride of Mr. Joseph Lawrence Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Brock, Winnsboro.

Rev. C. A. Martin, pastor of the Lake Providence First Baptist Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

An improvised wedding setting had been created before the mantel, in the M. M. Walsworth home, scene of the ceremony. Background for white floor baskets of gladioli, daisy chrysanthemums, stock and frosted plumosa fern, fronted with huge bows of white taffeta ribbon, were graduated seven branched candelabra in which burned tall white tapers. Decor for the mantel shelf was a low pottery bowl overflowing with duplicate flowers from the floor baskets. The setting was reflected in an antique gold leafed mirror.

Mrs. C. A. Martin rendered the selection "Oh! Promise Me," as the wedding party grouped for the wedding vows.

The bride wore a tailored suit of silver grey flannel, black braid trim on Peter Pan collar and pockets. The white nylon blouse, tucked front, had the shallow V neck closed by a rhinestone clip. A winter white wool felt pill box, banded in rhinestone centered lace medallions and shoulder corsage of purple throated white orchid, completed the faultless grooming.

Mrs. Inez Bell Kellum, the bride's only attendant, chose a tailored suit of blue bird blue with black undertone. The two tone velvet calot, in beige and copper, had a short tie back veil. Her shoulder corsage was of white carnations.

Choose Shoes To Suit Legs

Some women past 40 have been fortunate enough to retain the slim beauty of their legs and feet. They can wear any of the high fashion shoes and look smart.

If you are not one of the fortunate ones, you would do well to select your shoes with care. Probably the most satisfactory shoe is the simple pump.

A perennial fashion favorite, the pump lends a dignified background to any costume without calling attention to broad feet or heavy veined legs.

Margie Dunn Is Bride Of Collins Viola

The Stone Avenue Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the marriage of Miss Marjorie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bordelon of this city and Cpl. Collins Viola, son of Mrs. Hazel Viola of Rayville. The Rev. I. L. Yeager performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz-length wedding gown of white taffeta overlaid with Chantilly lace. The bolero and veil were of white net which draped to finger tips. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with lilies of the valley and centered with a yellow-throated orchid and white satin streamers.

Mrs. T. H. Lutrick, grandmother of the bride, was attired in an aqua dress with a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother was becomingly dressed in a navy blue model with pink carnations.

The bride's table was covered in a handsome white linen cloth. At one end of the table was embossed three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The centerpiece was an arrangement of small white mums.

CPL. AND MRS. COLLINS VIOLA—cut the wedding cake at their reception following their wedding at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church. The bride is the former Margie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bordelon. Mrs. Hazel Viola of Rayville is the groom's mother.

Roamin' In The Rural

These cool nights and warm days are favorable to plant lice. Keep them under control by spraying with nicotine sulphate spray made by dissolving one cubic inch of yellow soap in one gallon of hot water. Then add 1¼ to 1½ teaspoons of nicotine sulphate to this soapy mixture. Apply spray when temperature is above 70 degrees (around noon). If you find stink bugs injuring your plants, use 20 per cent sabadilla dust.

If you are saving peas and beans to be used for planting next spring use one teaspoon of 5 per cent DDT to each gallon of beans or peas to control weevils. Do not, however, use DDT on peas and beans that are to be eaten.

Here is a list of vegetables that will withstand cold and can be planted in November: beets, mustard, turnips, carrots, shallots, kale spinach, lettuce, radishes, collards, garlic, creole and bermuda onion seeds should also be planted now. Plant bermudas enough to use fresh (they will not keep long) and creoles to store and use all during the year.

Cabbage can be transplanted. Control cut worms with poison bait —10 per cent DDT dust or 20 per cent toxaphene. Bait can be applied to rows before you plant, thus save plants and work.

Have you ordered those strawberry plants? Konvoy variety is recommended for home gardeners.

Landscape Gardening

Fall housecleaning in the garden is as important as in the home. Unless leaves are diseased, don't burn them, but add them to the compost pile. Oak leaves may be applied as mulch directly to roots of hibiscus, angel's trumpet, clerodendron, duranta, plumbago, azaleas, and camellias. Chlordane or 5 per cent DDT dust mixed with the mulch will discourage insects from wintering under it.

Clumps of summer blooming perennials — daylilies, coreapsis, golden glow, rudbeckia, and most daisies may be divided now. Cut the tops to within six inches of the base divide the clumps by hand, and reset in reworked and refertilized beds.

Don't fertilize evergreen shrubs in early winter and don't prune except to remove diseased branches. Either practice encourages new growth which may be killed by a freeze.

Many bulbs may be planted in November. For nice long stems on hyacinths, plant bulbs at least 3 inches deep if your soil is heavy and from 4 to 5 inches in light sandy soil. Then put on mulch at least inches deep. Bone meal is an excellent fertilize for hyacinths and other bulbs and rhizomes. Be sure to add a few new varieties to your garden.

Those planted Globe — amaranth the dark purple salvia and vince (periwinkles) have been well rewarded as these have bloomed all during September and October in spite of the drouth.

All of us will be doing some landscaping this winter. For any landscape project to succeed the factors gauging success are: choosing the correct shrub, putting the shrub in the right place in the planting scheme, and correct planting of the shrub. So plan well. Helpful bulletins may be obtained from the extension service.

Don't forget to plan a patio and barbecue near your kitchen. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ownes of Cypress community this project is in progress.

Inside House Cleaning—Curtains

Many curtains will need freshening, or replacing. Curtains if washed in an automatic washer should be put in sacks to prevent them from knotting and tearing. They should be rolled in a sheet and pressed while damp. If you are replacing curtains, try materials that need no ironing. Color of old curtains may be freshened by dyeing. Use your washing machine for this job.

See you next week.

Use Light Touch For Make-Up

All of us long to achieve a kind of doll - face beauty through cosmetics. While this desired look may seem difficult to attain at first, there is nothing more important. This is especially true this season when the utterly feminine look is the fashion foreground.

The half - comic expression, "putting your face on," that many men employ may be a key to the make-up problem of some women. Cosmetics are not made to change faces, but to enhance them. Attempting the former requires a heavy application of cosmetics, and that can mean only a change for the worse.

The most we can expect from well - applied cosmetics is to accent our best features and to flatter our worst. What is needed is a light handed approach. As with jewelry, a bit less rather than a bit more is a safe guide on the road to perfect taste in cosmetics.

For daytime wear, a light liquid foundation, matching powder, a little rouge, a touch of mascara and eyebrow pencil and lipstick are proper. Consult a cosmetician in a department store when selecting your next foundation and powder to be certain you are using the correct shade.

Eye make - up is important but it is often overdone. Unless you are well on the way to having a deft hand for application, it would be well to avoid eye shadow in the daytime at least. Be sparing in the use of mascara and remove the excess after it has dried. Use eyebrow pencil to fill in a sparse brow.

In order to achieve the light-handed touch, you need effective applicators. One of the cosmetic houses thinks it has a new solution to this problem in sponges. It has just put on the market a set of tiny sponges to accompany each step in make-up application. Using them, says the firm, you will sponge away that hard, artificial look and reveal the much-desired doll-face look.

The packet contains a large sponge, for applying foundation, that's said to allow even coverage as well as speed. A more porous sponge is included for powder. Patting on the powder with this sponge is supposed to eliminate the rubbing which causes wrinkling and enlarged pores.

There is also a small, oblong sponge which you can use to separate your lashes after applying mascara. Dabbing lightly with the same sponge after you have applied eyebrow pencil will help smooth the brow into a lovely, natural - looking line, according to the cosmetic house.

A mattress should be aired daily, turned and vacuumed or brushed once a week.

Make Your Own Glamour Galluses

The younger set is mad about suspenders these days—and the fancier they are, the better.

High school and college girls are making their own these days, to brighten up the classic sweater and skirt outfits. They may be made of felt, elastic or any desired material. A custom touch may be added by covering buttons of the same material and sewing these on the skirt band where the suspenders are attached.

One simple way to make a pair of festive suspenders is to buy black silk elastic about an inch wide, hem the ends into points and wrap strips of gold cord or sequin strips diagonally around the elastic, tacking in place with needle and thread.

Or you can use strips of felt, with decorations to taste, simply cutting the buttonholes and attaching to buttons on the skirt.

Bulb Planting Discussed By Ferriday Garden Club

FERRIDAY—The regular meeting of the Ferriday Garden Club was held in the REA building, Mrs. U. B. Evans, presiding. This meeting proved especially interesting because of the club's renewed enthusiasm over planting bulbs. One project of the Ferriday Garden Club for this year is to plant as many old - fashioned bulbs as possible for the purpose of civic beautification. Hence, this was an ideal time for Mrs. Evans to show her color slides of named varieties of bulbs. All the colors of spring were reflected in these slides and the club thoroughly enjoyed seeing both old - fashioned and named varieties of bulbs. These graded bulbs may be obtained from Mrs. Massey at Pasternack's furniture store at a minimum cost and this sale of bulbs is sponsored by the Ferriday Garden Club. Everyone is urged to buy bulbs as soon as possible.

Mrs. Lyle Maxwell gave a delightful talk on how to work old-fashioned bulbs into your plantings. It was suggested that planting other things, such as iris along with your bulbs would make dead bulb foliage less noticeable. Mrs. Maxwell also pointed out that pansies are especially lovely to plant along with bulbs.

Mrs. Purvis brought pictures of named varieties so that the garden club might acquaint themselves with them and thereby recognize them more readily.

The second part of the program, following the report of Mrs. Mitchell on horticulture, consisted of judging the dried arrangements which were brought to the meeting by Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Torres, Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Davis. Mrs. Payne, who is an accredited flower show judge, very graciously consented to judging the arrangements. The garden club feels that this is a very excellent way for each member to learn the proper method for arranging flowers, and thereby raising the standard of aesthetic appreciation in the club as a whole.

Mrs. Ogden has presented to the library a copy of her book "Flowering Plants from Cuban Gardens."

Following the regular business, Mrs. Evans conducted a class in landscaping, for those members who are interested in learning the proper method of landscaping their homes. This was very instructive and many new homemakers benefitted by her first lesson.

Lovely Scents In Toilet Water

A little luxury is a lovely thing. Knowing this, the makers of the world's most expensive perfume are bringing out this lovely scent in toilet water.

While as expensive as many perfumes, this toilet water is far more powerful than the average cologne. And the ladies who know the morale value of possessing one thing in the champagne class will undoubtedly think it a worthwhile investment.

Because of its high concentration, the perfume, which is made and packaged in France, cannot be sprayed. The new product, besides making the scent available to women with limited budgets, enable those who own the toilet water to surround themselves with it completely.

Use Light Touch For Make-Up

All of us long to achieve a kind of doll - face beauty through cosmetics. While this desired look may seem difficult to attain at first, there is nothing more important. This is especially true this season when the utterly feminine look is the fashion foreground.

The half - comic expression, "putting your face on," that many men employ may be a key to the make-up problem of some women. Cosmetics are not made to change faces, but to enhance them. Attempting the former requires a heavy application of cosmetics, and that can mean only a change for the worse.

The most we can expect from well - applied cosmetics is to accent our best features and to flatter our worst. What is needed is a light handed approach. As with jewelry, a bit less rather than a bit more is a safe guide on the road to perfect taste in cosmetics.

For daytime wear, a light liquid foundation, matching powder, a little rouge, a touch of mascara and eyebrow pencil and lipstick are proper. Consult a cosmetician in a department store when selecting your next foundation and powder to be certain you are using the correct shade.

Eye make - up is important but it is often overdone. Unless you are well on the way to having a deft hand for application, it would be well to avoid eye shadow in the daytime at least. Be sparing in the use of mascara and remove the excess after it has dried. Use eyebrow pencil to fill in a sparse brow.

In order to achieve the light-handed touch, you need effective applicators. One of the cosmetic houses thinks it has a new solution to this problem in sponges. It has just put on the market a set of tiny sponges to accompany each step in make-up application. Using them, says the firm, you will sponge away that hard, artificial look and reveal the much-desired doll-face look.

The packet contains a large sponge, for applying foundation, that's said to allow even coverage as well as speed. A more porous sponge is included for powder. Patting on the powder with this sponge is supposed to eliminate the rubbing which causes wrinkling and enlarged pores.

There is also a small, oblong sponge which you can use to separate your lashes after applying mascara. Dabbing lightly with the same sponge after you have applied eyebrow pencil will help smooth the brow into a lovely, natural - looking line, according to the cosmetic house.

A mattress should be aired daily, turned and vacuumed or brushed once a week.

Miss Sharp announced the club would have a special guest speaker for their next meeting: Mrs. Hensen, a German woman who is in the United States for a 45 day tour and who is being brought to Monroe by the Welcome Branch Book Club and the U. S. Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. All Y-Teens will attend this special meeting on October 28.

MRS. MILTON HALL until her marriage on the 26th of September was Miss Gail Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fleming. Mr. Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Young youngster's storm boots will slip on easily if you put a pair of large old socks on over his shoes first. Cut off the tops of the socks.

Protect your baby from electric light cords by taping them to the back ot table legs with transparent tape. What he doesn't see will not tempt him.

Careful Packing Light And Right

While this year's vacation is already a memory for most people, weekending keeps the packing problem before us.

Actually, the week-end jaunt presents the greatest problem. The smart girl is determined to go fully equipped but unencumbered. So into her week-end case go all the grooming aids that would accompany her on a vacation trip.

Heavy items like shoes should go to the bottom of the case. By the way, don't over look the storage possibility of the shoe. Numerous tiny items can be carried inside each one.

Instead of using tissue paper to separate layers of clothing, use the plastic bags that hold your lingerie, handkerchiefs and sweaters.

Your beauty preparations can be poured into plastic bottles that take up little room besides eliminating breakage worries. And leave that cumbersome box of dusting powder at home and pack a slim bottle of talc instead.

The Really Y's Club of Y-Teens met at the Y on Thursday afternoon with Pat Worley, president, presiding at the meeting. The Y-Teen song was sung to open the program. A new member, Pat Hardy was introduced and welcomed by the club. Armande McHenry, council representative, gave a report and stated that all Y-Teens are cooperating in the world fellowship project: "Scarfs Around the World." Each Y-Teen will contribute ten cents for the project, five cents will be sent to the National YWCA world fellowship and five cents will be given to the fund to buy the scarfs. The club was priviledged to have Dr. Hugh Bradshaw as a guest for their meeting and he introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Cecil Lang, home mission representative of the Presbyterian Church with headquarters in Dallas, Tex. Dr. Lang talked on "Living A Life" emphasizing the purposes of our life and the importance of Christ's way of living. He used the verse of Scripture: "For Me to Live Is Christ" as the basis of his talk. The meeting was closed with the motto.

Lynda Eby, president of the Y-Ettes' Club of Y-Teens, called the meeting to order and the group sang: "The Y-Teen Song." Mary Coon gave the devotional, a selection from one of the Y-Teen devotional books. "Why Are We Here?" was the theme for the most enjoyable and helpful talk which Rev. John Allin, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, gave to the group. Reverend Allin stressed the importance of knowing why we are here, the purpose of our life, the faith and the things we believe in: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God." The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto. Two new members have been welcomed to the club: Jimmie Hibbard and Barbara Lowry.

The Jolly Y Janes' Club honored their former president, Edna Jean Berry Ferguson, who has resigned from the club since she has married and is moving to Atlanta, Ga., and presented her a gift: a platter and vegetable dish in her chosen pattern of china. Mrs. Berry, Edna Jean's mother, was a guest for the club meeting, too. During the business part of the meeting Carolyn McKay was elected corresponding secretary, and Sue Elliott was elected council representative. The club closed with the Y-Teen motto. Betty Case gave the devotional.

"Service to the Community" is one of the emphases of Y-Teens and the Be Y's Club enjoyed their meeting on Wednesday because they were having fun while rendering service to their community. This group folded 3,000 sheets of Christmas seals for the TB association. Miss Sharp announced the club would have a special guest speaker for their next meeting: Mrs. Hensen, a German woman who is in the United States for a 45 day tour and who is being brought to Monroe by the Welcome Branch Book Club and the U. S. Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. All Y-Teens will attend this special meeting on October 28.

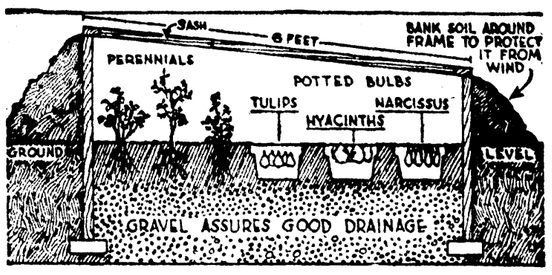
Scientists Tell How To Grow Bulbs Indoors



Suggestions for Fall Use of Cold Frames

Amateur gardeners who have cold frames, and would like to pursue their hobby in the winter, will find daffodils and tulips easy to flower in their homes, if they follow the methods prescribed by research workers in our largest universities.

Simple but precise instructions have been compiled, as a guide to commercial flower growers. Spring flowering bulbs are the easiest of flowers to "force" into bloom indoors for several reasons. One is that they do not require as much light as most flowers, and will get enough in a sunny window, or even without direct sunlight, if the day light is supplemented by light from lamps.

The first step is to prepare a good potting soil, and obtain flower pots, which should be at least 6 inches in diameter if several bulbs are to be grown in each. Then buy your bulbs, of good "forcing" varieties. Favorite tulip varieties with florists are Darwin and Cottage types, such as Red Pitt, Bartigon, a red; Golden Harvest, a large yellow, Albino, white; and William Copeland, lavender. Large trumpet daffodils are the favorites, but all types can be grown indoors.

As soon as the bulbs are obtained they should be planted, as they must spend from six to 10 weeks in a temperature between 40 and 50 degrees. Research men say exactly 48 degrees is best. But if you cannot provide exactly this temperature indoors, place the pots in your cold frame, first soaking the soil there with cold water.

Sink the pots in the soil, cover them with 3 inches of sand, and shade the frame to prevent sunshine raising the soil temperature. The bulbs will develop root growth under these conditions, and should be kept there until top shoots are at least two to three inches high.

Before freezing weather begins, cover the bulbs with a heavy layer of oak leaves or straw. The soil in the pots should not be allowed to dry out, but good and quick drainage is essential. Bulbs can be kept in this storage after the top growth has begun, and brought into the house at intervals, in order to provide a longer season of bloom.

When brought into the house, the bulbs should be placed where they will have light of 2,000 foot candles, during the brightest time of a sunny day. This light will give a reading of 500 on a Weston photographic meter, when reflected from two thicknesses of white paper. If there is not enough sun, use either tungsten or flourescent lamps to provide additional light needed.

Temperature should not exceed 70 degrees and should average 63 degrees by day, and 55 to 60 at night. When first brought in, it is best to keep them for a week or more in a light room with a 55 degree maximum temperature until flower stems develop. Watering should be carefully watched and the pots should never become dry at any stage of growth.

Do not try to grow tulips and daffodils indoors unless they can be kept cool day and night, because the closer they are grown to 60 degrees the better will be their flowers, and 70 degrees should never be exceeded. A sunparlor or enclosed porch can usually be kept cool; and temperatures near a window in the living room may be low enough.

It usually takes a month or more for flowers to develop fully after the bulbs have been brought into the house. Any attempt to speed flowering by giving higher temperatures may result in disappointment.

Southern Gardener

Some New Books

All of us are interested in fragrant plants in one way or another If a flower has beauty but no fragrance, it seldon lasts very long in the competition with the sweet smelling varieties. We like to think of our gardens as possessing the charm of fragrance which old fashioned gardens had and about which poets have always written. Norman Taylor has recently given us a charming and practical book on this subject called "Fragrance in the Garden." It is one of Van Nostrand's handy set of small volumes on various phases of gardening which they call their garden guides series and this volume costs but two dollars. There are several much longer books on the subject of fragrance, but here you will find a lot of information packed into a small space. Mr. Taylor has boiled down the essence of many essences to a few which are the most interesting ones. He has classified the odors of flowers so that the book is a guide to the smells. If you have certain flowers which delight your nose especially, you can find out which other flowers have an odor fairly like that one. Furthermore, you can plan a whole year of different fragrances for your place by planting the various trees, shrubs, perennials, annuals and bulbs which flower in each month. At the end of the book, there are chapters on "Fragrance in the House," "Perfume from Your Garden," and "Potpourri and How to Make It."

Mr. Taylor's recent trip to visit the perfume makers around the Mediterranean where herbs are also grown for the world market has inspired him with all sorts of interesting material for this and his "Herbs in the Garden" — another new book in the Van Nostrand series at the same price. Even if you do not care to go to the trouble to grow a whole herb garden, you probably have a hankering for a few plants of some particular herb which you like to have, fresh from the yard or garden to go into your cooking. If everybody knew how easy most of the common herbs are, there would be more of them used in every day cooking. Mr. Taylor explains that, while, of course, one cannot grow anything in very poor soil, herbs are of better quality when the plants are growing in soil that is not too rich. For this small guide book, he has weeded out a lot of plants which have been thought to have medicinal values in past centuries but have been found out by modern scientists not to have any curative values at all. At the same time, he says that there are some such plants which have come to be so closely associated with the literature and lore of the past that we still grow them for their historical and sentimental values. But what most of us want to know is how to grow the various herbs we are interested in, and the full details of the cultivation of each herb are given in the book. A useful list of nurseries where one can buy either plants or seeds of these plants is included on page 13, too.

Another Van Nostrand gardening book of the greatest importance is Dr. Cynthia Westcott's "Garden Enemies." Southerners will always be grateful to Dr. Westcott for her part in discovering what causes the azalea blossoms to suddenly wilt and turn brown after they have come out. She travels through the south annually, lecturing and gathering more research notes on our bugs and garden pests from Maryland to Texas. In all her series of books on plant pests, you will find special notes and helpful suggestions about southern conditions. It is good to know that books published in the north include us in their instructions. "Garden Enemies" ($3.50) is a well organized book. We gardeners know what plant is being destroyed by some "Varmint" or other. What we want to know is "what on earth" is doing the damage! Well, you can certainly find out in a hurry in this book by turning to the name of the plant that is "being et." Under this heading in the charts, you will find the various pests and diseases that destroy that particular plant. In the next column, you will find instructions on what you can do to the pests to get revenge. Dr. Westcott suggests poisoned peanuts placed in the runs of pine mice where they are destructive. The poisoned nuts can be covered over with roofing paper to keep birds from eating the nuts.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

A—Some varieties will survive the winter with no protection, especially in the warmer parts of the country. Nevertheless, evergreen branches or a little straw thrown over them tends to reduce heaving. Where winters are severe the plants are best taken up and wintered in a cold frame. In the spring only the most vigorous shoots should be used to start new plants.

The Home Shift With

Mildred Swift

October the 20th was the twenty-fourth anniversary of the Morning World. I well remember that day. We had just moved to Monroe from a small town that published a weekly paper. That was sheer luxury to us to have a paper delivered every morning. It's a service we take for granted until occasionally something happens and the paper is late arriving. Have you ever noticed what a hub-hub that causes in the neighborhood? Everybody is in the yard or calling from windows to everybody else, "Has your paper come?" "I bet Mrs. Blank's dog took our papers." "Look in your shrubbery bed!" "Maybe the plant broke down." Such confusion. Pop gets in a bad humor. Junior wants to read the funnies before he goes to school. Mom can't see who has been where or what the garden page says. (I hope it's the Home Shift she wants to read). Everything is confused until you hear the sound of a car and that "thud" that announces "The paper has come." Tempers cool, temperatures return to normal. Then, you suddenly realize just what that morning paper does mean to families. Congratulations, Morning World on twenty-four years of service to north Louisiana.

Garden Notes

As soon as your clematis stop blooming, prune back any outgrown part you want to get out of the way. After it rains, fertilize your wisteria with 5-10-5. You note I'm saying that formula rather often. Few of us have storage room for all different kinds of fertilizers. If we keep 5-10-5 for all general purposes such as lawns and shrubs, cotton seed meal for transplanting, bone meal for bults and a few pounds of nitrate for roses that's about all we have room to keep in our small storage spaces.

Before the frosts come take up your caladium bulbs. Dig them with no dirt, being careful not to cut the bulb. Let them dry thoroughly, tops and bulbs, then cut the tops off. Put them in a box of dry sand or peat moss. I can't remember who told me they had such good luck with their caladium bulbs by putting them in an orange sack and hanging them in a dry place.

Also, before the frosts get here prune back your hibiscus and transplant them in gallon buckets. Keep the plants in a warm place. They must have sun and must be kept watered during the winter. Mrs. Bagwell says you'll have blooms all through the winter if you give them these conditions. A sunny window in a utility room is an ideal place for the pots. If you have no place to keep your hibiscus in that manner, mulch them heavily and take a chance on getting through the winter. Be sure to take up some dirt with each plant when transplanting.

There are pansy and calendula plants in the seed stores and nurseries now, if you want to put out these plants and keep them watered.

When the leaves fall add them to the compost pile. Oak leaves and pine straw can be put around azaleas and camellias, as they fall. Chlordane or 5 per cent DDT dust mixed with this mulch will discourage insects from wintering under it.

It's just not time to fertilize or transplant shrubs, now. I know you're restless to get started since the weather is cooler, but wait till we've had lots of rains and frosts. December, January and February are our best planting months.

Don't forget to put your tulip bulbs in the ice box for at least two weeks before planting. This climate is not quite as cold as tulips like, so chilling them in the ice box for a while helps them off to a good start. Don't expect this bulb to come up again next year. Occasionally a few will appear but not often. Every new home owner yearns for a bed of tulips, and I don't blame you. They are beautiful but too expensive for the average gardener to replace every year.

Scilla can be planted any time between now and Christmas. You can buy the blue, pink or white. Pink ones don't multiply as rapidly as blue or white. This is one bulb that likes acid soil so can be planted in your beds that you keep mulched. They come back year after year. Another name for Scilla is Blue Bell.

Fall Colors

On the drive to Baton Rouge this week the Sumacs were strutting their gorgeous red foliage. Many of our trees that are usually so colorful in the fall are dropping their leaves because of the drouth. We'll miss the fall show. On many of the West Monroe rural roads the purple French Mulberry is in color. Very dusty but still pretty for the house when you want the purple color scheme. Of course, the leaves will have to be clipped and berries washed. Mae Mouk called my attention to the beauty of this plant for the house, many years ago. I've enjoyed them every year since.

Dates and Doin's

I'm looking forward to a bowl of Mrs. Guerriero's delicious gumbo at the Catholic Bazaar November 4th and 5th. November 14th is the date for the Welcome Garden Club flower show at Mitchell School cafeteria. This is always an outstanding treat.

You're invited to tune in to KNOE-TV Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 for the "Around Home" prigram. Lovely little Judy Johnson will model, and we'll show you clothes made at home for the preschool Little Miss.

See you next Sunday.

Plant Some Bulbs, Brighten Days

Everyone who loves plants should pot a few bulbs for bloom in the window during the winter, or grow a few paper-white narcissus to liven the dull, snowy months.

While bulbs are potted, it is important to put a few pieces of broken pots in the bottom for drainage, with a little moss over them and two or three pieces of charcoal embedded in the moss.

The pots can then be filled to within a third of the top. A good potting soil from the nearest seedman or florist may be used, or you can make your own from rich garden loam and one part sand.

Hyacinths and daffodils should be planted so the nose just protrudes when the pot has been filled to within a half inch of the top.

Other kinds should be entirely covered, the tops being just below the surface. Bulbs may be stored away in a cold, dark place until roots are made. When this is done, it is well to heap sand over the pots.

If you have a cold frame, that is also a good place to store potted bulbs, the pots being sunken in the ground and the sand thrown over them. It is even possible to dig a trench out of doors in which the pots are buried; hay or manure may be used to keep the ground from freezing.

The trenches should be two feet deep, with a layer of cinders or sand in the bottom. Cinders or sand may be sifted between the pots and also used to cover them. An extra covering of hay or manure will be needed when very cold weather comes, to prevent freezing.

The pots should be given a thorough soaking before being stored away. The time required for the making of roots depends upon the character of the bulbs. The following table may be used as a guide:

Tulips: Ten weeks.

Crocus: Eight weeks.

Scilla: Six weeks.

Before forcing is begun it is a good idea to dig up the pots and allow the pot of earth to fall out of the pot into the hand. Then, if a heavy growth of roots is found, the bulbs may be taken into the house. Forcing is best started in a temperature of about 50, without any direct sunlight. The temperature can be increased gradually. It is important to avoid drafts and they must not be set too close to a radiator.

Notes From The Garden Center

Mr. Harry Hipp of Calhoun, known in our section as an iris grower, brought to the garden center this week several iris bulletins and also an iris manual.

Second place was given to an arrangement of bittersweet in a Japanese bowl. Mrs. W. B. James won a first place on her specimen rose. Mrs. Dewey Barr won second on specimen zinnias and third on ceolsia.

Mrs. B. H. Talbot and Mrs. J. M. Pirkle of Ruston judged the exhibits. The judges who serve each week deserve our gratitute. They give freely of their time and often travel from a great distance.

The Ferriday Club will exhibit next week. This club recently gave a check for $10.00 toward books for lending library of the center.

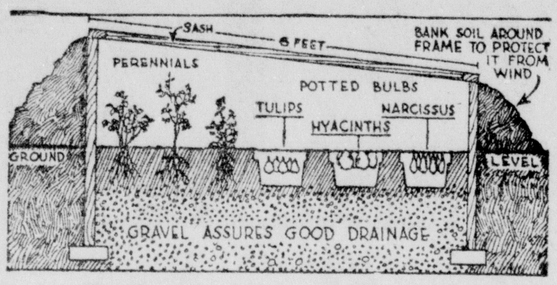
Scientists Tell How To Grow Bulbs Indoors



Suggestions for Fall Use of Cold Frames

Amateur gardeners who have cold frames, and would like to pursue their hobby in the winter, will find daffodils and tulips easy to flower in their homes, if they follow the methods prescribed by research workers in our largest universities.

Simple but precise instructions have been compiled, as a guide to commercial flower growers. Spring flowering bulbs are the easiest of flowers to "force" into bloom indoors for several reasons. One is that they do not require as much light as most flowers, and will get enough in a sunny window, or even without direct sunlight, if the day light is supplemented by light from lamps.

The first step is to prepare a good potting soil, and obtain flower pots, which should be at least 6 inches in diameter if several bulbs are to be grown in each. Then buy your bulbs, of good "forcing" varieties. Favorite tulip varieties with florists are Darwin and Cottage types, such as Red Pitt, Bartigon, a red; Golden Harvest, a large yellow, Albino, white; and William Copeland, lavender. Large trumpet daffodils are the favorites, but all types can be grown indoors.

As soon as the bulbs are obtained they should be planted, as they must spend from six to 10 weeks in a temperature between 40 and 50 degrees. Research men say exactly 48 degrees is best. But if you cannot provide exactly this temperature indoors, place the pots in your cold frame, first soaking the soil there with cold water.

Sink the pots in the soil, cover them with 3 inches of sand, and shade the frame to prevent sunshine raising the soil temperature. The bulbs will develop root growth under these conditions, and should be kept there until top shoots are at least two to three inches high.

Before freezing weather begins, cover the bulbs with a heavy layer of oak leaves or straw. The soil in the pots should not be allowed to dry out, but good and quick drainage is essential. Bulbs can be kept in this storage after the top growth has begun, and brought into the house at intervals, in order to provide a longer season of bloom.

When brought into the house, the bulbs should be placed where they will have light of 2,000 foot candles, during the brightest time of a sunny day. This light will give a reading of 500 on a Weston photographic meter, when reflected from two thicknesses of white paper. If there is not enough sun, use either tungsten or flourescent lamps to provide additional light needed.

Temperature should not exceed 70 degrees and should average 63 degrees by day, and 55 to 60 at night. When first brought in, it is best to keep them for a week or more in a light room with a 55 degree maximum temperature until flower stems develop. Watering should be carefully watched and the pots should never become dry at any stage of growth.

Do not try to grow tulips and daffodils indoors unless they can be kept cool day and night, because the closer they are grown to 60 degrees the better will be their flowers, and 70 degrees should never be exceeded. A sunparlor or enclosed porch can usually be kept cool; and temperatures near a window in the living room may be low enough.

It usually takes a month or more for flowers to develop fully after the bulbs have been brought into the house. Any attempt to speed flowering by giving higher temperatures may result in disappointment.

Southern Gardener

Some New Books

All of us are interested in fragrant plants in one way or another If a flower has beauty but no fragrance, it seldon lasts very long in the competition with the sweet smelling varieties. We like to think of our gardens as possessing the charm of fragrance which old fashioned gardens had and about which poets have always written. Norman Taylor has recently given us a charming and practical book on this subject called "Fragrance in the Garden." It is one of Van Nostrand's handy set of small volumes on various phases of gardening which they call their garden guides series and this volume costs but two dollars. There are several much longer books on the subject of fragrance, but here you will find a lot of information packed into a small space. Mr. Taylor has boiled down the essence of many essences to a few which are the most interesting ones. He has classified the odors of flowers so that the book is a guide to the smells. If you have certain flowers which delight your nose especially, you can find out which other flowers have an odor fairly like that one. Furthermore, you can plan a whole year of different fragrances for your place by planting the various trees, shrubs, perennials, annuals and bulbs which flower in each month. At the end of the book, there are chapters on "Fragrance in the House," "Perfume from Your Garden," and "Potpourri and How to Make It."

Mr. Taylor's recent trip to visit the perfume makers around the Mediterranean where herbs are also grown for the world market has inspired him with all sorts of interesting material for this and his "Herbs in the Garden" — another new book in the Van Nostrand series at the same price. Even if you do not care to go to the trouble to grow a whole herb garden, you probably have a hankering for a few plants of some particular herb which you like to have, fresh from the yard or garden to go into your cooking. If everybody knew how easy most of the common herbs are, there would be more of them used in every day cooking. Mr. Taylor explains that, while, of course, one cannot grow anything in very poor soil, herbs are of better quality when the plants are growing in soil that is not too rich. For this small guide book, he has weeded out a lot of plants which have been thought to have medicinal values in past centuries but have been found out by modern scientists not to have any curative values at all. At the same time, he says that there are some such plants which have come to be so closely associated with the literature and lore of the past that we still grow them for their historical and sentimental values. But what most of us want to know is how to grow the various herbs we are interested in, and the full details of the cultivation of each herb are given in the book. A useful list of nurseries where one can buy either plants or seeds of these plants is included on page 13, too.

Another Van Nostrand gardening book of the greatest importance is Dr. Cynthia Westcott's "Garden Enemies." Southerners will always be grateful to Dr. Westcott for her part in discovering what causes the azalea blossoms to suddenly wilt and turn brown after they have come out. She travels through the south annually, lecturing and gathering more research notes on our bugs and garden pests from Maryland to Texas. In all her series of books on plant pests, you will find special notes and helpful suggestions about southern conditions. It is good to know that books published in the north include us in their instructions. "Garden Enemies" ($3.50) is a well organized book. We gardeners know what plant is being destroyed by some "Varmint" or other. What we want to know is "what on earth" is doing the damage! Well, you can certainly find out in a hurry in this book by turning to the name of the plant that is "being et." Under this heading in the charts, you will find the various pests and diseases that destroy that particular plant. In the next column, you will find instructions on what you can do to the pests to get revenge. Dr. Westcott suggests poisoned peanuts placed in the runs of pine mice where they are destructive. The poisoned nuts can be covered over with roofing paper to keep birds from eating the nuts.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

A—Some varieties will survive the winter with no protection, especially in the warmer parts of the country. Nevertheless, evergreen branches or a little straw thrown over them tends to reduce heaving. Where winters are severe the plants are best taken up and wintered in a cold frame. In the spring only the most vigorous shoots should be used to start new plants.

The Home Shift With

Mildred Swift

October the 20th was the twenty-fourth anniversary of the Morning World. I well remember that day. We had just moved to Monroe from a small town that published a weekly paper. That was sheer luxury to us to have a paper delivered every morning. It's a service we take for granted until occasionally something happens and the paper is late arriving. Have you ever noticed what a hub-hub that causes in the neighborhood? Everybody is in the yard or calling from windows to everybody else, "Has your paper come?" "I bet Mrs. Blank's dog took our papers." "Look in your shrubbery bed!" "Maybe the plant broke down." Such confusion. Pop gets in a bad humor. Junior wants to read the funnies before he goes to school. Mom can't see who has been where or what the garden page says. (I hope it's the Home Shift she wants to read). Everything is confused until you hear the sound of a car and that "thud" that announces "The paper has come." Tempers cool, temperatures return to normal. Then, you suddenly realize just what that morning paper does mean to families. Congratulations, Morning World on twenty-four years of service to north Louisiana.

Garden Notes

As soon as your clematis stop blooming, prune back any outgrown part you want to get out of the way. After it rains, fertilize your wisteria with 5-10-5. You note I'm saying that formula rather often. Few of us have storage room for all different kinds of fertilizers. If we keep 5-10-5 for all general purposes such as lawns and shrubs, cotton seed meal for transplanting, bone meal for bults and a few pounds of nitrate for roses that's about all we have room to keep in our small storage spaces.

Before the frosts come take up your caladium bulbs. Dig them with no dirt, being careful not to cut the bulb. Let them dry thoroughly, tops and bulbs, then cut the tops off. Put them in a box of dry sand or peat moss. I can't remember who told me they had such good luck with their caladium bulbs by putting them in an orange sack and hanging them in a dry place.

Also, before the frosts get here prune back your hibiscus and transplant them in gallon buckets. Keep the plants in a warm place. They must have sun and must be kept watered during the winter. Mrs. Bagwell says you'll have blooms all through the winter if you give them these conditions. A sunny window in a utility room is an ideal place for the pots. If you have no place to keep your hibiscus in that manner, mulch them heavily and take a chance on getting through the winter. Be sure to take up some dirt with each plant when transplanting.

There are pansy and calendula plants in the seed stores and nurseries now, if you want to put out these plants and keep them watered.

When the leaves fall add them to the compost pile. Oak leaves and pine straw can be put around azaleas and camellias, as they fall. Chlordane or 5 per cent DDT dust mixed with this mulch will discourage insects from wintering under it.

It's just not time to fertilize or transplant shrubs, now. I know you're restless to get started since the weather is cooler, but wait till we've had lots of rains and frosts. December, January and February are our best planting months.

Don't forget to put your tulip bulbs in the ice box for at least two weeks before planting. This climate is not quite as cold as tulips like, so chilling them in the ice box for a while helps them off to a good start. Don't expect this bulb to come up again next year. Occasionally a few will appear but not often. Every new home owner yearns for a bed of tulips, and I don't blame you. They are beautiful but too expensive for the average gardener to replace every year.

Scilla can be planted any time between now and Christmas. You can buy the blue, pink or white. Pink ones don't multiply as rapidly as blue or white. This is one bulb that likes acid soil so can be planted in your beds that you keep mulched. They come back year after year. Another name for Scilla is Blue Bell.

Fall Colors

On the drive to Baton Rouge this week the Sumacs were strutting their gorgeous red foliage. Many of our trees that are usually so colorful in the fall are dropping their leaves because of the drouth. We'll miss the fall show. On many of the West Monroe rural roads the purple French Mulberry is in color. Very dusty but still pretty for the house when you want the purple color scheme. Of course, the leaves will have to be clipped and berries washed. Mae Mouk called my attention to the beauty of this plant for the house, many years ago. I've enjoyed them every year since.

Dates and Doin's

I'm looking forward to a bowl of Mrs. Guerriero's delicious gumbo at the Catholic Bazaar November 4th and 5th. November 14th is the date for the Welcome Garden Club flower show at Mitchell School cafeteria. This is always an outstanding treat.

You're invited to tune in to KNOE-TV Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 for the "Around Home" prigram. Lovely little Judy Johnson will model, and we'll show you clothes made at home for the preschool Little Miss.

See you next Sunday.

Plant Some Bulbs, Brighten Days

Everyone who loves plants should pot a few bulbs for bloom in the window during the winter, or grow a few paper-white narcissus to liven the dull, snowy months.

While bulbs are potted, it is important to put a few pieces of broken pots in the bottom for drainage, with a little moss over them and two or three pieces of charcoal embedded in the moss.

The pots can then be filled to within a third of the top. A good potting soil from the nearest seedman or florist may be used, or you can make your own from rich garden loam and one part sand.

Hyacinths and daffodils should be planted so the nose just protrudes when the pot has been filled to within a half inch of the top.

Other kinds should be entirely covered, the tops being just below the surface. Bulbs may be stored away in a cold, dark place until roots are made. When this is done, it is well to heap sand over the pots.

If you have a cold frame, that is also a good place to store potted bulbs, the pots being sunken in the ground and the sand thrown over them. It is even possible to dig a trench out of doors in which the pots are buried; hay or manure may be used to keep the ground from freezing.

The trenches should be two feet deep, with a layer of cinders or sand in the bottom. Cinders or sand may be sifted between the pots and also used to cover them. An extra covering of hay or manure will be needed when very cold weather comes, to prevent freezing.

The pots should be given a thorough soaking before being stored away. The time required for the making of roots depends upon the character of the bulbs. The following table may be used as a guide:

Paper-white narcissus: Four weeks (in pebbles or bulb moss).

Tulips: Ten weeks.

Crocus: Eight weeks.

Scilla: Six weeks.

Before forcing is begun it is a good idea to dig up the pots and allow the pot of earth to fall out of the pot into the hand. Then, if a heavy growth of roots is found, the bulbs may be taken into the house. Forcing is best started in a temperature of about 50, without any direct sunlight. The temperature can be increased gradually. It is important to avoid drafts and they must not be set too close to a radiator.

Notes From The Garden Center

Mr. Harry Hipp of Calhoun, known in our section as an iris grower, brought to the garden center this week several iris bulletins and also an iris manual.

Second place was given to an arrangement of bittersweet in a Japanese bowl. Mrs. W. B. James won a first place on her specimen rose. Mrs. Dewey Barr won second on specimen zinnias and third on ceolsia.

Mrs. B. H. Talbot and Mrs. J. M. Pirkle of Ruston judged the exhibits. The judges who serve each week deserve our gratitute. They give freely of their time and often travel from a great distance.

The Ferriday Club will exhibit next week. This club recently gave a check for $10.00 toward books for lending library of the center.

Parkview Baptists Are Sponsoring Mission

The members of Parkview Baptist Church, 1001 Forsythe Avenue, Rev. H. L. Sampson, pastor, recently voted to sponsor a mission in the Highland Park area. Highland Park is one of the fastest growing sections of the Twin Cities and has been without a church. It is believed that this new church will fill a great need for the people living there.

A three acre tract has been purchased by Parkview Baptist Church on which to locate this mission. It will be located on Roberts Street, adjoining the railroad track, which is believed to be convenient to all l ing in that vicinity.

It is plannel that construction will begin on Monday, October 26, looking to holding the first services about Thanksgiving Day. The architect is Allen Turpin, and the contractor is Ira Cagle, both members of Parkview Baptist Church.

This mission will be sponsored by the members of Parkview Baptist Church until such time as it becomes strong enough to become a full time church. Workers will be furnished by the sponsoring church as long as necessary, but it is hoped that in the immediate future the mission will develope its own teachers, officers and others necessary to carry on the work.

This project is being carried on by Parkview Baptist Church as part of its missionary program at home and aboard, in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Convention. Everyone is invited and urged to attend the services of the mission, to be known as Highland Park Mission, as soon as the building is completed.

Trinity Church Will Be Host To Baptist Pastors

The Trenton Pastors' conference will be held in Trinity Baptist Church, West Monroe, Monday, Oct. 26, at 10 a.m. Rev. H. J. Mott is pastor of Trinity church.

Rev. Olin Walters, pastor of Bethel church, will give the scripture exposition; Rev. C. C. Martin, pastor of Fairpark Baptist church, will preach the sermon.

Dinner will be served by the host church at noon. All pastors are invited to attend, states the secretary, Rev. James Thorn.

Free Methodists Have Revival In Progress

The Free Methodist Church, Lincoln and McGuire streets in West Monroe, is the scene of nightly revival services.

The special speaker for the services is Rev. Gilbert James of Greenville, Ill. Rev. James pastored the Shreveport Free Methodist Church before becoming a part of the commission on agressive evangelism of the Free Methodist Church of North America. He is a member of the Louisiana conference of the Free Methodist Church. Rev. James has been speaking on the subjects of "Christian duty," "Victorious Christian Living," "What Is a Christian," and "The Results of Sin." Come and hear the real truth and this truth shall make you free.

Presbyterians In West Monroe In Anniversary

The elders of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, North 4th at Mill Street, West Monroe, have designated October 21 to November 8 as anniversary season with Sunday, November 1st as anniversary Sunday.

The church was organized November 3, 1946 in the library building in West Monroe. Since then it has built a modern brick veneer church home with sanctuary and rooms for Christian education at a cost of $50,000. At present prices of material and labor, the building would cost about $85,000.00.

In 1950 it became apparent that more space was needed for the Sunday school; and this was made possible by the purchase of residence next door to the church now known as the "annex." Nursery, kindergarten and primary classes are held in the "Annex" also temporarily a weekday kindergarten is conducted in this building. One of the anniversary projects will be the removal of the week-day kindergarten to the Highland Chapel, located near the Highland Elementary School, in or near the anniversary date.

The Highland Chapel is nearing completion. This is the first unit of what the leaders hope will be a larger plant. In this first unit, there will be the week-day kindergarten, quarters for Scout troop 11, a Sunday school for nursery and primary children and preaching center. It is thought that the contractor will be able to turn the building over to the Memorial Church before December 1st.

Last spring, the main church plant was completely airconditioned for the comfort of worshipers. It was the judgement of leaders that summer attendance at church and S. S. was on a higher plane than would have been possible had the building not been made comfortable.

East Side Will Hold Baptist Revival Series

The visiting evangelist for these revival services is Elder John L. Smith of near Fordyce, Ark. Brother Smith has had many successful years in the ministry as pastor and evangelist. His humble spirit, his consecrated life, his knowledge of God's Word, and his ability to preach the Gospel are some of the things that make people enjoy hearing him and working with him. Everyone is invited to come and hear him during this week. No doubt many people living now in Monroe and surrounding areas have heard him preach when they lived in Arkansas. If so, take this opportunity to see and hear him again.

The place is located on 80th Street just a short ways from highway 80. This street is located between the highway barn and the overpass on the left going east out of town on highway 80.

To close out these services, the church plans to have something else old-fashioned, as well as the Gospel. That is an old-time "dinner-on-the-ground" and afternoon services. You are invited.

Afternoon Hour To Be Used For Healing Program

The time of the new radio series "How Christian Science Heals" which began six weeks ago, is being changed to 2:00 p.m. each Sunday afternoon. The program is heard over station KNOE. It includes first-hand accounts of healings experienced through the power of prayer.

Following the narrative in which a guest tells how some problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science, there is presented a short inspirational message on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The musical portion of the program presents former Metropolitan Opera Association tenor, Frederick Jagel, accompanied by Ruth Barrett Phelps at the console of the great 13,389-pipe organ of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Commentator in the series is Harry C. Browne, for many years member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship and

Newest Nazarene Church Here Is Making Progress

One of the newest churches of the Twin Cities, the Church of the Nazarene, is making a promising growth. It was formed the past summer and services are all held in Plum Street School until the church edifice is completed, states the minister, Rev. C. E. McCall.

The church has nearly 200 in attendance at Sunday school and the church membership is increasing.

The church has purchased a lot and the construction of the building has already started. It will be hastened as soon as possible to completing. The location is at 1513 South Third street, Monroe, convenient for the members of the church to attend.

It has been decided to name it the Williams Memorial Church, taking name of one of the leaders of the denomination in this state who has died.

A few days ago, Rev. C. E. Bordelon, of the Church of the Nazarene in New Orleans, was here for an inspection trip and he also was encouraged at the progress made in only a few weeks time by this new church.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS
The Morningside Assembly of God Church, at 36 South McGuire Street, Rev. E. J. Graves, pastor, is having a revival with Evangelist Gene Jackson of Cressett, Ark., in charge. It will be continued through the week at 7:30 p.m. each night and the public is cordially invited.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

By Their Fruits They're Known

"By their fruits ye shall know them," said Jesus (Matthew 7:20).

The illustrations was of trees, but Jesus was speaking of people.

This statement is true not only of the hypocritically false and corrupt. It is true of ourselves and of all men.

Anl it is true, also, not only of the fruits f evil, but of the lack of the fruits of good. The fruitlessness of good is only one step removed from being fruitful of evil.

Jesus pronounced His bitterest words against the hypocrites who made a profession of religion but exploited and wronged their fellowmen. He did not condone the victims of temptation and sinful passions, though He treated them with compassion and forgiveness.

He was almost scornful of those whose lives were neither good nor evil, like a barren fig tree, with a show of life, but no fruit.

What does it mean to have a fruitful life? The source of all goodness, the new Testament makes plain, is love, the love of God the example for man. "Beloved, if God so loved us, we must also to love one another." (I John 5:7-11).

In love, Paul declared, was the fulfilling of the law. "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Gallatians 5:14).

In the very chapter in which Paul made this declaration, he proceeded to analyze and set forth in detail the meaning of such love.

Over against the fruits of evil living, all too manifest in the excesses and licentiousness of a pagan world by which the Christians were surrounded, Paul set forth the fruit, or fruits, of the Spirit; that is, of the Spirit of Christ. These fruits he detailed with great precision.

"The fruit of the Spirit," Paul wrote, "is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." Against these things, he says, there is no law.

It is interesting to consider that list. Why did Paul specify love as one of the fruits. And why did he particularly mention "goodness," when it might be thought of as the sum total of all?

I cannot answer, unless it be that what we call "a loving disposition" is a grace and beauty of character, even if it be less than a divine and strongly motivating p..ssion! And it might be possible for a life to display much of these fruits and yet be lacking in deep, effective goodness.

In any case it is not one, or some, of the fruits of the Spirit that mark the well-ord ed, well-rounded Christian life. It is the manifestation of all, and in so far as any one is lacking, to that extent one's life is unfruitful.

An irascible, ill-tempered person may be honest, sincere and righteous, but he will be like a tree with a stretch of bare branches where fruit ought to be.

0. Acts 18:9. Do not be afraid, but speak and do not be silent.
1. Matt. 15:11. Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man, but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.
2. Prov. 18:17. He who states his case first seems right, until the other comes and examines him.

Parkview Baptists Are Sponsoring Mission

The members of Parkview Baptist Church, 1001 Forsythe Avenue, Rev. H. L. Sampson, pastor, recently voted to sponsor a mission in the Highland Park area. Highland Park is one of the fastest growing sections of the Twin Cities and has been without a church. It is believed that this new church will fill a great need for the people living there.

A three acre tract has been purchased by Parkview Baptist Church on which to locate this mission. It will be located on Roberts Street, adjoining the railroad track, which is believed to be convenient to all l ing in that vicinity.

It is plannel that construction will begin on Monday, October 26, looking to holding the first services about Thanksgiving Day. The architect is Allen Turpin, and the contractor is Ira Cagle, both members of Parkview Baptist Church.

This mission will be sponsored by the members of Parkview Baptist Church until such time as it becomes strong enough to become a full time church. Workers will be furnished by the sponsoring church as long as necessary, but it is hoped that in the immediate future the mission will develope its own teachers, officers and others necessary to carry on the work.

This project is being carried on by Parkview Baptist Church as part of its missionary program at home and aboard, in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Convention. Everyone is invited and urged to attend the services of the mission, to be known as Highland Park Mission, as soon as the building is completed.

Presbyterians In West Monroe In Anniversary

The elders of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, North 4th at Mill Street, West Monroe, have designated October 21 to November 8 as anniversary season with Sunday, November 1st as anniversary Sunday.

The church was organized November 3, 1946 in the library building in West Monroe. Since then it has built a modern brick veneer church home with sanctuary and rooms for Christian education at a cost of $50,000. At present prices of material and labor, the building would cost about $85,000.00.

In 1950 it became apparent that more space was needed for the Sunday school; and this was made possible by the purchase of residence next door to the church now known as the "annex." Nursery, kindergarten and primary classes are held in the "Annex" also temporarily a weekday kindergarten is conducted in this building. One of the anniversary projects will be the removal of the week-day kindergarten to the Highland Chapel, located near the Highland Elementary School, in or near the anniversary date.

The Highland Chapel is nearing completion. This is the first unit of what the leaders hope will be a larger plant. In this first unit, there will be the week-day kindergarten, quarters for Scout troop 11, a Sunday school for nursery and primary children and preaching center. It is thought that the contractor will be able to turn the building over to the Memorial Church before December 1st.

Last spring, the main church plant was completely airconditioned for the comfort of worshipers. It was the judgement of leaders that summer attendance at church and S. S. was on a higher plane than would have been possible had the building not been made comfortable.

East Side Will Hold Baptist Revival Series

The visiting evangelist for these revival services is Elder John L. Smith of near Fordyce, Ark. Brother Smith has had many successful years in the ministry as pastor and evangelist. His humble spirit, his consecrated life, his knowledge of God's Word, and his ability to preach the Gospel are some of the things that make people enjoy hearing him and working with him. Everyone is invited to come and hear him during this week. No doubt many people living now in Monroe and surrounding areas have heard him preach when they lived in Arkansas. If so, take this opportunity to see and hear him again.

The place is located on 80th Street just a short ways from highway 80. This street is located between the highway barn and the overpass on the left going east out of town on highway 80.

To close out these services, the church plans to have something else old-fashioned, as well as the Gospel. That is an old-time "dinner-on-the-ground" and afternoon services. You are invited.

Afternoon Hour To Be Used For Healing Program

The time of the new radio series "How Christian Science Heals" which began six weeks ago, is being changed to 2:00 p.m. each Sunday afternoon. The program is heard over station KNOE. It includes first-hand accounts of healings experienced through the power of prayer.

Following the narrative in which a guest tells how some problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science, there is presented a short inspirational message on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The musical portion of the program presents former Metropolitan Opera Association tenor, Frederick Jagel, accompanied by Ruth Barrett Phelps at the console of the great 13,389-pipe organ of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Commentator in the series is Harry C. Browne, for many years member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship and a former president of The Mother Church.

Title of the program is to be heard this week is "A New View of Neighborliness."

Newest Nazarene Church Here Is Making Progress

One of the newest churches of the Twin Cities, the Church of the Nazarene, is making a promising growth. It was formed the past summer and services are all held in Plum Street School until the church edifice is completed, states the minister, Rev. C. E. McCall.

The church has nearly 200 in attendance at Sunday school and the church membership is increasing.

The church has purchased a lot and the construction of the building has already started. It will be hastened as soon as possible to completing. The location is at 1513 South Third street, Monroe, convenient for the members of the church to attend.

It has been decided to name it the Williams Memorial Church, taking name of one of the leaders of the denomination in this state who has died.

The outlook for this church is called exceptionally bright and members are pleased at the prospects, states the minister.

A few days ago, Rev. C. E. Bordelon, of the Church of the Nazareie in New Orleans, was here for an inspection trip and he also was encouraged at the progress made in only a few weeks time by this new church.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

The Morningside Assembly of God Church, at 36 South McGuire Street, Rev. E. J. Graves, pastor, is having a revival with Evangelist Gene Jackson of Crossett, Ark., in charge. It will be continued through the week at 7:30 p.m. each night and the public is cordially invited.

B'nai Israel Planning 85 Year Observance

Congregation B'Nai Israel of Monroe is a proud group, for they trace back their history here to 1868, eighty-five years. On October 20, 1943 they observed the 75th anniversary and now are to in like manner have an observance of the still more venerable organization. While the Temple group is 85 years of age here, the Rabbi, Dr. F. K. Hirsch, is able at the same time to observe his 25th anniversary as leader of the local flock.

Assisting in the program will be Rev. J. C. Marsh, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church and Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian Church.

The anniversary sermon will be given by Rabbi Henry Sandman of Pine Bluff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sandman of Monroe.

Rev. Rabbi Hirsch was elected rabbi here in March 1928 and assumed charge the following September. Prior to that he had been a rabbi in Bessemer, Ala., 1908-1913 and also in Athens, Ga., 1913-1919 and Sumter, S. C., 1919-1928.

Officers elected by the Temple for 1953-54 are: J. B. Pickens, president; Mrs. Ida Kaplan, vice-president.

The board is composed of Herman Masur, S. Doernberg, C. M. Strauss, Daniel Weil, Joe Marx Jr., L. Masur Jr., I. Liebreich, Meyer Glazer, and Mrs. S. Doernberg who is president of the Sisterhood.

Past presidents of the congregation are as follows: Joseph Hoffman, Hehry Gerson, Sol Meyer, Jonas Meyer, Isaac Baer, Joseph Lemle, L. H. Goldman, Barney Sugar, H. P. Marks, Sig Haas, Herman Masur, Isadore Liebreich, Jr., Emmanuel Sugar, D. A. Haas, Joe E. Marx, Sr., S. K. Heninger, H. L. Rosenhein, I. P. Sandman, F. Strauss, E. J. Selig, Sr., C. M. Strauss, Sig Masur, A. Blumenthal and Sam Smith.

At the service the invocation will be delivered by Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector emeritus of Grace Episcopal church, while the benediction will be by Ernest Duncan Holloway, for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and now connected with KNOE-TV as chaplain, and with the local college as dean of men.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

By Their Fruits They're Known

"By their fruits ye shall know them," said Jesus (Matthew 7:20).

The illustrations was of trees, but Jesus was speaking of people.

This statement is true not only of the hypocritically false and corrupt. It is true of ourselves and of all men.

Anl it is true, also, not only of the fruits of evil, but of the lack of the fruits of good. The fruitlessness of good is only one step removed from being fruitful of evil.

Jesus pronounced His bitterest words against the hypocrites who made a profession of religion but exploited and wronged their fellowmen. He did not condone the victims of temptation and sinful passions, though He treated them with compassion and forgiveness.

He was almost scornful of those whose lives were neither good nor evil, like a barren fig tree, with a show of life, but no fruit.

What does it mean to have a fruitful life? The source of all goodness, the new Testament makes plain, is love, the love of God the example for man. "Beloved, if God so loved us, we must also to love one another." (I John 5:7-11).

In love, Paul declared, was the fulfilling of the law. "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Gallatians 5:14).

In the very chapter in which Paul made this declaration, he proceeded to analyze and set forth in detail the meaning of such love.

Over against the fruits of evil living, all too manifest in the excesses and licentiousness of a pagan world by which the Christians were surrounded, Paul set forth the fruit, or fruits, of the Spirit; that is, of the Spirit of Christ. These fruits he detailed with great precision.

"The fruit of the Spirit," Paul wrote, "is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." Against these things, he says, there is no law.

It is interesting to consider that list. Why did Paul specify love as one of the fruits. And why did he particularly mention "goodness," when it might be thought of as the sum total of all?

I cannot answer, unless it be that what we call "a loving disposition" is a grace and beauty of character, even if it be less than a divine and strongly motivating passion! And it might be possible for a life to display much of these fruits and yet be lacking in deep, effective goodness.

In any case it is not one, or some, of the fruits of the Spirit that mark the well-ordered, well-rounded Christian life. It is the manifestation of all, and in so far as any one is lacking, to that extent one's life is unfruitful.

An irascible, ill-tempered person may be honest, sincere and righteous, but he will be like a tree with a stretch of bare branches where fruit ought to be.

What branches in your tree are bare?

0. Acts 18:9. Do not be afraid, but speak and do not be silent.
1. Matt. 15:11. Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man, but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.
2. Prov. 18:17. He who states his case first seems right, until the other comes and examines him.
3. Matt. 5:34, 35, 37

Girl Scout Week - Oct. 27 - 31

This week the Girl Scouts of the Twin Cities join with more than two million other Scouts throughout the country in celebrating Seven Service Days to show the public what Girl Scouting is like. Held annually during the week that contains Hallowe'en, the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, the week calls attention to seven of the program fields in Girl Scouting.
Girl Scout Week opens on Sunday, October 25, when Girl Scouts attend their churches in uniform.
Monday is Homemaking Day; Tuesday is called Citizenship Day; Wednesday, Health and Safety; Thursday, International Day calls for Hands-ocross-the-sea theme Friday is Arts and Crafts day and Saturday, Out-Of-Doors.
Local Scouts have chosen three of the days for emphasis. On Sunday, troops will attend church services in uniform.
During the Week, each troop is planning a piece of community service in connection with its troop meeting day.
On Saturday, Out-Of-Doors day, Hallowe'en, and Juliette Low's birthday, Intermediate Scouts of the Twin Cities and vicinity will join in a play day and work day at Camp Pine Wood.
Gathering at the flag pole for a flag ceremony and announcements at 10:00, the girls will undertake many small jobs for camp improvement, painting fence posts, particularly. The girls will bring nosebag lunches or plan cook outs by troops. In the afternoon they will play, hike, or rest, according to plans made by representatives of Intermediate troops through the Girl Planning Board.

Girl Scout Week - Oct. 27 - 31

This week the Girl Scouts of the Twin Cities join with more than two million other Scouts throughout the country in celebrating Seven Service Days to show the public what Girl Scouting is like. Held annually during the week that contains Hallowe'en, the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, the week calls attention to seven of the program fields in Girl Scouting.

Girl Scout Week opens on Sunday, October 25, when Girl Scouts attend their churches in uniform.

Monday is Homemaking Day; Tuesday is called Citizenship Day; Wednesday, Health and Safety; Thursday, International Day calls for Hands-across-the-sea theme. Friday is Arts and Crafts day and Saturday, Out-Of-Doors.

Local Scouts have chosen three of the days for emphasis. On Sunday, troops will attend church services in uniform. During the Week, each troop is planning a piece of community service in connection with its troop meeting day. On Saturday, Out-Of-Doors day, Hallowe'en, and Juliette Low's birthday, Intermediate Scouts of the Twin Cities and vicinity will join in a play day and work day at Camp Pine Wood.

Gathering at the flag pole for a flag ceremony and announcements at 10:00, the girls will undertake many small jobs for camp improvement, painting fence posts, particularly. The girls will bring nosebag lunches or plan cook outs by troops. In the afternoon they will play, hike, or rest, according to plans made by representatives of Intermediate troops through the Girl Planning Board.

'So You Want To Lead A Band' With Sammy Kaye Coming Soon

Sammy Kaye's famous radio-television feature, "So You Want To Lead A Band" comes to Monroe, when the maestro brings his Swing and Sway band here on November 18 for a one night's engagement at Neville auditorium and sponsored by the North Monroe Lions Club.

Now in its tenth year and still scoring high in entertainment value, "So You Want To Lead A Band" has been presented on three television channels and numerous radio networks.

The King of swing-and-sway discovered how much people want to lead a band quite accidentally back in 1942 while playing an engagement at the Hotel Commodore in New York. When an attractive couple danced by the bandstand, the boy asked Sammy if he could lead the band. "Sure," replied Sammy, "if you let me dance with your girl."

"It's a deal," agreed the young man who put on a hilarious show and met with such enthusiastic applause that others wanted in on the act, too. Sammy was beseiged by requests to lead the band. Always an alert showman, he incorporated the stunt as a permanent feature of the band, devising a system which allowed four contestants, two men and two women, to take over the baton at every performance. The orchestra actually follows each movement of the amateur's baton — inevitably laugh-provoking.

Celebrities jockeyed with teen-agers and people from all walks of life for a chance to lead the band. Among celebs who have mounted the podium to wave the magic wand are Betty Grable, Linda Darnell, Ethel Merlan, Carol Channing, Red Skelton, Tyrone Power, Perry Como and numerous others, including star athletes and political figures, among them Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. Recently during an engagement in Houston, Tex., for oil men representing about a half-billion dollars in aggregate wealth led the band. They were Glenn McCarthy, Jesse Jones, W. G. Skelly and John Mabee.

Kaye, however, prefers to let members of the rank and file lead his band . . . butchers, bakers, stenographers, policemen, undertakers . . . practically every category of business has been represented on the bandstand at one time or another. To date there have been over 10,000 amateur conductors to try their prowess with Swing and Sway. Each contestant receives an autographed baton, and Sammy estimates that he has spent approximately $5,000 on batons alone since the origin of his novel entertainn.ent gimmick.

Several years ago at Carnegie Hall in New York, Sammy staged a national finals contest for all the winning bandleaders, and the people came from all parts of the country to participate. One of the finalists was an 82-year-old woman from Seattle.

So if you have a yen to lead a band, here's your chance . . . valuable prizes go to the winner.

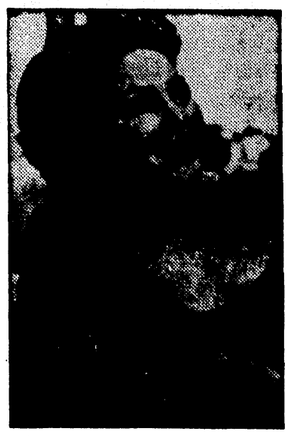
NOVEMBER FOOD OUTLOOK

The Department of Agriculture puts beef, potatoes and onions in the top bracket of plentiful foods for fall. Record numbers of grass-fed cattle will go to market and less expensive beef continues to be plentiful. For the holiday season pecans, almonds, raisins and winter pears are expected to be abundant. And there will be ample supplies of turkeys for Thanksgiving.



SOPRANO— The Metropolitan Opera's Zinka Milanov will sing Leonora in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" November 9 at Shreveport Municipal Auditorium.

'Il Trovatore' To Be Produced In Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 24. (Special)—With singers drawn from the Metropolitan, La Scala, and San Francisco Opera Companies, Verdi's "Il Trovatore" will be produced here Nov. 9 by the Shreveport Civic Opera Association for one performance only at Municipal Auditorium.

Among the roles in which they made their operatic debuts in Europe, Zinka Milanov, the Yugoslav soprano, will be the Leonora of the Civic Opera production and Kurt Baum, tenor, will sing Manrico, which was his first operatic role 20 years ago in Zurich, Switzerland. Both are with the Metropolitan Opera Association.

In a first appearance away from the Metropolitan Opera House in Manhattan, Fedora Barbieri, sumptuous - voiced Italian contralto, will sing Azucena, the wandering Biscayan gypsy. Miss Barbieri made her debut at the Met two seasons ago in the opening night revival of Verdi's "Don Carolo." The contralto was a Toscanini-chosen singer in early 1951 for a nationwide concert broadcast marking the 50th anniversary of the death of Verdi.

Conducting the Civic Opera Orchestra will be Maestro Walter Herbert. The large chorus if Ark.-La.-Tex. singers is under the direction of Helen Ruffin Marshall.

"Il Trovatore" will open the fifth season of Shreveport Civic Opera. Mail order reservations are now being filled in order of receipt.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

All of the well-wishers and even the skeptics of Little Theatre met on common ground Friday evening when "Heaven Can Wait" opened its eight night engagement, and out of this unison prevailed an air of success rarely accorded a nonprofessional production.

With a reputation for good theatre, sustained throughout twenty-one other performances in the Little Playhouse a. Selman Field, the play "Heaven Can Wait," it's cast of fourteen and last but not least of all, the director Thom Feuerstein, have upheld the tradition with a show technically superior to some of its predecessors.

Of course, first - night always finds the cast with audience jitters, and the usual butterflies in the immediate proximity of their mid-riff — The show is on — but they came through with an easy, free flowing performance that gave the audience many laughs and brought forth such exciting appraisal as "They are giving professional performances."

In a play whose mood is fantasy, there was a very sensative leveling of characterization, that might have proved most difficult without the theatre-wise direction of Thom Feuerstein. Although the play deals with the supernatural and questions the belief of reincarnation, it is alternately hilarious and poignant but extremely human.

This was actually one of the most difficult plays to hand a new director as his first job — it's not just comedy, that's difficult enough because it requires more sensitivity than the average person has to bring into play, but it goes even further and requires of the cast and even the audience, a very deep feeling for something that you can't see, don't wholly understand but are sincerely compelled to believe in.

RANDOM NOTES . . . and this part of our little get-together we have been neglecting badly of late . . . There will be wedding bells in December for Little Theatre's very pretty leading lady from "Dear Ruth" and "Boy Meets Girl," Yvonne Lusk who will become the bride of Kent Anderson . . . We held back some orchids and special Little Theatre compliments for Mary Dawson, president of the Monroe Garden Club and Maude Mayo for the splendid job of decoration they did in the lobby of the playhouse for this production . . . One tradition of the theatre is the show must go on, Dorothy Elmendorf, who is wardrobe mistress for this show, took off at 8 a. m. Friday by plane on a 1400 mile journey in the J. O. "Red" Willet airplane, that included Birmingham, Atlanta and Augusta, Ga., but she was back in time to be "johnny-on-the-spot" and right on the job for Friday evening's opening performance . . . A report meeting from the current Community Chest drive relates that a few dramatic sketches were staged by Jack Pankey, executive of the Boy Scouts. They tell me everybody is still wondering how A. B. Clarkson got those eggs through a pan and down into a glass of water . . . Before we conclude today's chatter with a sketch of the leading man from "Heaven Can Wait," let me remind you to please call in your reservations early. Those last crowded nights send everybody running for the aspirin tin.

K. D. HAYES . . . alias Joe Pendleton, alias Jonathan Farnsworth, alias K. O. Murdoch, in the leading role of the current play "Heaven Can Wait" is a seasoned "old timer" to the stage. He has previously appeared on Little Theatre stage in the comedy productions "Kiss and Tell" and "Out of the Frying Pan."

A native West Monroyan, K. D. is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Northeastern. He was on active duty with the armed forces until early this year.

An artist and musician, he returned to take up the mantel where his late father, the artist K. D. Hayes, Sr., left off. He was wed shortly after "Kiss and Tell" to the former Anne Elise Montgomery of Mer Rouge.

In "Heaven Can Wait" K. D. is turning in an especially fine performance much to the delight of his many fans.

'So You Want To Lead A Band' With Sammy Kaye Coming Soon

Sammy Kaye's famous radio-television feature, "So You Want To Lead A Band" comes to Monroe, when the maestro brings his Swing and Sway band here on November 18 for a one night's engagement at Neville auditorium and sponsored by the North Monroe Lions Club.

Now in its tenth year and still scoring high in entertainment value, "So You Want To Lead A Band" has been presented on three television channels and numerous radio networks.

The King of swing-and-sway discovered how much people want to lead a band quite accidentally back in 1942 while playing an engagement at the Hotel Commodore in New York. When an attractive couple danced by the bandstand, the boy asked Sammy if he could lead the band. "Sure," replied Sammy, "if you let me dance with your girl."

"It's a deal," agreed the young man who put on a hilarious show and met with such enthusiastic applause that others wanted in on the act, too. Sammy was beseiged by requests to lead the band. Always an alert showman, he incorporated the stunt as a permanent feature of the band, devising a system which allowed four contestants, two men and two women, to take over the baton at every performance. The orchestra actually follows each movement of the amateur's baton — inevitably laugh-provoking.

Celebrities jockeyed with teen-agers and people from all walks of life for a chance to lead the band. Among celebs who have mounted the podium to wave the magic wand are Betty Grable, Linda Darnell, Ethel Merlan, Carol Channing, Red Skelton, Tyrone Power, Perry Como and numerous others, including star athletes and political figures, among them Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. Recently during an engagement in Houston, Tex., for oil men representing about a half-billion dollars in aggregate wealth led the band. They were Glenn McCarthy, Jesse Jones, W. G. Skelly and John Mabee.

Kaye, however, prefers to let members of the rank and file lead his band . . . butchers, bakers, stenographers, policemen, undertakers . . . practically every category of business has been represented on the bandstand at one time or another. To date there have been over 10,000 amateur conductors to try their prowess with Swing and Sway. Each contestant receives an autographed baton, and Sammy estimates that he has spent approximately $5,000 on batons alone since the origin of his novel entertainment gimmick.

Several years ago at Carnegie Hall in New York, Sammy staged a national finals contest for all the winning bandleaders, and the people came from all parts of the country to participate. One of the finalists was an 82-year-old woman from Seattle.

So if you have a yen to lead a band, here's your chance . . . valuable prizes go to the winner.

NOVEMBER FOOD OUTLOOK

The Department of Agriculture puts beef, potatoes and onions in the top bracket of plentiful foods for fall. Record numbers of grass-fed cattle will go to market and less expensive beef continues to be plentiful. For the holiday season pecans, almonds, raisins and winter pears are expected to be abundant. And there will be ample supplies of turkeys for Thanksgiving.

SOPRANO— The Metropolitan Opera's Zinka Milanov will sing Leonora in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" November 9 at Shreveport Municipal Auditorium.

'Il Trovatore' To Be Produced In Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 24. (Special)—With singers drawn from the Metropolitan, La Scala, and San Francisco Opera Companies, Verdi's "Il Trovatore" will be produced here Nov. 9 by the Shreveport Civic Opera Association for one performance only at Municipal Auditorium.

Singing the roles in which they made their operatic debuts in Europe, Zinka Milanov, the Yugoslav soprano, will be the Leonora of the Civic Opera production and Kurt Baum, tenor, will sing Manrico, which was his first operatic role 20 years ago in Zurich, Switzerland. Both are with the Metropolitan Opera Association.

In a first appearance away from the Metropolitan Opera House in Manhattan, Fedora Barbieri, sumptuous - voiced Italian contralto, will sing Azucena, the wandering Biscayan gypsy. Miss Barbieri made her debut at the Met two seasons ago in the opening night revival of Verdi's "Don Carolo." The contralto was a Toscanini-chosen singer in early 1951 for a nationwide concert broadcast marking the 50th anniversary of the death of Verdi.

Cesare Bardelli, baritone, will sing the role of the Count di Luna, powerful young nobel of the Prince of Aragon.

Conducting the Civic Opera Orchestra will be Maestro Walter Herbert. The large chorus if Ark.-La.-Tex. singers is under the direction of Helen Ruffin Marshall.

"Il Trovatore" will open the fifth season of Shreveport Civic Opera. Mail order reservations are now being filled in order of receipt.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

All of the well-wishers and even the skeptics of Little Theatre met on common ground Friday evening when "Heaven Can Wait" opened its eight night engagement, and out of this unison prevailed an air of success rarely accorded a nonprofessional production.

With a reputation for good theatre, sustained throughout twenty-one other performances in the Little Playhouse at Selman Field, the play "Heaven Can Wait," it's cast of fourteen and last but not least of all, the director Thom Feuerstein, have upheld the tradition with a show technically superior to some of its predecessors.

Of course, first - night always finds the cast with audience jitters, and the usual butterflies in the immediate proximity of their mid-riff — The show is on — but they came through with an easy, free flowing performance that gave the audience many laughs and brought forth such exciting appraisal as "They are giving professional performances."

In a play whose mood is fantasy, there was a very sensative leveling of characterization, that might have proved most difficult without the theatre-wise direction of Thom Feuerstein. Although the play deals with the supernatural and questions the belief of reincarnation, it is alternately hilarious and poignant but extremely human.

This was actually one of the most difficult plays to hand a new director as his first job — it's not just comedy, that's difficult enough because it requires more sensitivity than the average person has to bring into play, but it goes even further and requires of the cast and even the audience, a very deep feeling for something that you can't see, don't wholly understand but are sincerely compelled to believe in.

Our first compliments go to Director Feuerstein for his excellent job of directing and the rest of the prize orchids are strewn humbly before the feet of his cast.

RANDOM NOTES . . . and this part of our little get-together we have been neglecting badly of late . . . There will be wedding bells in December for Little Theatre's very pretty leading lady from "Dear Ruth" and "Boy Meets Girl," Yvonne Lusk who will become the bride of Kent Anderson . . . We held back some orchids and special Little Theatre compliments for Mary Dawson, president of the Monroe Garden Club and Maude Mayo for the splendid job of decoration they did in the lobby of the playhouse for this production . . . One tradition of the theatre is the show must go on, Dorothy Elmendorf, who is wardrobe mistress for this show, took off at 8 a. m. Friday by plane on a 1400 mile journey in the J. O. "Red" Willet airplane, that included Birmingham, Atlanta and Augusta, Ga., but she was back in time to be "johnny-on-the-spot" and right on the job for Friday evening's opening performance . . . A report meeting from the current Community Chest drive relates that a few dramatic sketches were staged by Jack Pankey, executive of the Boy Scouts. They tell me everybody is still wondering how A. B. Clarkson got those eggs through a pan and down into a glass of water . . . Before we conclude today's chatter with a sketch of the leading man from "Heaven Can Wait," let me remind you to please call in your reservations early. Those last crowded nights send everybody running for the aspirin tin.

K. D. HAYES . . . alias Joe Pendleton, alias Jonathan Farnsworth, alias K. O. Murdoch, in the leading role of the current play "Heaven Can Wait" is a seasoned "old timer" to the stage. He has previously appeared on Little Theatre stage in the comedy productions "Kiss and Tell" and "Out of the Frying Pan."

A native West Monroyan, K. D. is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Northeastern. He was on active duty with the armed forces until early this year.

An artist and musician, he returned to take up the mantel where his late father, the artist K. D. Hayes, Sr., left off. He was wed shortly after "Kiss and Tell" to the former Anne Elise Montgomery of Mer Rouge.

In "Heaven Can Wait" K. D. is turning in an especially fine performance much to the delight of his many fans.

'From Here To Eternity' Is Story Of Powerful Drama

Seldom, if ever, has there been brought to the screen a motion picture of such brutal forcefulness, powerful drama, flaring passion and flaming excitement as in Columbia Pictures' "From Here to Eternity," showing now at the Paramount Theatre. A screen masterpiece based upon James Jones' literary sensation, "From Here to Eternity" stars Burt Lancaster, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

Jones' powerful and savage prize - winning novel, brought to the screen via Daniel Taradash's magnificent screen play and Fred Zinneman's whiplash direction under the production aegis of Buddy Adler, "From Here to Eternity" is magnificently created out of the elements of life itself: courage, brutality, love.

Set in the Pearl Harbor of 1941, in the months pior to and culminating with the sneak attack, "From Here to Eternity" is a rompelling study of both the professional soldier — America's 30-year man — and of overwhelming romance. In fact, two romances and two professional soldiers strangely joined in friendship and conflict.

First of the soldiers is Robert E. Lee Prewitt, a bugler who once played "Taps" at Arlington Cemetery, who transfers into an infantry outfit in Schofield Barrack, Honolulu, run by First Sergeant Milton Warden. Professional soldiers both, the two find much to like and respect in each other but they cannot continue as friends when the company commander forces the sergeant to give Prewitt, a brilliant boxer who once had blinded a GI in a sparring match, The Treatment, making his life miserable as possible, for his refusal to join the company boxing team. Likeable Pvt. Angelo Maggio remains the brooding, sensitive Prewitt's only friend.

It is Maggio who introduces Prewitt to Lorene, a young lady who helps Prewitt stand up against the mounting intensity and crudeness of The Treatment, and who shelters him when, in a bloody knife battle, he kills a stockade sergeant responsible for the death of Maggio. Against this impassioned story of a soldier and his girl is told, in "From Here to Eternity," the equally bitter and moving romance which couples Warden and Karen Holmes, wife of the brutal company commander. First an accidental and unthinking affair, they gradually moved to the point of real romance, with talk of divorce and marriage.

The attack on Pearl Harbor brings both affairs to an end. Warden resumes his rightful role as a leader of men, directing them with authority and skill. The fugitive Prewitt, professional soldier, attempts to rejoin his outfit and Warden, and is killed.

Perfect casting marks "From Here to Eternity." Lancaster is superb in his dramatic role, making Sergeant Warden a vivid, well-rounded professional soldier, a man at home in any situation, bound by the rules but capable of breaking them.

'Sword And The Rose' Is Top Disney All Live-Action Film

It may be considered trite to say that Walt Disney has done it again. But it is certainly no misstatement to say that in his third all live-action production, "The Sword and the Rose," Disney has surpassed his previous efforts, "Treasure Island" and "The Story of Robin Hood."

Based upon Charles Major's popular adventure novel, "When Knighthood Was In Flower," and introducing an exciting new romantic team in co-stars Richard Todd and Glynis Johns, this handsome Technicolor production began an engagement at the Jim Theater yesterday.

There is no disputing the fact that Walt has a definite flair for endowing classic adventure tales with vitality and that extra entertainment interest which distinguishes everything he does for the screen. In the story of "The Sword and the Rose" he has a solid framework upon which to build a rousing romantic film. It is a more adult love story than any he has yet chosen, for it is taken from some of the most purple pages of English history. But the Disney good taste and technical integrity will give it wide age-range appeal.

Richard Todd takes a long step toward top stardom with his clean good looks and excellent performance as Charles Brandon, commoner captain of the palace guards, who later becomes the Earl of Suffolk. Glynis Johns, in Somerset Maugham's "Encore" and in "The Promoter," revealed that she is a personality destined to give the Hollywood cinema queens considerable competition. She moves a step further in that direction with her portrayal of Princess Mary Tudor, madcap sister of Henry VIII, who defies royal edict to marry the man she loves.

A fine cast of British and French players provide excellent support. Among them are James Robertson Justice as Henry VIII, Michael Gough as the Duke of Buckingham, Jane Barrett as Lady Margaret, Peter Copley as Sir Edwin Caskoden, D. A. Clarke-Smith as Cardinal Wolsey, Jean Mercure as King Louis XII of France and Gerard Oury as the Dauphin.

As Disney's trio of production experts, Producer Perce Pearce, Director Ken Annakin and Screenwriter Lawrence E. Watkin rate praise for a job well done. "The Sword and the Rose" is being distributed by RKO Radio Pictures.

DANGEROUS ADVENTURE—Princess Mary Tudor (Glynis Johns) and Charles Brandon (Richard Todd) face capture as they attempt to flee to America in scene from Walt Disney's new live action Technicolor romance for RKO Radio, "The Sword and the Rose."

So Many Pics Abroad

HOLLYWOOD, October 24 — I suppose a lot of movie fans are wondering about the reasons why Hollywood producers are making so many pictures abroad nowadays? Well, let me try to give them some of the answers, as I found them during my picture-making trip in Europe.

A major reason is the desire for fresh and novel backgrounds, and unusual stories which fit into them. Hollywood has often been charged with repetition in story and background material. This, of course, is unavoidable, as the great majority of Hollywood pictures must of necessity, have American locales, and for various basic reasons.

The trend towards making productions abroad has become more positive in recent years, due to the outstanding successes of such films as "The African Queen," "Quo Vadis," "Roman Holiday," and "Little Boy Lost." All of these afforded intriguing and off-beat backgrounds, far removed from the locales Hollywood regularly employs.

But let us get back to the fundamentals for the away-from-Hollywood movement. Apart from fresh and unusual atmosphere, such projects have facilitated the use of stories with foreign flavor that could not be easily and authentically filmed in Hollywood. Despite the great artistry of Hollywood art directors, it is extremely difficult to duplicate the reality of some ancient street or castle which has existed in Europe many centuries. And, believe me, when I say "artistry," I mean just that, because Hollywood art directors have no peers anywhere in this wide, wide world.

Furthermore, European countries, when compared with America, are virtually untapped in terms of new acting and other talent. The treks abroad result in the discovery of many new and potent personalities who otherwise would never find their way into American pictures. Not only does this foreign picture-making trend attract new stars, but it also leads to the unearthing of splendid and talented character players. Typical of what I mean is Maria Costi, who was discovered by Peter Boudoures and given her first screen role in "The Barefoot Battalion," filmed entirely in Salonika, Greece. Miss Costi brings to the screen a vivid and vital personality which, I believe, will carry her far in productions to be made in Hollywood in years to come.

Technically, local production personnel are usually superior to that found in European studios. This, however, does not apply 100 per cent, as there are many fine technicians of foreign origin. But it is generally the practice of Hollywood producers to take along their own key personnel, such as cameramen and cutters, when they embark upon foreign junkets. The influence and talents of these technicians is proving a boon to the European film industry. They are acquiring new American technique to supplement their own processes and procedures.

One great advantage gained from this production-in-Europe movement is that pictures made under these circumstances possess an unusual substantial appeal for European audiences. Not only do they like and understand the players involved, but also the thinking incident to the stories filmed. Consequently, the audience appeal of these productions is greatly enhanced with foreign movie-goers, and, at the same time, due to their unusual ingredients and atmosphere, the films offer wider entertainment scope to American audiences as well.

In contrast to our own, the European star system is practically nil. I mean that leading players are not given the tremendous build-up accorded Hollywood personalities. In casting their pictures, European producers are inclined to place more emphasis on suitability for roles, rather than name value. Hollywood, of course, is concerned with casting proper types, but nevertheless is apt to compromise, for reasons of boxoffice, in consideration of "name" values.

The tendency of European producers to make pictures without personalities popular with American audiences, has, I am sure, lessened the audience appeal of such productions in America. These films have been received in the so-called "art theaters" in the United States, and occasionally in some of the larger first-run houses. Another factor which has impaired the audience value of foreign-made films is the necessity of working with limited budgets, as contrasted to Hollywood. But the meticulous care exercised by European producers in respect to realism, plot and casting has, in many instances, off-set the advantages from more lavish budgets.

The infusion of European locales and talent has, of course, broadened the audience appeal of the product made in Hollywood. This policy has increased the realism and authenticity in American-made entertainment and this is a vital gain in the right direction.

Mindy Hasn't Had A Hit

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The fact that she's never had a hit record doesn't seem to bother Mindy Carson. Her sleep is sound and her face unlined by worry. She says, in fact, that it hasn't hurt her career one whit. She still packs 'em in on her personal appearances in theaters and night clubs.

"Nowadays," she says, "hit records aren't essential to success in show business. If I got a hit record now, it would make things easier, sure. It would be gravy. But I can get along without it."

Her Columbia records, incidentally, aren't flops by any means, but they just haven't been smash hits. It's a situation which shocks many in the music business, because Mindy should be way up on top. She has a voice and she has style and, besides, she's pretty. Everyone thought "Honey Darlin' " would do it for her, but it didn't.

"For the last five years," Mindy says, "it's been tough for a singer to get good theater and night-club dates without a hit record. But that seems to be changing now."

And the reason, which Miss Carson was too nice to say point blank, is that too many recording stars were stage duds. They'd get out before an audience and perform like high school sophomores. Perhaps an audience will show up once to see a singer, on the strength of his recordings, but that's all. They want to be entertained, and with professional artistry.

So Mindy, and other smart singers like the Ames Brothers and Fran Warren, concentrate on perfecting their acts. They let the hit records fall where they may, so it's a good thing records are unbreakable these days.

The popular side: Notice how the top vocalists these days seem to be men? Very few gals are clicking, for some unexplained reason . . . Karen Chandler will do a duet on Coral with her two-year-old daughter, Michelle . . . Bill Haley, the Essex recording star, claims that he writes his wild numbers during the recording session, which isn't too hard to believe . . . Jane Froman points to Bing Crosby as an example of her theory that vocalists who "sing straight" stay on top longer.

Gets Paid for Third Operation

"I'm out of the hospital and feeling fine again and even have my peace of mind thanks to Bankers Life & Casualty Co. who paid me my third surgery. Without this insurance, we would surely be in debt because I was in the hospital in 1950, 1951 and 1952. My thanks to all of your company."

Genevieve L. Lenfert, Kankakee, Illinois

More Than Covers Cost of Operation

"I am writing to acknowledge your checks for my son's operations. We were very thrilled to have your policy pay us in full for this operation; in fact, a few dollars more. We have had many insurance policies and they have never satisfied us as your policy has. Thank you for the promptness and friendly way you handled this matter."

Arthur Lautner, St. Louis, Missouri

Receives $259.00 for Hospital Expenses

"I want to express my deepest appreciation for the claim of $259 for hospital bills which has been received. I want to thank you for the prompt settlement. If I could only find words to help others receive the same wonderful benefits offered through your hospitalization that I have received. My heartfelt thanks go to you for this wonderful service."

STEVE CANYON

by MILTON CANIFF

CANYON, THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT IS ACUTELY EMBARRASSED BECAUSE THEIR OFFICIALS TREATED YOU AS A RED SPY!

NO GREAT HARM DONE, MR. HALL!

AS FOR YOU RESCUING MY WIFE FROM THE FIRE — WELL, WHAT CAN A MAN SAY TO CONVEY SO MUCH GRATITUDE?

WHY DON'T WE PUT IT DOWN AS A WONDERFUL WAY TO MEET SUCH A LADY!

NOW, HOMER HALL, ISN'T THAT THE NICEST COMPLIMENT YOUR BRIDE EVER DID RECEIVE?

AND, OF COURSE, IF YOUR DAUGHTER HADN'T SPOTTED ME IN THAT PRISON I MIGHT BE SITTING THERE STILL

WHICH REMINDS ME THAT YOUR PASSPORT IS ALL CLEARED, SO YOU MAY CONTINUE YOUR TRIP WHEN YOU WISH!

THANK YOU! NOW, IF YOU'LL EXCUSE ME..

HERE HE COMES NOW!

OH, HOLLEE! — IT'S THE MOST EXCITEMENT OF MY ENTIRE LIFE!

I MUST OF COURSE DEPART SO HE MAY TAKE YOU IN HIS ARMS WITHOUT THE SHYNESS!

I RECKON SO, LISE! I'LL TELL YOU ALL ABOUT IT!

THERE YOU ARE, HOLLY! AT LAST I HAVE A CHANCE TO SEE YOU ALONE...
